Real treasure hunt

Hundreds came to find treasure, and many walked away with pockets filled with booty. More than 50 Beach persons swelled a huge crowd Saturday as Chesapeake's Northwest Base hosted the first Virginia Championship Treasure Hunt.

Beach business ready to spurt: all honoring mom

Mom is queen of the roost.

At least that's the word from Beach florists, club owners, hotelmen, restaurateurs, mom and daughters, and the red carpet is really rolling out.

"Flowers have been going like hot cakes," said one florist. "We've been taking orders these past couple of days heavier than ever before. Both local business, and a lot of transient and Navy people are using FTD to send their wishes home."

A quick review by THE SUN shows that a number of area eateries are offering special lunches or dinners for mom, and reservations are reportedly running reasonably high.

Department stores report that one of the biggest favorites for mom in this Bicentennial year is chocolates. Second place goes to 1976-1976 Bicentennial jewelry, from watches to pendants and pins.

Now for those who are having a headache over what to get the lovely lady of the house, the Beach this week is offering a total of three sales, combining to provide the unusual.

Arts Fair planned

The first is the third annual Virginia Beach Public Schools Industrial Arts Fair, Thursday through Saturday. Sponsored by the Industrial Arts Association, the three-day event will feature projects and displays created by industrial arts students from the city's 13 junior and senior high schools.

More than 200 projects in ceramics, woodworking, metals, drafting, electronics, and crafts will be on display at Pembroke Mall.

Mom gets a second chance for an unusual gift Saturday when the Fabulous Marching Cavaliers of Princess Anne High School will hold their annual buyers and sellers flea market, from 9 to 4 on the driving range by the school.

Flea market here

Spaces are still available for those who wish them. The tab is $5 each. Mrs. W. A. Crank has additional information at 340-8469. In the event of rain a rain date of May 15 has been set.

This PA offering will have something of everything: from clothes to electronic items to pottery, plants, the whole works, and perhaps that elusive goodie that'll be perfect for mom.

The third sale is Star of the Sea's Home and School Association's flea market and craft sale Saturday, to staged indoors at their recreation center at 308 15th St. from 10 to 5.

Refreshments will be available along with plants and handmade crafts, bargains, galore, garage sale items and a homemade bake booth. Those wishing to display can do so by calling 481-3330 or 481-4212. For $10 they will provide a table and chairs. All proceeds will be retained by individual sellers.

So, then they are: your choice on what to get mom on her day—Sunday.

From THE SUN, happy mother's day, ma.

Utility users will benefit

If you're a utility user—and who isn't here in at the Beach—brace yourself for some welcome news.

The Tidewater Consumer Council's proposed Consumer Bill of Rights has seen the light of day.

The measure was sponsored by Beach Sen. Joe Canale, and signed into law by Gov. Miles E. Godwin April 13, and will become effective July. This bill states that:

A. Every public utility shall provide its residential customers one full billing period to pay for one month's local or basic services before initiating any proceeding against a residential customer for non-payment of local service.

B. Pay the residential customer a fair rate of interest as determined by the Commission on money deposited and return the deposit with interest after two years of satisfactory credit has been established.

C. Every Public Utility shall establish complaint procedures which will insure prompt and effective handling of all customer inquiries, service requests and complaints. Such procedures shall be approved by the Commission before its implementation and shall be distributed to all its residential customers.

D. No electric utility shall terminate a customer service without ten days notice by mail to the customer.

TCC plans to strengthen the Consumers Bill of Rights, and a restructuring of the organization. Plans are to have Chapters in Portsmouth, Chesapeake, Suffolk, Virginia Beach, and Norfolk. They are also working on the passage of SB 509 which is the creation of a Utility Consumer Council which will give the consumers fair representation at all rate hearings before the SCC.

Anyone wishing to know more about the Tidewater Consumer Council please call 499-0845 or 464-4221.

Even if their folks yell something at principals that they shouldn't the kids can't get kicked out—in layman's terms, expelled or suspended.

The Beach School Board has rescinded the six-year old policy aimed at curbing any bawling of educational officials. One other thing. Also out was a paragraph saying that a student was liable for "insulting language of a parent or guardian to a member of the school staff."

Independence sets gala schedule

It's going to be THE week of the year coming up for Independence Junior High School.

The special Bicentennial happening will run Monday through Saturday of next week, and includes a galaxy of offerings varying from films to a spring band concert, candlemaking demonstration, field day, skills, games, a play and other assorted good events.

All Beach residents are invited out.

Independence Junior High, one of the schools designated as a Bicentennial school, well exemplifies the spirit of this special occasion.

In the fall of the 1974-75 school year, Independence applied under Title II for a grant to be used in a two-year program celebrating the Bicentennial.

The two fold purpose of the program was, first, to create a closer bond of sharing between all departments at Independence and, second, to re-establish in their students a pride in our country through a re-examination of our nation's history.

In the two short years of its existence this school has accomplished a phenomenal record. These accomplishments were not the work of one individual but a cooperative effort of school officials and teachers, the parents associations, and the students themselves.

The Independence Eagles Band, under the direction of Howard Rule, has already achieved many honors. In two successive annual band festivals, they received superior ratings from all judges. The Band Parents Association in cooperation with school officials has raised more than $5,000 to pay for band blazers, an annual awards banquet, and the banger used in parade competitions. It was necessary for the school to advance part of the money for uniforms, but this was paid back in full.

In the area of major interscholastic athletic competition their teams have also achieved great success. In football they were city champions the first year of competition and came in second place this year. In basketball they were the winner of the City Tournament their first year, and finished in second place this year. In baseball they placed third the first year. This season their record thus far is three wins and one loss, which places them second in the city.

In girls sports they finished first place in field hockey, second place in gymnastics, and third in basketball, during the first year. This year they tied for second in field hockey, placed second in gymnastics, and dropped to fifth place in basketball. So far in track competition, they have outscored all but

Rabbits' feet 'luck of Sun

Rabbits are good luck if you advertise right here.

Carole Wilson of 3628 Kings Point Road in Virginia Beach has become a real believer in Free Bees, also available to you, for free, in VIRGINIA BEACH SUN.

"Results were wonderful," Carole said. "The first morning after the paper came out all kinds of calls were coming into the house, from as far away as Suffolk."

It all goes to prove that if you place your ads right here—be they free bees or classifieds—the stuff will move. We reach thousands and thousands of homes. People do read what we have to say—you are.

Carole was trying to get rid of her rabbits, and added that with all the calls it was no problem. Heck, we're proud, we're happy that being with us is as good as carrying a good luck rabbit's foot in your pocket.

Your good circulation locally and the Free Bees being free made it especially nice," Carole said.

VIRGINIA BEACH BRIEFS

Murder Is charged

William Woodhouse, an attendant at the Mr. Quick station in the 800 block of Virginia Beach Boulevard, was charged in the death of Jerome Rouse.

Beach plans party

Virginia Beach will observe Law Day Saturday, and in observance of this 19th annual event, Mayor Curtis Payne has issued a proclamation that themes it as "200 Years of Liberty and Law." Many of our schools will hold Law Day Assemblies Friday, with the guest speakers judges, lawyers and local para-legal persons. In addition there will be media programs, and a speech by Supreme Court Justice Harry A. Blackburn Monday at 11 a.m. at the Norfolk Naval Base. These happenings are the result of work by the Virginia Beach Bar Association.

Mrs. Cox honored

Mrs. Elbert B. Cox (Mary Ellen) has been chosen as First Citizen of Virginia Beach for 1975. She has been a resident of Virginia Beach since 1965 when she and her family moved to Virginia Beach to make their home at 1140 Little Neck Road.

Rick Corbin, chairman of the First Citizen Committee for the Virginia Beach Jaycees, announced Mrs. Cox's selection. Mrs. Cox was chosen from among 11 nominees for the award which recognized her outstanding leadership performance and unselfish sacrifice to our community and country.

Info school slated

The next Naval Air Station Oceana Navy Wives Service Information School will be held May 4, 11, and 18 from 9 to 1 in the Chapel of the Good Shepherd, NAS Oceana. The school is designed to inform the Navy wife of available services and benefits and to answer questions she might have concerning the Navy. Free nursery service is available. For more information, call 425-2613 or 425-2614.

PTA meets Monday

Holland Elementary School PTA will meet Monday 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria. Physical education skills will be featured following club elections. Those nominated are Mrs. Terry Norton, president; Mrs. Joann McCarthy, first vp; Mrs. Janice Withrow, 2nd vp; Mrs. Carol McMichael, recording secretary; Mrs. Mary Ann Carballo, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Carmen Rivers, treasurer; Mrs. Maureen Schugart, historian; historian; Mrs. Kay Yates, parliamentarian; and delegate Mrs. Linda Pippin.

ODU event Sunday

Commencement exercises for Old Dominion University will be held at 3 p.m. May 9 in Norfolk's Scope. The ODU degree candidates total 1,968 students, including those who completed degree requirements in August and December 1975, and those who are candidates for degrees in May. The number of degree candidates compares with 1,950 students who received degrees from ODU last year.

Beach man bound

Fred Douglas Gray, 57, bound over to a Circuit Court grand jury on a murder charge in the beating death of his girl friend Jan. 28. General District Court Judge P. B. White certified Gray after testimony indicated that he repeatedly struck Margaret Foster, 45, over the head with a rifle during an argument in their home.

Florist course set

"Buying and Selling for the Retail Florist", a course for those in the floral business and those wishing professional training to enter the field will be offered by the Distributive Education Service of the Beach's school system. Classes are scheduled from 7:30-10 at Princess Anne High School in room 509. Two sections are scheduled. One will be on Monday nights beginning May 10 for four weeks and the second to be held Tuesday nights beginning May 11 for four weeks. For registration information, call 427-4151.

Healing class set for A.R.E.

"Healing Self and Others" will be the theme Saturday as the Association for Research and Enlightenment will host a special one-day program here at the Beach. The program, based on the Edgar Cayce readings will feature Herbert Puryear, Elsie Seidrit, Frederick Davidson, Mridith Ann Puryear, Gina Cernaara, and Hugh Lynn Cayce.

Subjects to be covered include Balance: The Secret of the Edgar Cayce Philosophy; Healing Relationships: The Expression of Love; Dreams and Healing; Healing Karmic Patterns; Mastering Materiality; Economic Healing; and Spiritual Healing.

The class will run from 10 to 10 at the A.R.E. Library/Conference Center at 67th and Atlantic. The cost is $15, students at half price. Details are available at 428-3588.

Extra lite, extra care

Virginia Beach's many motorists, bicyclists and pedestrians need to remember that returning to daylight saving time will require extra caution.

"On Sunday, April 25, clocks were set ahead an hour and reduced light conditions will occur during the early morning hours. Motorists should be particularly watchful for students riding bicycles or walking to school at this time," said to John T. Hanna, director, Highway Safety Division of Virginia.

"Children need to be reminded not to stand in roadways while waiting for buses. If sidewalks are not available, children should stand on the road's shoulder, well out of traffic. When bike riding in groups, young children often tend to spread out. Drivers should always check for additional bicyclists if one or two bicyclists cross the street," Hanna advised.

Keeping head and tail lights in proper working order will help make vehicles more visible to other vehicles and pedestrians. Clean windshields will eliminate dust and pollen that has accumulated on the outside of a vehicle's glass.

Bicyclists and pedestrians need to take the necessary precautions to be seen. A bicycle headlight and reflectors are essential when bike riding in darkness or early morning traffic.

The last thing?

Yes, Mr. Gardner, it is "the last thing" that has to be done to get on with the construction of 3.34 miles of Great Neck Road.

So City Council authorized City Manager George L. Hanbury to sign an agreement with the Virginia Department of Highways to maintain highways improved under provisions of the Federal Highway Act.

The road which will be built north of Route 58 to Shorehaven Drive will cost $5,473,408 and been so long on the drawing boards that Councilman Charles W. Gardner asked, "Is this the last thing?"

Virginia Beach's share of the cost will come to about 15% except for storm sewer outfall (33% of $17,698 Storm sewer outfall (31% of $42,744 and 100% of the water and sanitary sewer cost of $127,560.

Thumbs up now?

Daytime hitchhikers may be excepted from the Virginia Beach ordinance which bans hitchhiking and will go into effect June 1.

Councilman Robert B. Cromwell who voted for the ban because of the high crime incidents connected with hitchhiking suggested the curfew as a compromise. Councilmen had been concerned about the students who depended on hitchhiking to get to their jobs.

Since most of the hitchhiking crimes at the Beach occurred between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m., these hours were suggested as the time limits against hitchhiking. The Police Department reported that 90% of the robberies, 70% of the sex offenses and 100% of the homicides related to hitchhiking occur during these night hours.

Space class ready

The Virginia Beach City Public Schools Planetarium program for May will be Space Accomplishments. This program highlights some of the strides taken by man in his exploration of environments beyond Earth, and some of the problems he solved to reach his goals. The program will include some reflection on man since having been to the moon—his changed perspective. A resume of SKYLAB, the Space Shuttle, and information about future projects will conclude the program.

Richmond soon 3?

The population of Virginia Beach is still third, but fast approaching the number two place held by Richmond.

City Manager George L. Hanbury reported the population of the city at 236,000 as estimate based on the number of dwelling units through a formula which takes into account a 5% vacancy rate.

The figure compares to Richmond's 240,000 population. Norfolk is still the largest city in the State. Included in the total are on-base military personnel.

Changes are mulled

The City is considering changes to facilitate the parking of delivery trucks in the beach borough.

City Manager George L. Hanbury said that between 20th and 25th streets on Atlantic Avenue trucks generally double park along the sides of the street making the drivers eligible for traffic tickets.

Hanbury said the city can reduce the number of loading zones, giving the trucks more room, and possibly restrict delivery hours to mornings between 10 or 11 a.m. Charles W. Gardner suggested some provision be made for late deliveries, too.

Puppet show set

The Virginia Beach Branch Library Puppeteers will present the Bicentennial puppet show, "Paul Revere's Ride (or as it might have been 200 years ago) for children of all ages Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at Dome.

Following the puppet production, the regular film program will be held. Films for this date at Bobcoo Monster Enters a Beauty Contest, Alaska Sled Dog, and Wild Cat Family. Parents are requested to remain with the children throughout. There is no fee.

Seven appointed

Seven men have been reapointed to the Building Committee and one member has been reapointed to the Board of Plumbing Appeals. Reappointed to Serve on the Building Committee are Patrick L. Standing, councilman; George L. Hanbury, city manager; William Fanney, John Fowler, Robin I. Hedspeith, R. Dean Lee and J. Harry Mote, and on the Plumbing Board, John Waller.

Restrooms here hit head

By LEE CAHILL
Sun Political Writer

The ocean strip's ugly ducking has turned into a beautiful swan.

Just like in the fairy tale, the oceanfront restrooms that nobody with property along the oceanfront wanted may actually turn into an asset.

That's the way City Council seems to view its first oceanfront restroom facility which will be constructed at the end of 17th Street.

Oliver, Smith and Cooke, Ltd., architects, have designed more than a restroom. In fact, there are two separate restrooms - male and female, fronted by a landscaped mall dominated by a sundial. The materials and the design in the project complement the Sea Escape Motel next to it.

City Manager George L. Hanbury told Council that whenever the city erects a facility next to private property, it tries to accommodate the private property owner. This is done with other projects like pumping stations and recreation centers, he said.

The city was so relieved when the site became available, after it had just about given up hope of ever building public restrooms, that being accommodating came easy.

By making the facility aesthetically pleasing, the city hopes to show other property owners that public restrooms near their property are not necessarily bad. Additional restrooms are contemplated along the beach from Rides Inlet to 42nd Street.

The site became available when John A. Maddox, the owner of the Sea Escape Motel came forward about a year ago and volunteered to be neighbor of the restroom. He said he was willing to have the city close off the street, which in effect would give him ownership of the property.

When a street is closed, property owners on either side are dead end of the street on their side. Maddox owns the property on both sides of the street. Then he would be willing to deed the restroom site back to the city for a nominal fee of $10.

If Maddox had not done this, the only way the City could use a street for construction of a building would be to close the street and then condemn the property needed. The property is estimated to be worth about $4,000 a square foot, and councilman figured Maddox has saved them hundreds of thousands of dollars.

It's a bargain

Councilman John A. Baum remarked that "everybody was surprised that this one man volunteered. If we can't do this, we may as well do away with it all. The cost of the real estate is more than the cost of the mall. It's really a bargain."

Council Monday afternoon voted 10-1 to award the contract for the restroom construction to Ingham & Associates for $145,300. The engineer's estimate was $125,250, but Hanbury said that he expects to save from $12,000 to $14,000 off the price with a substitute.

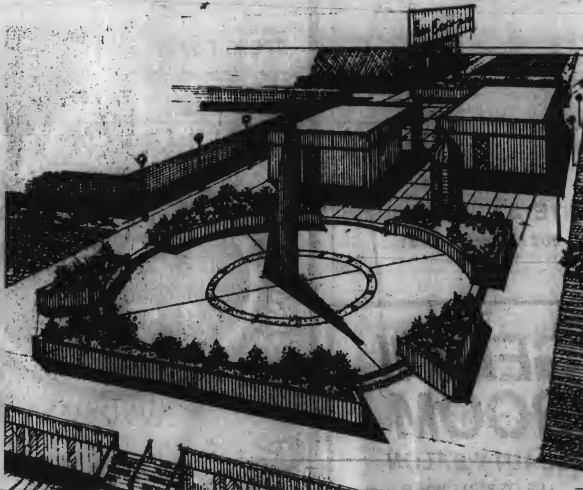

Maddox, who attended the meeting, had worked closely with the architects and had suggested the sundial to which Councilman J. Henry McCoy had objected at a previous meeting as being unnecessary. Hanbury said a clock, a small pagoda-like structure included in the drawings, had also been cut out.

Interest coming

Councilman Patrick L. Standing said that as soon as people see this facility the more interested they will be. He added that more tourists will see the restrooms than probably anything else at the beach.

The restrooms will be constructed of fluted concrete panels and benches will be placed in the mall area. The facility occupies an area 50 feet wide and about 200 feet deep, leaving room for access to the adjoining properties on 17th Street.

McCoy entered the only dissenting vote. In another contract award, Council awarded Luke Construction Company, Inc., the contract for the construction of Birdneck Point Sanitary Sewerage Facilities for $14,850.

A terrible law

To the Editor:
Is Virginia Beach only for the affluent to enjoy? The new hitchhiking law implies so. What about those of us unable to drive, not able to afford a car, not qualified or too young for a license to drive? Clearly this law says that Virginia Beach is only for those who can drive a car... and if you are lucky enough to find a place to park it in the dead of summer.

Wouldn't the city government at the Beach might not have been wiser to discourage still more traffic by setting up several key pickup points for hitch-hikers where cars can pull clearly off the street?

Many of us depend on a lift from our neighbors to get in and out of the beach—or should we take the subway.

Mac Shaw,
Virginia Beach.

To the Editor:
Thank you for the wonderful news coverage by R. Gordon Ursul on our recent Cut-a-thon for Cystic Fibrosis. Your interest and support is gratefully appreciated.

As you know, our Cut-a-thon was a success in terms of funds raised and in having the opportunity to educate the public about Cystic Fibrosis. Your enthusiastic participation certainly played an important role in the whole affair. Those pictures and stories in THE SUN were absolutely outstanding!

SPCA unfortunate victim

There are currently some sick persons at the Beach who seem to have as their aim: dogs, more specifically the mutilation and damaging of our Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The Beach SPCA wasn't going to say anything about it, but THE SUN feels the time is long past due.

A short while back three passing Navy men happened to see the SPCA's animals racing in every direction. It was odd at two in the morning. Police and helpers eventually managed to recover all but two of the fleeing animals. The break-in and release was the work of someone pretty sick.

SPCA volunteers since have remained on guard through the night.

Things were quiet until 4:30 Thursday morning when shotgun blasts blew in the two front windows by the door of the Ruffian Road building. A volunteer was in the back when it happened and when she switched on the lights she saw either two or three persons escaping.

Our SPCA does a good job with little thanks. And with this recent trouble they had to go to the expense of hiring security guards, buying lights, plus will have to get a security system.

"We're upset and disappointed," said Jeanne Hazlewood of the SPCA. "All of this will dip into our building fund."

The loss belongs to all of us. Let's hope the boys in the blue catch and stop these mental midgets.

Bum rap for CB

To the Editor:
Others really got a bum rap in your feature recently. We are not playing irresponsible games and I strongly resent your passing the comments of hams, hams who obviously are envious—showed simply by the publicity course they chose to pursue with you. Hams better get with it, or they'll be left behind.

Bill Edwards

Hams full of it

To the Editor:
How can you print the swill you say hams are telling you? These guys complain about us, what about them? I'm a Cber and proud of it, and just hope that sometime in the near future that you can tell more of our side of the coin. You owe us at least that much.

John Andrews,

Beach ballet set Saturday

The Virginia Beach Civic Ballet will be presenting its first full-length three act ballet, "Coppella," Saturday and Sunday at Plaza Junior High School, 3080 S. Lynnhaven Road.

Performances Saturday are at 3 and 8 p.m. and Sunday, there will be 3 p.m. matinee.

The Virginia Beach Civic Ballet's most ambitious performance to date, "Coppella" is set to the music of Leo Delibes with choreography after Arthur Saint-Leon. The production has been directed and re-staged by Colla Worth, Director of the Virginia Beach Civic Ballet.

Admission to this event is free for these three performances as it is the Virginia Beach Civic Ballet's Bi-centennial gift to the city of Virginia Beach.

The Virginia Beach Civic Ballet and the Dance Guild of Virginia are proud to announce at this time that Mrs. Betty Ford has accepted the invitation of these two organizations to become an honorary member of their board because of their efforts to bring dance to the residents of Tidewater and the state, including the physically and mentally handicapped children.

Beach gal honored

Cheryl L. Ammon, 909 Delaware Avenue, Virginia Beach, has been selected as the recipient of an Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL) Lutheran Campus Scholarship for the 1975-76 academic year. Cheryl is a freshman at Roanoke College majoring in math and education. She is the daughter of James and Shirley Ammon.

City gives opinion

Candidate Sam Houston exonerated from charge

Sam Houston, council candidate, has been exonerated from using his position on the Planning Commission to serve his personal ends.

He was charged by another candidate David H. Baker with using his influence in having two building lots resubdivided.

Houston has his home on one of the lots located at 946 Oriole Drive and the other is located immediately behind. The back lot has no frontage on a road and Houston had a lot line shifted to provide an easement for access to the property.

Attorney John Preston, representing Houston, sought an opinion from City Attorney J. Dale Blinson and Planning Director Robert J. Scott.

Blinson said that the plat was review Sept. 25 and met a all requirements. Scott said the plat was studied on the same day "point-by-point" and that it met all ordinances and that in no way was any influence exercised by Houston on his decision.

The Rev. Fred H. Thomson, another council contender, said the charge by Baker was a character "assassination attempt."

Mayor J. Curtis Payne said that so far as the Council was concerned Houston was completely exonerated.

We're to get hot mix

By LEE CAHILL
Sun Political Writer

After blowing hot and hot over 21 new tennis courts for the City, Council has settled on a hot mix courts by awarding the construction contract to Asphalt Roads and Materials, for $15,000.00.

At previous sessions, Council listened to contractors tell about the relative merits of a hot mix or a cold mix for tennis courts.

City Manager George L. Hanbury told Council, that because of the significant difference in the cost between hot and cold mix he had to recommend the acceptance of the low bidder who uses a hot mix. He also cited the lack of statistical information to disprove the claims of the hot mix manufacturers.

Summer alone

Yes Summer, Inc., who submitted a bid of $170,246, the third lowest of a cold mix to bid on the contract.

Twelve of the courts will be built by the Parks and Recreation Department in conjunction with the Lynnhaven Junior High School; six at the Bayville Farms Park and three at a small park in Level Green.

Deferred until May 17 the petition of Sander Foods for a change of son-tersection of Diamond Springs Road and Northampton Boulevard, Bayside.

Approved the vacation of two plats in the Colony Acres area, Princess Anne Borough of two plats in the Colony Acres area which include approximately 77 lots and portions of Colony Drive, Vince Lane, Jody Lane, North Jody Lane, Bridle Road and Chaplain Road. Much of the area was rezoned from R-1 to R-8 in April, 1974. Edward Garcia, the applicant, intends to resubdivide the property under R-8 District regulations and will have to dedicate new rights-of-way.

City council action

Deferred for one week action on the application of Starr W. Crowmell for the closure of a portion of Old First Colonial Road, Lynnhaven Borough and further proceeding with the construction of a slip lane due to vehicle traffic increase. The Planning Commission recommends denial.

The request was made a year ago, but action was delayed to give the city time to study the traffic patterns. City Manager George L. Hanbury reported that the traffic count on Mill Dam Road (Old First Colonial Road), was 16,000 vehicles a day, greater than he thought.

Has $209,500

Appropriated $209,500 from the fees to pay interest charges for the period through June 30 to Hampton Roads Sanitation District on $3,525,186.22 with which the District is construction. Interceptor force mains in the Courthouse area and other south central areas of the City. The City agreed to pay 7 1/2% interest quarterly not to exceed $300,000 and the District will credit the City with 70% of all revenues collected for sewage treatment services for five years or when the sum of $300,000 has been received.

OK extension

Approved the extension of sewers on North Landing Road and Princess Anne Road to Holland Road at the request of 62% of the property owners (3 out of 5).

Authorized the City Manager to submit a budget amendment request to the Division of Justice and Crime to allow a transfer of $9,630 in DJCP funds from the "Personal" category to the "equipment" category for the Pedleton Project.

Rhodes gives 'em tough row to hoe

By BLAIR THURMAN
Sun Sports Editor

There is disappointment and there is Disappointment. Last week, the Bayside baseball team suffered Disappointment.

The Marlins played Princess Anne High in a crucial Eastern district game. A game that would have put Coach Terry Morton's Marlins in the catbird seat, riding on top of the district with an undefeated record, making them the favorite to win the title, midway through the season.

But a loss for the Cavaliers might have been a disaster, since they had already lost to Lake Taylor, and could have dropped them from contention. Maybe. It's a close race.

What ensued was a hard-fought battle, a pitchers duel that went extra innings. When everybody finally went home, the Cavaliers had emerged the victors, 3-0, scoring their runs in the top of the ninth, David Anderson picked up the W after going the distance.

Easily the most disappointed player had to be Bayside pitcher Mike Rhodes, who only allowed one hit until the disastrous ninth, and struck out 20 batters.

Yes, that's right, 20 batters. That ran the lefty's strikeout total this year to 95 in less than 50 innings pitched.

"I think Mike is the premier pitcher in the district," said Morton. Morton might be a little prejudiced, of course, but it's for sure that Rhodes isn't Shirley Temple out there on the mound. He throws bullets. Bullets that move around suddenly. The kind that are hard to hit.

Catcher Donny Jones is on the other end of those supersonic projectiles, and suffers the consequences. "My hand really got swollen up after that last game," he said.

Letdown

The letdown that followed the loss didn't last too long, and in a couple days they were loose and laughing at practice. But they know what they have to do. "At this point," said Morton, "we can't afford to lose another game."

In order to win, however, they need to hit more often. Rhodes can't win if he doesn't get any runs. In the loss to Princess Anne, they left the bases loaded on a couple occasions, and had men on base in most innings. They failed to convert these into runs.

Rhodes can only be used so often, and when his arm is too tired to whip the ball effectively, battery-mate Donny Jones takes to the mound. Coach Morton said he doesn't hesitate to use his catcher-turned-pitcher-turned-catcher.

Nevertheless, the best combination is Rhodes to Jones and around the horn. Rhodes throws smoke, and when asked which pitch his hurler is most effective with, Jones smiled and said, "They have trouble hitting his drop-curve. He throws his fastball a lot, but he is accurate enough that he can throw a curve even with three balls on the batter."

Sometimes Rhodes throws too hard. "I have to tell him to slow down sometimes," noted Morton. "Because I'm afraid he might hurt himself."

There are other Marlins with impressive statistics. Outfielder Cedric Holland is batting along at a .450 clip, and Roy Lohman, another outfielder, strikes out about as often as Jimmy Carter frowns.

Gene Leach, who bounces back and forth from first to third, is also batting over .400.

To win the Eastern District, the Marlins have to keep it all together. "We can win it," said Morton, "but it should be interesting. There really is so many ways to tell who will come out on top."

One thing you can be sure of. Mike Rhodes will whiff some more batters before it's all over.

Grapplers win scholarships

Jimmy Rogers and Mario Mastrangeli, both of Princess Anne High, will continue their wrestling careers after graduating this year.

Rogers has accepted a scholarship at Lycoming College in Pennsylvania. "I'm excited about going," he said, "they have a good program at Lycoming. Last year they finished seventh in the nation for small colleges."

A wrestler since the eighth grade, Rogers hopes to grapple at 150 pounds. Mastrangeli will take his talents to the Air Force Academy. He too plans to wrestle at 150 pounds.

He should have adequate coaching. "Coach Baughman at the Air Force Academy will coach the U.S. Olympic team this year," he said.

Patriots take Beach golf tourney

By BLAIR THURMAN
Sun Sports Editor

Well, last week they played the Virginia Beach city golf tournament so all we have to do is look at the results and we can see who is going to win the district competition this week and who is not and give him a little advice they even play the darn thing anyway?

Ahem. There are a couple reasons. Reason number one is that there is, believe it or not, a Norfolk school capable of playing good golf, and can't be counted out. Lake Taylor that is.

Other than that, it should be Beach competition, which brings us to our second reason. Almost anyone can win it. First Colonial won the event at Bow Creek, finishing four strokes ahead of Kellam High.

Pleased with victory

Patriot coach Dutch Forehand was pleased with the victory. "904 is a good score for Bow Creek. You have to hit the ball straight, which we did. If we hit it as accurately next week at Eagle Haven, we should do well. There is a lot of water there, and you must hit it straight." Forehand continued, "I just hope the boys don't get swelled heads. When you're number one, everyone is gunning for you."

Reynolds Dawson of First Colonial and Billy Woolard of Kellam tied for medalist honors, both shooting 72's. Ricardo Britt, Dawson's teammate, shot a 74.

First Colonial also finished first in the district with a 9-1 mark, and should be the team to beat. Look for them to finish near the top.

George Owens, the Kellam coach, doesn't see much reason to worry over the fact his team didn't take first. "We only finished four strokes back, and that's just one stroke per man."

There is another reason for Owens' optimism. "Our regular number four man hurt his hand, but Chuck Davenport stepped in and shot a strong 83."

Eddie Diggs leads a formidable Kempsville team that may feel is the best in the district.

Princess Anne will probably have to improve its play

In order to qualify for the regionals. They came in fourth with a 323. Coach Leo Anthony said, "The Beach has the best teams in the state. It's a shame our district can't send more than four teams to the regionals."

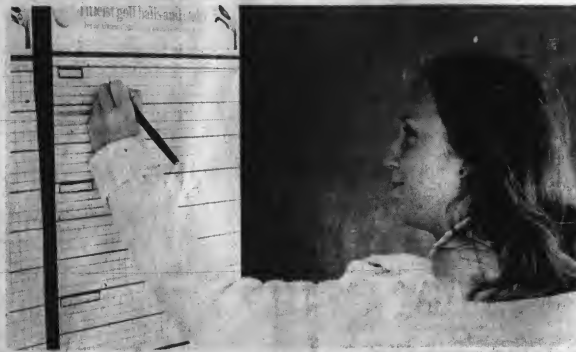

Bayside finished a disappointing fifth. They went into the tournament with a 6-4 record, but as Coach Conrad Parker said, "We were the only team to beat First Colonial this year."

That just goes to show the balance this year. "It's my ninth year of coaching golf," said Parker, "and this is the most competitive I've ever seen the Eastern District. It could be a seven team race."

Kempsville's Eddie Diggs and Bayside's John Andersen

Petty Bolcher of Kellam High marks a score

Cheerleader of the week

Lisa Allred

Our cheerleader of the week is pretty Lisa Allred of Kellam High. Lisa goes to most of the Knight's games, and has tons of team spirit. She recently spent her day helping the handicapped at the Special Olympics, and helped make it a success. She keeps busy by participating in the junior senate, ICC, and was Homecoming Representative for the Monogram Club. Lisa also enjoys going to the beach and riding horses. Her ambition is to become a physical therapist and hopes to attend VPI.

Mike Perry

Mike Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ay-dette H. Perry, of Virginia Beach, is a member of the 1976 Madison College track team. Perry, a graduate of First Colonial High, competes in the pole vault for the Dukes.

Beach students plan party week

In celebration of the Bicentennial the Eagles Chorus and Madrigal singers, under the direction of Mrs. Dianne Moscatello, prepared a program honoring the spirit and development of our country. The program was first presented to the parents, and then toured many of the Elementary Schools of Virginia Beach.

Accomplishments have not only been made in the area of music, education, and sports. This year the PTA took on as its special project beautification of school grounds. Phase one of the planting of trees, shrubbery and landscaping is now being completed.

As part of their spirit of '76 effort, the PTA, with the cooperation of the school, has sold honorary deeds to symbolize square feet of the school grounds. Donations ranged from $1 to $48. Many of the school's clubs, including the Band Parents Association, purchase these honorary deeds. During the Bicentennial celebration it was the school's desire for both students and faculty to incorporate into their program skills and characteristics of our rich heritage.

Involved change

The plan for the 1975-76 school year was to attempt to modify the curriculum so that every department would work around a central theme--the Bicentennial. This did not involve a major restructuring of curriculum design; however, modification did enable the various departments to supplement their traditional plan of colonial living which would most interest it, and from the study, planned its year long project.

May 10-14 has been set aside as the special week for the culmination of the Bicentennial theme. Each department will exhibit the results of its research and projects. The public is invited and urged to attend. The schedule and times of the events are listed here.

Independence is one of the many schools in its city where school officials, teachers, and parent associations are working very hard, with little recognition or praise. Their desire is to develop our city's and our country's most important resource, the citizens and leaders of tomorrow.

So today THE SUN offers a Bicentennial Salute to one of the many excellent schools in the city, the Independence Junior High School Eagles.

Traylor gives details about hunt sponsor

Last-minute instructions given to crowd gathered under steady drizzle

Beach digs treasure hunt

By R. GORDON URSUL
SUN Editor

A relatively new sporting endeavor has broken onto the Beach scene with hundreds participating.

It's the treasure hunt.

More than 300 congregated at Chesapeake's Northwest Base Saturday for the first Virginia Championship Treasure Hunt. It featured a junior hunt, competition hunt, money/prize hunt; with thousands of old coins and silver buried in advance. Metal detectors and other prizes valued at $2000 were handed out.

H&S Detector Center at 2114 Thoroughgood Road was organizer and sponsor of the successful event that saw competitors enter from around the state, 14 other states, and even Cuba.

Treasure hunting is a sport that has caught on like wildfire both here and around the world. H&S Detector has been swamped with orders of late and business is booming, with the complete line of metal detectors and instruments available.

If you want to get in on the fun, contact them. The units start as low as $60 for the cheapies and go right up the ladder to several hundred bucks.

Rusty Henry and Ray Smith were pleased with results, and perhaps this will become an annual or bi-annual happening.

The day came off beautifully despite a protracted drizzle, and the searchers did their best to find everything metallic at Northwest. A variety of items were found and no doubt the entrants won't forget this event for a long, long time.

Thanks also goes to Jack Davis who coordinated in-field communications and had the relay point for persons from all over the country. Davis is quite the electronics man himself, and the Beach resident owns and operates 4-Wheeler Communications, CB radio specialists at 5047 Cleveland St. near Witchduck.

Davis features top equipment such as Tram, Browning, Hy-Gain and Pace. His modern equipment drew the praise of all Saturday, and Davis has invited all Beach folks into his shop to look around and select from the best CB offering in all of Tidewater. Davis, for the record, is pro CB and will be featured in THE SUN two issues from now--replying to the CB-ham fight story we carried two weeks back.

But the main thrust was treasure hunting. It's quite a sport. National magazines now service the industry. It has become big business. Some of those entered from the Beach were Henry Bishop, Gregory Royster, Cecil Baker, Charles Stevens, Evelyn and Wallace Boyd, Thomas Gy Urso, Tom Metz, Bob Frazier, Bob Boyce, Forrest Pugh and Karl Midgette.

Food and refreshments were available. Those searching were of all ages and they found everything from soup to nuts--including stray bullets from another time, and even monkey wrenches.

It was fun and most can't wait for next time.

Mother's of AMERICA

This bi-centennial year, we should take time to consider the contributions that the mothers of America have made during our two hundred year history.

Mothers in colonial days helped found a young nation. Later, the pioneer mothers worked side by side with their husbands to settle the new frontier. They traveled miles and miles through hostile country to found homes in the West.

It was their courage and faith that sustained the men and children of early America. They helped to teach the values and ideals that made our country strong.

This Mother's Day remember the Mothers of America, and honor your own Mother. They have worked hard and long throughout the history of this great land.

Beach women celebrate day

May Fellowship Day will be celebrated by Virginia Beach Church Women United, Friday at 11 a.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, Pacific Avenue at 36th Street.

Along with Protestant, Catholic, and Orthodox women in 1,000 local units across the country, Church Women United in Virginia Beach will continue the tradition established in 1933 of worshipping together on the first Friday in May to emphasize the creative and healing relations that are possible among people in all communities.

Evelyn M. Hailey, Tidewater Member of the House of Delegates, will deliver the address, "The Valiant Women in the Community" -- honoring the memory of those who left their mark, the presence of dedicated women in our midst today, and the certainty that there will be many to follow. A baby sitting service will be provided and a luncheon served afterwards. The public is invited.

At Plaza Jr. High

Beach sets birth class

A Workshop will be presented by the Tidewater Childbirth Educators Association for Virginia Beach Junior and senior high school teachers of home economics.

This will be a participatory workshop presented by instructors in the Lamaze method of prepared childbirth on Saturday, 9:30 to 5, at Plaza Junior High School, 3080 South Lynnhaven Road, Virginia Beach.

Topics will include anatomy and physiology, prenatal exercises and relaxation techniques, maternal and infant nutrition, films and visual aids, and community resources. The purpose of this workshop is to aid teachers in presenting the concepts and goals of prepared childbirth and the importance of pre- and postnatal care for both mother and child. The workshop is being sponsored by the Virginia Beach School Board. For further information and to pre-register, call T. Oiddings, 499-2974.

Saturday

All Saints Episcopal Church celebrates spring Saturday with its annual "Spring Thing" at 1968 Woodside Lane, Great Neck Point.

The festivities, from 10 to 5, include folk-singing by Sharon Diskin, accompanied by Don Kropp, a barbershop quartet called the "Extension Church", police dog demonstrations and games. There will also be antiques, homebaked goods and crafts for sale. It's been a fun event year after year, according to Rev. Joseph Plinder of All Saints. The "Spring Thing" is open to the public.

Cute Rosalyn Oceana queen

From among 19 contestants, Yeoman Seaman Rosalyn Thomas from Aircraft Intermediate Maintenance Department Avionics was selected Miss Military Oceana-1976 by a five-judge panel during recent ceremonies.

First runner-up is Personnelman Third Class Petty Officer Debra McGilvray. Second runner-up is Intelligence Specialist Seaman Pamela Sissom.

Contestants met with judges during an informal luncheon at the Seahorse Club prior to the official judging. The club's dining area was filled as well-wishers gathered to watch the 19 candidates vie for the title of Miss Military Oceana-1976.

After a preliminary walk-around before judges, the contestants were met individually and asked to answer the question, "Why would you like to be Miss Military Oceana-1976?"

Rosalyn was taken aback when Master of Ceremonies, Robert Tuccillo, announced her as the winner. Her earlier toastmistress composure in the question and answer segment gave way to tears of joy.

Miss Military Oceana-1976, YNSN Rosalyn Thomas, received a bouquet of red, white and blue carnations, a sash, a clothing gift certificate and a $50 bond. She was also given recreational passes and a free dinner for two at her club.

First runner-up, Debra McGilvray received a $25 bond, recreational passes and a free dinner for two at her club.

Second runner-up, Pamela Sissom was awarded recreational passes and a free dinner for two at her club.

Miss Military Oceana-1976 will represent NAS Oceana during Armed Forces Day, Air Show and Open House and Navy Day festivities.

Navy cargo tests conducted on ocean off Virginia Beach

Logistics-over-shore tests conducted by services here

The second in a year-long series of LOTS (logistics-over-the-shore) tests being conducted by the military services at Ft. Story here at the Beach was held this week.

"Tax Force Hook" will help the services determine if containers and other heavy, outsized equipment can be unloaded, deployed and discharged from a conventional breakbulk ship in an offshore environment without the use of special facilities.

As with the other planned tests and the recently-concluded balloon operations, our own Ft. Story was selected as the most ideal site for this test because of the varying sea and weather conditions provided by the area.

The tests were conducted by the Army, Navy and Marine Corps under the direction of Major General Alton G. Post, commander of the Army Transportation Center and Ft. Eustis.

Big cranes used

The purpose of these tests was to determine how well various systems will work in transferring containers and other equipment in a LOTS situation from five different types of merchant vessels—conventional breakbulk, heavy lift breakbulk, non-self-sustaining container ship, LASH barge, and SEABEE barge.

In the recent test, the services wanted to test their ability to deploy new equipment which is out-sized and approaches the weight capacity of a conventional breakbulk ship.

The equipment included a 140-ton truck crane, and a 600-ton truck crane, which have been acquired by the Army to handle containers in a LOTS operation. Both models can be used with up to 400 feet of boom and job, although the Army has only obtained 120 feet of boom sections for the smaller crane and 160 feet of boom for the larger one to meet its operational needs. Only 70 feet of boom will be used in the test.

Two big monsters

The boom lengths provide sufficient lifting radius to remove containers from the far side of a container ship with the crane sitting on a pier alongside the ship.

When completely equipped and assembled, the 140-ton crane weighs 186,620 lbs. and the 300-ton crane weighs 351,520 lbs.

If the services can load these cranes in port and discharge them in an offshore environment without special facilities, they will have a deployment means for ship-to-shore and shore-to-shore LOTS capability.

Among the answers sought from the test is the time it will take to disassemble the equipment and load it aboard a ship, then off-load and reassemble it on the beach.

Disassembled here

The services also want to know if landing craft (merchandise) and porton causeway sections can be used to provide ship-to-shore lightering for the crane if utility landing craft are not available.

The degree of beach preparation necessary to accept and permit operation of the crane was also of interest, since neither crane is fully mobile in an unimproved beach site location.

The cranes and other test equipment were disassembled at Ft. Eustis and at Little Creek Naval Amphibious Base. From there they were transferred by ground vehicle to a staging area at the Naval Supply Center, in Norfolk, where they were loaded aboard a conventional breakbulk ship.

At Ft. Story's Green Beach are, near the headquarters building, the cargo was discharged from the ship and reassembled on the beach.

Altogether 27 lifts of equipment from the breakbulk ship were tested. Trailers loaded with crane components comprised the first 21 lifts. The remaining six were deck loads.

First the 140-ton crane components were unloaded and deployed to the beach area. While it was being assembled, the 300-ton crane was brought ashore. The 140-ton crane was then used in reassembling the larger model.

The test ended when both cranes had been reassembled and were operational on the beach.

Results of the test will be known after data studies have been analyzed.

Washington openings

FBI after Beach folks

Chesapeake in the job market may find something of interest through the FBI in its Washington, D.C. office.

Presently there are no vacancies in the Norfolk office and the waiting list is long.

The following are brief resumes of qualifications for employees in jobs which the FBI currently has openings at its headquarters in Washington, D.C. These positions are not under Civil Service appointment regulations.

Positions include fingerprint clerk, general clerk, clerk-typists and clerk-stenographers.

Basic skills are required, for the latter two jobs. All vacancies in fingerprint clerk positions are filled from those applicants who show potential for training and advancement as fingerprint identification examiners. All applicants must be citizens of the U. S., high school graduates, and at least 16 years of age. All applicants must pass a written spelling test.

Typist applicants must be able to pass a typing test at the rate of 40 words per minute.

Stenographic applicants must be able to pass a dictation test given at the rate of 80 words per minute, a typing test at the rate of 40 words per minute and a vocabulary test.

Applicants for the general clerical position must possess basic qualifications for assignment to indexing, filing, or other clerical duties. It is not essential that applicants for these positions be typists.

Those interested in complete details concerning the above mentioned positions should contact the Norfolk Office of the FBI, Room 300, 870 North Military Highway, Norfolk. Telephone 461-2121.

Mini-theater attracts big crowds from Virginia Beach

Beach youngsters enjoy shows put on by Bicentennial caravan

Scores of Beach youngsters have enjoyed presentations by the U.S. Armed Forces Bicentennial Caravan.

And in addition to learning, and also being entertained, many groups from Virginia Beach were a part to the recent program.

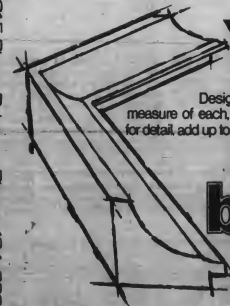

One of the highlights was provided by the Beach's own Hot Foli Stompers clogging team.

The display was made up of four vans representing the Army, Navy Marine Corps and Air Force.

The automated vans will make American military history entertaining as well as educational by employing the most modern audiovisual techniques, multimedia presentations, films and electronic devices. The exhibits will provide an opportunity for citizens to develop an appreciation and understanding of the many facets of military service to this country. It is not a recruiting effort.

Several local Bicentennial activities were scheduled at Military Circle in conjunction with the Armed Forces Exhibit. These events and displays included a Musical Tribute to America by the Kemps Landing Elementary School; an historical flag pageant by the Fleet Marine Force Atlantic Drum & Bugle Corps; colonial crafts demonstrations, folk dancing, a replica of the Liberty Bell from the Princess Anne Memorial Park, an authentic refurbished covered wagon, and Colonial Fashion Show by Princess Anne County Militia Huesars.

Plaza Jr. band cops title

By BUD LOWE
Sun Contributor

What are those young musicians at the Beach going to do next?

Plaza Junior High School has just been informed that they won first place in the Ninth Annual Saint Patrick's Day Parade held in Norfolk. Of the 10 Junior High Schools entered, Plaza was the only one from the Beach.

The Saint Patrick's Day Parade is sponsored each year by the Knights of Columbus (KOC) of Tidewater. Parade chairman Charles Fleetwood made the trophy presentation to the band at Plaza Junior High.

These young troubadours are under the direction of Charles Warren.

Real good one

No Marching Band is complete without a Drill Team and Plaza Junior High School has and exceptionally good one. This fine group of young ladies are under the direction of Carolyn Keen. The people here at the Beach would like to say congratulations to:

Flag Team--Brenda Barber, Nancy Liedel, Lita Plummer and Robin Sorey.

Drill Team Captain--Kathy Schebetar, Co-Captain for the Day--Daren Poietti and their Drill Team: Cindy Alexander, Tina Carroll, Vanessa Clouse, Lora Davis, Cindy DeFoeche, Sherry Harmon, Riss Huff, Camia LasDulce, Karen Levy, Trina McGee, Robin Moddy, Lynn Powell, Shawn Powell, Sandy Slamon, Liana Scharpschmidt, Lisa Storms, Susie Tall, Teresa Trainer, Lois Twiford, Denise Wade, and the Banner Carriers--Elizabeth Hill and Debbie Via.

We at the Beach can be proud of this group and they can be proud of their accomplishments for they have truly done well.

Plaza Junior High is not finished for the year yet, they will take part in the Armed Forces Day Parade, May 15; they will attend a parade at Knotts Island May 28; and have their Spring Concert May 28 right here at Plaza Junior High School.

Beach sailor scoops award

The year 1978 will be memorable for Aviation Electronics Technician First Class Patrick W. Rolfe of Naval Air Station Oceana.

At Rolfe is NAS Oceana's Sailor of the Year.

Selection of Petty Officer Rolfe to represent the command as Sailor of the Year comes just a few months after he competed for, and won the title of Oceana's December Sailor of the Month.

Rolfe, assistant day shift supervisor of AIMD's Communications-Navigation Work Center, was selected because of his military and professional knowledge, performance evaluation, devotion to duty, communications skills and empathy for his shipmates.

His professionalism, leadership by example, and mature judgement, coupled with his vast knowledge of electronics and practical application of his knowledge, have made possible the attainment and success of Oceana's mission to support the Fleet.

A native of Ulitz, N. Y., Rolfe earned an Associates Degree in Business Administration and graduated "Summa Cum Laude" from Tidewater Community College.

Rolfe and his wife, Paula, are newbies who enjoy togetherness. They own a "bicycle built for two" and like to take ten-mile jaunts.

Rolfe admits there is a drawback to this mode of transportation--after a few miles he has to keep looking back to make sure his "Daisy" is still pedalling.

Paula Rolfe teaches German at Great Bridge High School and heads the German Club. As a club chairperson, Rolfe has become involved in club activities as the club's Oktoberfest.

Plans for the Rolfe's future include a trip overseas to Germany. They are saving toward this goal with the hope of a one-month stay sometime next summer.

As Sailor of the Year, Rolfe will represent NAS Oceana during the year at special functions.

Phone hike sought

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia has filed for a $77 million general rate increase with the State Corporation Commission.

Lee C. Tall, vice president of C & P, said it is a matter of costs that requires the company to seek this rate increase. The costs of operating the business are increasing at a greater rate than our revenues, he said, despite prudent management and continuous improvement in productivity.

Girl athletes at Beach happy, boys uptight over JV loss

By BLAIR THURMAN
Sun Sports Editor

"No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving Federal assistance."

That is Title IX, the controversial regulation signed into law by President Ford May 27. Paraphrased it might read, "What the boys get, so shall the girls."

The Virginia Beach Public School System a few days back adopted the recommendations of the Athletic and Forensic Study Committee, and of six sub-committees that have been researching, since 1974, the athletic programs in Virginia Beach.

The most drastic action taken was abolishment of the jayvee program right across the board.

The committee held public hearings and was composed of coaches, teachers, athletic directors, and administrative and supervisory personnel. The committee chairman was Jerry Deviney, Coordinator of Stu-

Oceana invites all to festivities

There's a rare opportunity for Beach residents:

Naval Air Station Oceana will conduct an afternoon of general visiting during Armed Forces Week which is being celebrated through Saturday.

The public is invited to watch air operations at Oceana's Apollo Soucek Field from 12:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

Visitors to Oceana will be treated to aircraft static displays of the Navy's F-14 Tomcat, F-4 Phantom II, A-6 Intruder and A-4 Skyhawk, planes that fly daily from this Navy Master Jet Base in Virginia Beach. Pilots and Naval Flight Officers will be on hand to answer questions and explain about the aircraft.

Two attractive floats designed by NAS Oceana for appearance in area parades during the Bicentennial year will also be on prominent display. Of course, the major attraction of the day will take place on Oceana's flight line and runways where guests will see Navy jet fighter and medium attack aircraft taking off, landing and performing touch-and-go maneuvers. Convenient parking has been arranged at the entrance to the station where visitors will board Navy buses for the short ride to Apollo Soucek Field.

The buses will shuttle between parking and the reviewing area every half hour beginning at 12:30 p.m. The last bus will leave the parking area at 3 p.m. and return at 3:30 p.m. Guests may bring their cameras. Picture taking will be permitted in the reviewing area.

This talk may change your life

Findhorn has only recently really let the world in on its "Secret", one that could change your life.

Findhorn is a New Age Community located physically in rural Scotland, a remote outpost and outtime trailer park by a lake that in less than 14 years has grown from an almost idyllic lifestyle involving hundreds; located spiritually as a creative influence and inspiration, the objectively to pioneer a way of life based on complete harmony with God.

"It's a place of happy people building toward an alternative society," says Findhorn founder and director, Peter Caddy, who will further elaborate when he lectures here at the Association for Research and Enlightenment.

Caddy's summation seems rather robust, yet Findhorn appears just that. His presentation, "The Magic of Find-horn," possibly might lead you into a new awakening, because the soul of the Findhorn story is that its emergence itself is a foundation for modern parables demonstrating the reality and power of God and of man's Divinity. In layman's terms, they strive simply to create the perfect environment.

"We're pleased that Peter Caddy is coming to the A.R.E.," says Hugh Lynn Cayce, A.R.E. President. "He will present interesting and inspiring data and results on Findhorn's unique attempt to fashion a unique order."

The Caddys, Peter and Ellen, their three sons and friend Dorothy Maclean, initiated Findhorn in November of 1962. From those rough beginnings it has grown to be a virtually self-sufficient community, living and working in harmony. Business and philosophy have been ideally blended building bridges of new communication.

Findhorn is no "cult", or hippie haven.

It is a contemporary collection of persons seeking to demonstrate the reality and the power of their spiritual principles of living, not in a religious, dogmatic, intellectual way nor as an escape, but as the release of that greater Consciousness within each man which can take the splendors of material evolution and intellectual achievement and use them for the good of all and all which lives upon this plane.

They share attainments at Findhorn, work, play and study together. The labor includes crafts and other workshops, education and the performing arts.

Perhaps the Findhorn success can best be told in the words of the Scottish reporter who originally visited the community to do an expose on "sin in the sun". She discovered something quite different:

"If the visitor were to listen and believe (see rumors, he would bepalated a picture of an extremely weird cult shrouded in mystery." Nothing could be further from reality. "I'm not exactly sure what I expected but it certainly wasn't rows of neat chalets basking in the brightness of flowers galore. And the people...not one arty-crafty looking type to be seen. There was no way-out talk, no looking down on someone who lived out of the community, no Bible-thumping beliefs. They are a very much down-to-earth people in a community where friendliness exists in super abundance."

Caddy will appear at the A.R.E. one time only, tonight at 8. "The Magic of Findhorn" will cost adults $3, with students at half price. The public is invited to attend.

It's a rare opportunity. Caddy will make you think, force you to consider the possibilities. Ultimately it may even change your life. Shangri-La come true.

Air cushion unit tested at Beach

The Army will receive its first lighter air cushion vehicle from Bell Aerospace Corporation early in May for operational tests at Ft. Story here at the Beach.

Ft. Story will be the testing site for the amphibious craft to determine if LACVs can be more effective than current equipment in meeting the Army's needs for carrying cargo from ships across beaches.

In addition, the LACVs will be tested in introducing shore-to-shore operations in coastal, harbor and inland waterways, and operating on search and rescue missions; in medical evacuations and in other water transport services.

If the amphibians test out, it is anticipated they will replace the lighter amphibious resupply cargo (LARC) vessels, Y and XV. The LARC 60 would be retained because of its high load capacity. Incorporation of the LACVs into the Army's fleet of lighterage companies would begin in 1979.

Developed by Bell Aerospace, the craft to be unveiled at Virginia Beach travels on a four-foot cushion of air at water speeds of up to 50 knots and can traverse land with slopes of six degrees, vertical obstructions up to three feet, depressions of six to 12 feet in width; and a plunging surf of eight feet.

76-footer here

The 76-foot amphibian to be tested at Ft. Story is designed to carry 30-foot containers. On its 51x33 feet of unobstructed deck space, it can transport one 22.5-ton container or two 15-ton containers. If necessary, the craft could accommodate three containers as long as their weight did not exceed the craft's 30-ton payload capacity.

There will be no environmental impact on Ft. Story or the Beach—with the addition of the LACV to its training mission, according to testing officials. The LACV can operate in areas with barrier reefs, underwater obstructions, snow, ice, muskies and other kinds of marginal terrain with no noticeable effects on the area.

In Alaskan tests, the officials said, an ACV was taken over areas cluttered with duck eggs time and again without breaking a single egg. They said a mass could easily move beneath a hovering craft without danger, but would not recommend it.

Sand dunes at the Virginia Beach post would remain relatively undisturbed, the officials said. The LACV will use the same trails as used by the LARC-60 so there will be no need to change the terrain.

The air cushion vehicle at Ft. Story will be operated and maintained by a 14-person team headed by Captain Lyle Hastings. A second LACV will be received for testing at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md. later in May. That craft will be headed by Captain Juan Perales.

Both teams trained at Hartford, Conn., where they Vehicle may provide rapid transport mobility for U.S. Army received classroom and hands-on instruction on the LACV's turbine engine. Their secondary training was in Panama City, Fla., where they operated and maintained an air cushion vehicle similar to the Army prototype.

It is anticipated that these teams provide experienced cadre for the activation of Transportation Corps amphibious lighterage companies if the Army orders production LACVs for 1979.

The lighter-air-cushion vehicles are being introduced into the Army's watercraft inventory to meet a growing demand for transfer of containerized cargo. Today's Army fleet is not designed to handle container adequately and is not fast enough to equal the productivity of modern container ships.

In addition to the logistics ship-to-shore abilities of the LACV, the Army also anticipates its use in Arctic areas, where the craft can be operated to transport containers cross-country without damage to the environment.

The LACV-30 being accepted by the Army is a stretched and modified version of the Voyager ACV, which was tested in the joint-service OSDOC II (Offshore Discharge of Containers) exercise at Ft. Story in 1972. The two Army craft are basically the fifth and sixth Voyagers produced since the first prototype was completed in 1971.

In addition to an 11 1/2-foot stretch to increase the craft's cargo deck, the LACV has more powerful engines, improved propellers, an air management system, a self-unloading capability and several other improvements requested by the Army.

LACV-30s are powered by two Pratt and Whitney ST6B-76 engines which have a normal shaft horsepower rating of 1,400 and a maximum rating of 1,800 horsepower.

The craft's air management system, powered by a 140-horsepower auxiliary power unit (APU), provides filtered, positive pressure air for the engines, the engine oil coolers, cabin air conditioner system and the intakes of the APU itself. The system includes an axial fan, moisture separators and filters.

The two Army LACV-30s were developed and built under contract to the Army's Mobility Equipment Research and Development Command by Bell Aerospace Corp.

Two Virginia Beach students have been named on the academic honors list for the fall semester at Evangel College, Springfield, Mo.

They are Billy E. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville F. Sweet, 3528 Raintree Road; and Mary L. Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin E. Snyder, Jr. Both are accounting majors at Evangel.

Jones is a senior, and is a graduate of Kellam high school. Miss Snyder is a First Colonial high school graduate, and is a sophomore at Evangel.

Evangel is a four year Assemblies of God college of arts and sciences, accredited by the North Central Association. Enrollment is 1133.

Vowell presents check to Edwards

Beach rotarians present check

President Earl Vowell of the Virginia Beach Rotary Club recently presented a check for $1,750 to Bruce Edwards, executive director of the Emergency Coronary Care program of the city of Virginia Beach.

The check represented the final payment on a pledge made three years ago by the Rotary Club to donate $4,500 to the program. The funds are made available by payments to the Virginia Beach Rotary Club Foundation made by the more than 65 members of the club and by special projects undertaken by the club throughout the year.

The Emergency Coronary Care program, begun in 1972, assists on donations from organizations and individuals. So far more than $200,000 has been provided by these sources to purchase equipment for the Cardiac Technicians who operate on a volunteer basis throughout the city, according to Edwards.

The Rotary Club presentation was made at a regular Thursday evening meeting of the club at the Mariner Motel on Atlantic Avenue.

Auditions slated for 'Music Man'

Auditions for Meredith Willson's Tony Award winning musical, The Music Man, will be held at the Little Theatre of Virginia Beach at 54th and Barberio Drive, on Tuesday and Wednesday May 18 and 19 at 8 p.m. Needed are men and women of all ages, and children from age 10. There are some non-singing roles as well as a need for a barbershop quartet, instrumentalists both to perform in the show and interested in playing for the musical, and dancers. An accompanist will be provided, but those singing are asked to bring a prepared musical selection.

Hitchhikers might get break yet . . .

The City of Virginia Beach, which recently voted to outlaw hitchhiking, may take another look at the question, Councilman Robert B. Cromwell, who voted for the ban because of the crime incidents related to hitchhiking, suggest that hitchhiking might be legalized again if a curfew were placed on the activity.

His thinking was that crime involving hitchhiking was more likely to take place during the night than in the daytime.

City Manager George L. Hanbury, at his request, has presented a police report showing that 70% of hitchhiking-related crime did occur between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m. and that he would get the opinion of the police chief on Cromwell's proposal. Cromwell said that under the curfew plan, students will be still able to hitchhike to school and to after-school jobs.

Beach directories distributed

The new telephone directory is currently being delivered throughout Virginia Beach and will continue through Friday, May 21.

More than 297,000 Norfolk Metro phone books will be delivered initially to the customers of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia in Chesapeake, Norfolk, Portsmouth and Virginia Beach exchanges. Some 402,000 were printed. The additional copies are for new customers and replacements during the year.

The new directory has the Bell System bicentennial theme as the cover. The cover gives a whimsical look at the history of the nation and the telephone.

CAP manager Mrs. Loretta W. Pierce said each household will again receive only one phone book unless there was a previous request for additional copies.

Civic chorus sets its annual concert

The Virginia Beach Civic Chorus, under the direction of Walter Noona, will present its annual concert of the spring season Sunday at 8 p.m., and again Monday evening at 8 p.m. in the Plaza Junior High School on South Lynnhaven Rd.

This year the concert's theme will be a bi-centennial "Salute American Music." Music from colonial days to the present will be featured.

In keeping with the organizations reputation for performing the music and well as singing, a wide variety of songs and styles will be offered. From the gentle American folk lullaby, All the Pretty Little Horses the stirring and the different renditions of Yankee Doodle, Dixie, and When Johnnie Comes Marching Home to songs of Stephen Foster, George Gershwin, John Denver, Woody Guthrie, and Neil Sedaka, the group will follow America in song through the years.

Accompanist Carol Noona, on piano, will be joined by bass guitar and percussion on many numbers. Solo specialty numbers, Big, Bad, Leroy Brown and Feelings, will be performed by Lee Lively and Joyce Coulsting.

Tickets are available in advance from any chorus member or at the three Alexander Bewtle stores. They may be purchased at the door also. $2.50 adults, $1 students.

Folk arts festival planned on weekend

The Second Annual Virginia Beach Folk Arts Festival will be held Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Princess Anne Park.

The festival is sponsored by the Department of Parks and Recreation. Main dates for the festival have been set for May 22 and 23.

The festival is a celebration of folk arts and folk crafts, featuring demonstrations and exhibits of the traditional skills handed down through generations. Last year there were a variety of craftsmen present from potters and weavers to wooden toy makers and net makers. Entertainment is provided by various musical and acting groups.

For additional information contact the Department of Parks and Recreation at 497-4884.

ies on initial delivery. Business customers will receive the usual number of directories.

The manager added residence customers needing an additional copy of the phone book should place a request after directory delivery is completed May 21.

It was also pointed out that the new directory should be checked since there are significant phone number changes, due to people moving and new listings added during the past year.

Also, there will be a separate resort Virginia Beach directory of which some 25,000 will be delivered initially.

The CAP manager said it required some 39 tractor trailers to bring the phone books to the Tidewater area.

Commenting further on the directory cover, the manager said artist, Stanley Metcalf conceived and created the bicentennial cover. The artist depicted 26 "American heroes, myths and common people" talking on the telephone across time and space on the front and back cover of the phone book. Among the characters represented are Thomas Jefferson, the Statue of Liberty, Shirley Temple, John D. Rockefeller, etc. A complete identification of each character and a description of the phones they use is printed on the inside back cover of each directory with the bicentennial cover.

The white pages of the Norfolk Metro directory have grown 28 pages - from 560 to 588 - while the Yellow Pages decreased from 732 to 728.

The page for Personal Number List can be found in the front of the phone book at the beginning of the Call Guide pages. Emergency numbers can still be listed on the inside front cover for quick reference.

The manager also pointed out that there was a new consumer page at the beginning of the Yellow Pages.

"How to be a Better Buyer."

Those subscribers not receiving a new directory by May 21 should call the business office.

Answer necessary in radio hassle

To the Editor:
This comes in reply to R. Gordon Ursul's article on Hams vs. CBers.

I usually stay out of this sort of thing, but feel this time that I would have to answer.

I feel that some of us are owed an apology. We have been CBers for a great number of years and use our radios with the utmost of care.

We "oldtimers" also are disgusted with the new breed on the air, and think the FCC made a terrible mistake in opening up all channels to any and all comers.

Our only hope, I guess, is that the "fad" will die and only responsible CBers will remain. Also, during those years we've parted in all kinds of places and never worried about our radios until they opened up the air waves and let it be known that there was really no protection as such from federal law. We had a radio taken from one of our vehicles right in the driveway.

It's always the same: make something popular and the thieves take over.

E. B. Miller,
KKK2947.

Ham versus CB coverage 'fair'

To the Editor:
I have just read your article re amateur radio and believe it to be a fair coverage of a very complex service. However, there is one aspect which was distorted. I refer to the animosity between CBers and Hams.

Actually none of that exists primarily because we are constantly enlarging the amateur radio population from the CBers. Hence we do not aggravate them we woo them instead with free classes for them to learn the code and the technical requirements for a license.

The only peeve we have—that is has have—with CBers is not their fault but the fault of a non-discerning public. The public seems to conceive that they are both the same, when in fact their services are miles apart. Thus when interference is present from a CB transmitter the parties blame the ham.

In this respect it should be clearly confined to the channels assigned and no other. Hams can and many times must service their gear and they can move through bands of frequencies in accordance with the prescriptions in their type of license.

I trust that I have made my point clear.
Gay E. Millus Jr.,
American Radio Relay League, Virginia Beach

Contributor Lowe loved by parents

To the Editor:
We would like to commend THE SUN on its coverage of the local high school bands. By far, THE SUN shows the most interest and concern in the students who work so diligently to make their school and Virginia Beach known, not only in the state but throughout the East Coast.

We have had the pleasure of meeting your SUN contributor, Mr. Bud Lowe. The concern Mr. Lowe has for the students in this area is beyond comprehension. His articles are the first read, in our family, each week. He covers each student in detail, not just relying on a news release, he wants to know the person he is writing about and spends many hours with them and also their peers, getting a real insight of them.

His interest does not stop once the article is printed. He often helps them pursue their field of interest after the news is "old".

Mr. Lowe was most kind to our daughter, Lynn, when she was awarded Miss Virginia Drill Team. He delved into all her interests and her family, including our dog. Lynn feels that Mr. Lowe is truly a friend.

We know parents and students of each school band would like coverage in THE SUN, each week by Mr. Lowe, our family and school. Bayside not excluded, since we have three Marlinettes in our family. If the students and parents were aware of the time and work spent on each article they would understand why Mr. Lowe can cover only the highlights: an special interest stories.

Having seen Mr. Lowe work we have nothing but praise. We are very fortunate to have such a fine person working with and for our students. Every community should be so blessed.

Our vote for "Citizen of the Year" goes to Bud Lowe. Mr. and Mrs. L.E. Alderman, Virginia Beach.

What would you have..?

The late great overland...

By WILLIAM H. CANDLER
Sun Contributor

My wife is certainly no gossip, seldom says a discouraging word about a soul and has even been known to keep juicy secrets from her own husband.

However, as a slightly diversion, I enjoy the game of coxing from her the various stories making the rounds of the Beach which she picks up at the gym, bridge parties, or over coffee and doughs at Carol Lee's.

Now I'm more of the silent type and one of those individuals who does not particularly enjoy relaying the day's mundane goings-on at the office. Therefore, I am often accused of "never telling her anything," said accusation usually being made loudly in order to insure that it penetrates the newspaper obscuring her view of me.

My defense to remarks like this is to advise her how much I prefer to hear what she's been doing and that nothing worth telling happened on, about, or in the vicinity of the office today. In order to reassure her that I am listening should she choose to confide in me, I will often lower THE SUN and look across it at her with an expression of rap, sincere attention. Sometimes she buys this ploy, sometimes she doesn't.

If the latter, she will insist that I put the paper away altogether before she will continue the conversation, which has been one-sided all along anyway. If the former, she will commence conversation on my promise of undivided attention, which I will give her for a few moments—until she really gets full-swing into her story, at which time I gradually ease the paper back within scanning range, though never to the full-face-coverage level.

Sometimes she'll stop when she catches me scanning out of the corner of my eye, not believing for one moment (what wife does?) that a man can actually listen to his wife and skim-read the newspaper at the same time. Knowing what is coming in the face of her sudden silence, I will quickly assure her that I was listening to every word.

I always enjoy meeting the challenge which follows of "OK, then, what did I just say?" (which test I only rarely flunk), by repeating virtually word for word her last few remarks prior to the simultaneous cessation of speech on her part and the onset of hostilities.

An exception to the foregoing sequence occurred the other day while my wife rattled pleasantly but innocently on about some of the latest doings amongst our friends, acquaintances, and those who fall into the "none of the above" category.

Tone changes

I had had my eye cocked surreptitiously for some time in the direction of an interesting newspaper article and was about to go into the full-scan mode, a dangerous state of affairs in which I turn my full attention to the paper and, if challenged, will, to my detriment for the remainder of the evening, be unable to repeat a word of what she had been saying to me.

Suddenly, however, her tone of voice changed, regaining for a moment my undivided attention. Fearing that I had been challenged, I was relieved to find that she had launched animatedly into a story that she had heard that day on two separate occasions from independent reliable sources.

They all talked

Simply everyone was talking about it. The story she then told me not only held my captive attention but caused me to drop my paper altogether in disbelief, a state soon supplanted by a curious mixture of pity and unrestrained hilarity.

Meaning no embarrassment to the unknown victims and, since the story came to us as hearsay piled on top of uncounted layers of hearsay, with no names ever mentioned, I give you, the male reader, a rare opportunity to both share in a delightful (in retrospect only) tale told by a wife, while, at the same time being able to give the paper your undivided attention, unless, of course, your wife is trying to talk to you as you read this. Your wives have probably already heard it.

What else here?

By the time the story was told to me, some inaccuracies and untruths may have crept in, a condition to which folk tales are usually susceptible, but here you have it, briefly told, as I heard it. A good story, I think, in any event.

A Virginia Beach hostess plans a small dinner party, a tuna casserole to be served. During cocktail hour, she goes into the kitchen to check her casserole, now cooling on the stoveboard. To her dismay, she finds her cat partaking heartily of same. Monstrously indecisive and upset at the prospect of a ruined party, she finally decides that no harm will be done if no one knows that her cat shared in the evening meal, and she craftily, though with good intent, smooths over the damage and dinner is successfully served anon, no one the wiser.

While her guests relax after the meal, she tends to some post-meal kitchen activity which brings her out on to the back porch. To her horror, she finds lying there her cat, dead as a doornail, flimsy, undoubtedly, she cannot help but conclude, as a result of the source of its last meal.

A real dilemma

What to do?

Remain silent, praying that all will pass in time and that no guest—or herself—will suffer the same fate as the feline. Or, reveal her culinary deception with all the humiliation that would entail, but insure the personal well-being of her guests.

Rightly, nobly and bravely, ever the perfect hostess, she chooses the latter alternative, selflessly risking her very social standing for the primary benefit of her guests.

On the advice of an emergency room doctor, all truck down to the hospital, where each guest, host, and hostess alike ignominiously submit to a stomach pumping, no pleasant undertaking.

Thoroughly shaken by the unbelievable events of the evening, our hostess returns dejectedly to her home. Soon there is a knock on the door. What now, she must surely have thought. Standing at the door is a next door neighbor lady who has an apogee to make.

As for you . . .

Seems the neighbor did not want to disturb our hostess during her dinner party with the news that she had inadvertently killed the hostess' cat while backing out of the driveway and had therefore quietly placed the deceased feline on our hostess' back porch until she had the opportunity to pass on in person her apologies and regrets for the slaying....

Unbelievable set of circumstances, tragic at the time but certainly a delight to tell in retrospect by the local spinners of cat tales.

For those of you who laugh, what would you have done....?

Initiation into any favorite group is always fun to remember, especially for the young.

Well it was no different recently as the Pembroke Meadows Junior Garden Club staged its initiation. And to further sweeten the memory, the club commemorated Arbor Day.

Members planted three redwood trees around the area's recreation center. It was hard work but all enjoyed the labors and know that trees will greatly enhance future beauty at the Beach.

Those helping with planting included Scott Connell, Brian Connell, Caroline Patton, Tammy Galoway, Mrs. Jeannette Willenbrink, Ellen Pilkenton, Teresa Roberson, Patricia Roberson, Cindy Bennett, Mrs. Teri Mikulke.

Also, Jeanette Ward, Cindy Avoli, Barbara Nichols,

It was good fun, rewarding, and beneficial, and these youngsters can hold their heads high, and with pride.

Drifters judged winner

Barbara Ann Fahey of Virginia Beach has won two awards in the 13th Annual Submarine Officers Wives Art Show.

In addition to winning second place in watercolor her painting, "The Drifters," was chosen by popular vote as the public's favorite entry.

Each visitor viewing the three-day show was asked to cast a written ballot expressing his preference. As a result of the public vote Barbara was awarded a U.S. Savings Bond for exhibiting the Show's most popular painting.

Barbara began painting watercolor in 1970 and has won the following awards: Merit Award - Chesapeake Art Guild, 1972; Merit Award - Green Run Art Show, 1973; Two Merit Awards - Museum of the Albemarle Art Show (Juried), 1975; Merit Award - Chesapeake Bay Art Association Art Show, 1973; Second Place - Submarine Officers Wives Art Show, 1974; Watercolor Certificate of - Virginia Beach Art Center Members' Show

Beach man cops restaurant award

Michael C. Savvides has been awarded the Sidney J. Weisman Award as the Virginia Restaurant Association's Outstanding Restaurateur of the year for 1975.

The awards luncheon was held recently in Richmond and Savvides received his award from Atty. Gen. Andrew Miller. The Sidney J. Weisman citation for the outstanding individual food service operator was established in 1949 and the awarding committee consists of representatives from the Department of Health, State Department, Department of Labor, Department of Travel and Tourism and the Chairman of the Board of Virginia Restaurant Association.

This honor was bestowed on Savvides as the individual who has contributed time and effort in the advancement of the Food Service Industry as well as to community affairs.

Savvides, who has long been noted for his community activities in the Tidewater area, recently served as the President of the Greek Community of Tidewater.

He is on the Board of Directors of the Greek Orthodox Church, Past Supreme Vice President and Governor of State of Virginia Cyprus Federation of America; Past President Cyprus Benevolent Society of Tidewater; Past President and member of Board of Directors Virginia Beach Khedive Shrine Club, and member of Board of Directors Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce.

In 1965 Savvides received the Distinguished Service Award from the Virginia Jaycees, was selected in 1967 as a member of One Hundred Outstanding Young Men of America, and in 1969 as a member of a select group of Outstanding Personalities of the South.

He is owner operator of both the Black Angus Restaurant and the Shipmate's Restaurant, and president of Ramada Inn Ocean Front. He has served as past president of Virginia State Restaurant Association, and has the chairmanship of the Virginia State Mixed Beverage License Council at this time.

He is married to the former Gypsy Janet March and is the father of three children. The family resides in Virginia Beach.

White to lead florists group

Norman T. White has been elected president of the Allied Florists Association of Tidewater during the group's annual meeting at St. Gregory's Recreation Hall in Virginia Beach.

White, president of White's Nursery and Greenhouse, Inc., is a grower with greenhouse in Chesapeake supplying potted flowering and green plants and spring bedding plants to retailers and wholesalers throughout Tidewater and elsewhere in Virginia and North Carolina.

Also elected were James W. Batcheiler, S. S. Pennock Company, Norfolk, 1st vice president; Herbert W. Harrell, Herbert Harrell Florist, Virginia Beach, 2nd vice president; and past president Thelma Leigh Taylor, Southside Florist, Chesapeake, advisor.

They join directors having two years more to serve, J. B. Carr Gardens in A Flowerpot, Norfolk; Elisor F. Strickland, The Lantern Florist, Virginia Beach; and Bette Jane Schwartz, B. J.'s House of Flowers, Virginia Beach; and three having one year more to serve, Cassius M. King, Flowers by Kings, Virginia Beach; Charles Elberidge, Portsmouth Floral Company; and Jack Brothers, Virginia Beach Florist.

Disher gives up post

Guest speaker was Rear Admiral James H. Scott, Commander Tactical Wing Atlantic.

McHugh is a graduate of the Naval Academy, the Naval Post Graduate School and the Armed Forces Staff College. He was designated a Naval Aviator in 1958 and has previously served with Fighter Squadrons 14, 74, 101 and 102.

McHugh reports to VP-101 after completing a tour with Commander Naval Air Forces, U.S. Atlantic Fleet as the Atlantic Fleet Fighter Training Officer.

He is married to the former Jannellen Dana Kampa of Richmond, they are the parents of three children, John, Katherine and Mary Marcella, and currently reside in the Kings Forest section of Virginia Beach.

Disher will assume the duties of Commander Fighter Wing one after a temporary duty assignment on the Staff of Commander Naval Air Forces, U.S. Atlantic Fleet.

Beach club-owner to sail the seas

By BLAIR THURMAN
Sun Sports Editor

Ahoy there mates, and shiver me timbers. It's Mike Worrell planning a 1,000-mile race in a . . . Hobie Cat? That's right, Worrell, who with his brother Chris owns Worrell Bros., a restaurant-nightclub on the beach, is staging the Coastwise Race that brings to mind memories of Charles Lindbergh.

His 16-foot Hobie Cat, a catamaran with a sheet of canvas stretched between the two pontoons, looks more like something to sail in a swimming pool than to race along the Atlantic Coast, but that's exactly what Mike and his partner Guerry Beatson, a substitute teacher, intend to do. Mike and Guerry, and whoever else wants to compete, will take off from Fort Lauderdale, Florida, and sail north to Virginia Beach.

"It depends on how hard the wind is blowing," said Worrell, "but we expect the race to take 10 to 12 days." Last October Worrell made the trip heading south. "The prevailing winds at that time of the year are coming from the north," explained Worrell, "but in May, the winds should be blowing from the south."

That just took him 20 days but Worrell pointed out that only 14 of those were sailing days. This year, a couple days should be sliced off that time because the days will be longer, affording more sailing time. "We sailed from seven to seven last," said Worrell, "but I expect we will be able to sail from five in the morning to nine at night." There is no denying it is a dangerous undertaking. Kent Morgan, the race coordinator said, "This race is for people who know what they are doing. It's hazardous and it's definitely not for beginners."

Worrell said the most dangerous parts of the trip are when rounding the capes. "I like the capes, they're interesting. But you have to be careful. Cape Hatteras is the worst, but Cape Fear and Cape Lookout are bad also." In fact, it was off Cape Fear that Worrell encountered some of his roughest sailing. "We were only about 75 feet offshore rounding Cape Fear with a strong northeast wind," he recalled, "and the water was very rough. We were only 75 feet offshore, but we couldn't see it. Now I know why they call it Cape Fear."

Afterwards, he related the incident in great detail in his logbook. But while doing some nighttime sailing a couple days later, the Hobie Cat flipped over and the logbook, along with a 12 their gear, became the property of Mr. Dave Jones.

"All we could save was our sleeping bags," said Worrell, "but we learned our lesson not to sail at night." This year, Worrell plans on carrying a cassette tape recorder, and strapping it to his body. "This way I can give my impressions of a situation while it's actually happening," he said.

Worrell said that there really is no telling how the racers will do, since the weather is so unpredictable. "It can be very simple, but it can also be a sudden northeast or southwest, even the most benign coastline, takes on a different look. And if you're along a rough coast, it can get tough."

Some of the worst coastline, according to Worrell, is along Georgia and South Carolina. "There are sandbars and islands that make for difficult sailing."

"Ideally, I would like to have a taste of all kinds of weather," he said. "That way it would be a total test of the sailors' abilities."

One of the trickiest parts of the trip is the getting out in ocean. "Launching the boat through the surf can be dangerous," he said, "and you do it four or five times a day."

Despite the inconvenience of the launchings, Worrell doesn't mind heading in when he is overcome by a case of the munchies. "Once last year I was real hungry, but didn't know where to come ashore. Then I saw the McDonald golden arches and went on in."

One of the walls in Worrell Bros. has been consumed by maps of the Atlantic coastline, with the route marked carefully in red. In the room used for disco, there is a large blown-up photograph of Mike and a partner riding a wave in on his Hobie Cat, which is on the verge of tipping over. His sails are kept in the corner. Sailing is obviously a big part of his life. "I sail every day. I made the trip last year to test my skills and hope many more sailors will do the same and complete the race. There is no registration fee and only one member of the original crew has to finish."

The rules for the race are simple. The entire race must be in the ocean. There will be no required stops except that each crew must phone Worrell Bros. every day. The wall chart will plot the sailor's positions.

There is required safety gear and recommended gear. For example, Worrell advises that crews carry a transistor radio, because "it gets boring sometimes." For further information, call Mike Worrell at 425-9705.

Worrell is hoping that the finish will coincide with Memorial Day, although that would set a very fast pace. But whatever the pace, it should be quite an event, and anyone who finishes will have accomplished a feat worthy of Ulysses.

Title IX interpretation wipes out jayvees

dent Activities for the City of Virginia Beach.

The problem arose from the fact that there are jayvee teams available to the boys in four sports: basketball, basketball, wrestling and baseball. There are no jayvee sports for girls.

Besides that, there are 10 varsity level sports for boys, and only six for girls.

The recommendation stated, "There is clearly identified imbalance which is obvious violation of the law. Girls simply do not enjoy equal opportunity in our athletic programs."

One solution would have been to add jayvee sports to the girls' programs, and offer more varsity sports as well. But Devinney said, "That just would not work. We do not have the facilities to handle that many teams and that much transportation."

So the cut-back was made. However, the sports that lost their jayvee program will be permitted to expand their varsity teams and coaching staffs considerably.

Devinney said, "Actually, what we were doing was duplicating the programs. Why have jayvee sports when we have the same sports in junior high schools?"

"Sure, four programs were eliminated, but we prefer to look at it as adding seven programs."

Of the seven new programs, three are on the high school level: boys' soccer, girls' soccer, and girls' softball. The four new programs on the junior high level are boys' soccer, girls' soccer, girls' softball and girls' track.

The committee estimated that the overall increase in participation will be 1,183 students.

Three sports will be coed: golf, cross country, and winter track.

"The girls haven't showed that much interest in these areas," said Devinney. "I don't expect many girls to try out for cross country. However, if the interest picks up enough to warrant the formation of a girls' team, we will do so."

He added, "It's a great boon to girls' athletics. This will encourage greater participation, and now there is a greater variety of sports offered. And the absence of jayvee squads won't hurt the competition because they'll all play under the same rules."

The question arises if whether or not a boy's development might be impeded by the absence of the jayvee squads. Stuart Holland, athletic director at Cox High School, and a committee member, thinks that won't be the case. "With the junior high schools expanding their programs and with the community leagues, there are a lot of opportunities to get pre- varsity experience in most sports. Besides that, I think that practicing with the older boys will help them a great deal."

According to Holland, one of the best features of the new system is the addition of boys' and girls' soccer. "They play it in elementary school, and you just wouldn't believe the demand for it," he explained. Holland admitted there will be kids to iron out, but said, "It's a good program. We will adapt ourselves to it and make it work."

Don Van Benschoten, Princess Anne High's A.D., had some reservations about it, but changed his mind. "My first reaction was negative, because I was used to the old system. But I think it will be OK. With the addition of new sports we won't lose any participation."

"We'll get more and more girls coming out for sports now that they have a chance," he continued. "They haven't had the opportunity but they have the desire. It might take a while to really get rolling, but in time I think it will work out fine."

Coach Len Greenwood, whose Bayside track team is the powerhouse of the Eastern District, said, "It raises some interesting questions. It may hurt cross country since that isn't being offered in junior high."

The compliance with Title IX will start with the fall sports in 1976. The only additional equipment needed will be soccer nets and maybe some backstops for the new softball teams.

As a radical change in structure, and there are bound to be problems during the adjustment period. But like Jerry Devinney said, "Let's look at it positively."

Is this the Frisbee of the future?

It's called Kadima, and according to Lawrence Land, is Europe's answer to the Frisbee.

Land, who is importing Kadima from the Mediterranean area, said that on every beach in Europe, are hundreds of people playing the popular new game.

Kadima is played with each person holding a lightweight paddle, and hitting a small resilient ball a distance of five to ten yards. It is usually played with two people, but the number of people that can play is limitless.

"Its appeal lies in the fact that it can be played anywhere," said Land. "Boys and girls, young or old, every has fun with Kadima."

Land said he first got turned onto the game when a friend brought him back a set from Europe. "I would play it at Virginia Beach, and loads of people came up and asked where they could get it. I had to tell them to go to Europe. That's when I got the idea to import them. "It attracts tennis and other racket game enthusiasts because the equipment, strokes and techniques are similar to those found in tennis, paddle ball, badminton and table tennis."

Beach fitness meet slated

More than 1750 Virginia Beach fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh grade students will have an opportunity to demonstrate their physical dexterity in track and field events Thursday, May 20, when the 18th annual City-Wide Physical Fitness Meet is held at Cox High School beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Contestants for the event were determined through elimination meets held at 41 city schools and each participant will compete in one event. Over 100 elementary school teachers will act as judges for the day's competition.

Lots of events

The field day will include both boys' and girls' competition within each grade level in such events as the 50-yard dash, shuttle run, 600-yard run-walk, standing broad jump, jump-and-reach, and the rope skip. Boys will also compete in a pull-up event.

Ribbons will be awarded to winners of the first five places in each event and grade level plaques will be given to the schools having the greatest number of points in each grade. A special plaque will also be presented to the school having the highest overall total.

Beach vaulter excels

Perry, who holds the Madison record in the event at 14'6", won the competition with a vault of 14' feet.

Perry placed first in the pole vault in four of Madison six dual and triangular meets this spring and also placed fourth in the Virginia State Inter-collegiate Track and Field Championships.

A communication arts major, Perry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Aydletter. Perry of 3440 Newcastle Road, Virginia Beach. He is a graduate of First Colonial High School.

Kellam to hold track meet

Eighth, ninth, and tenth grade girls and boys from all Virginia Beach secondary schools will compete in the 12th annual Virginia Beach City Physical Education Track Meet May 21, at Kellam High School.

The scheduled events for the meet, which will begin at 5:30 p.m., include the long jump, high jump, shot put, low hurdles, 100-yard dash, girls' 50-yard dash, mile run, 440-yard dash, 880-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 880-yard relay, and 440-yard relay.

Participants will compete at the physical education grade level to which they are currently assigned and ribbons will be awarded for the first four places in each of the events. Students participating in the events may not be members of school track and field teams which compete interscholastically or in regular intra-school meets.

In case of inclement weather, the meet will be held May 28.

Land said that there are several games that can be played with Kadima. "Usually you just try to keep the ball in play," he said, "but you can play competitively too. Most people have fun making up games of their own."

Kadima is being sold for about ten $10 a set (two paddles and ball) in pro shops, surf shops, tennis shops and sporting goods stores.

According to Land, the feature that seems to fascinate spectators the most is the unique popping sound the ball makes when hitting the hollow paddle.

There is another interesting approach to the game. If a guy goes up to a pretty girl on the beach and says, "Want to play Kadima?" what can she do?

Sleuth star takes breather

Little, theatre offers 'Sleuth'

"SLEUTH," a mystery drama by Anthony Shaffer, will open at the Little Theatre of Virginia Beach Friday.

It will continue its run Saturday and on the following weekends through May 29. There will be two Sunday Matinees at 3 both May 16 and May 23. Curtain time for the Friday and Saturday performances, 8:30 p.m.

Tickets will be available at the door, or reservations may be made by calling 428-9523. Tickets are priced at $3.25 for adults, and $1.75 for students. Special group rates are available.

"SLEUTH" will be directed by Liza Silla, one of the founders of the LTVB, and active in it since its first production 28 years ago. Her most recent productions at the Theatre have been Flower Drum Song and A Streetcar Named Desire.

A super - thriller, "SLEUTH" stars R. C. Frederick in the role of Andrew Wyke and Foy Shaw as Milo Tindle. Frederick has been seen locally in dinner theatre productions. Shaw, a well known character actor has appeared in Yankee, Ben Hop, Damn Yankee, and I Never Sang For My Father.

HELP

"Help" is the silent plea of the problem drinker. But help is also an answer. At the Alcoholism Rehabilitation Center of Tidewater, help is offered through treatment in a total therapeutic environment. Medical and psychological specialists work together to conduct comprehensive individualized programs. After detoxification, 56 days are devoted to helping individuals reshape habits and regain lost self-confidence.

For your own help, or help for someone you know, call the 24-hour Alcoholism Hotline: 481-HELP. It's the first way to reach help. Operated as a public service by ARCT.

PA band tops Winchester

Cox squadron close behind

By BUD LOWE
Sun Contributor

The battle of battles between high schools bands is held at Winchester in the spring during the Apple Blossom Festival, and this year was no exception.

Bands from all over the eastern part of the U.S. were there. There was competition in concert music, parades, and field show competition. Three Beach high school bands were on hand to bring home a trophy: Princess Anne, Cox, and Kellam High Schools.

The first event between concert bands. There were 39 bands from 14 different states represented. The judges were: Kenneth Bloomquist, Mich. State University; James Herbert, Temple University; John Savage, Va. Commonwealth University; Joseph Smith Middle Tenn. State University; and John Wakefield, University of Maryland.

Kellam does well

Kellam received a grade of two and a rating of excellent for its performance in concert.

Princess Anne High scored a grade of one and a rating of superior for their performance in concert. There were only four superior ratings awarded in this event. The Fabulous Marching Cavaliers from P.A. won second place in class A and second place in the overall concert competition.

The next contest was for parade bands and there were 22 entered in the Plemans Parade, and again the Beach was to show all. Cox was the big winner from here at home, coming second over all parade units. Princess Anne came in sixth.

Field show tough

The next category was the big one, the field show competition -- there were 31 bands from 11 different states. The judges were Bloomquist, Joe Copenhagen, Florida State University; and Joseph Smith, Middle Tenn. State University. Cox High had a splendid performance and received a rating of superior. Their Drum Major, Rob James, received the first place overall trophy for drum majors. Well done, Rob.

Princess Anne had a fabulous performance, as usual, by far the best that I have seen this year, and they received a rating of superior. PA won first place for Class A units, and the Queens Cup for the most outstanding Marching Band in the field show competition.

This is the second consecutive year that the "Red Machine" from Princess Anne has won this award. With one more win in the 1977 competition the trophy will become the permanent possession of Princess Anne High School. This trophy is passed on to the winning school each year and any school that wins for three consecutive years keeps it. Well, so far Princess Anne High School's Fabulous Marching Cavaliers are the only unit to have won it two years in a row, thus making them eligible with a win next year to become permanent owners.

The Sun would like to offer congratulations to the members of the Fabulous Marching Cavaliers and to take this opportunity to recognize each member of the winning unit:

And to the principal of Princess Anne High School, Letcher Hill, who is present at every competitive meet his Cavaliers perform in, I wish him and his Cavs all the luck in the world next year.

There is one young man that is never seen or heard from, that has a very important role in the success of Princess Anne's Band. He is always present taking video tape of their performance so they can be seen at a later date and reviewed, he is Gene Woodward.

Gene is no only known to P.A. for his outstanding work, but also he has performed this function for some of the other high school bands. Gene is a senior and we are all going to miss him next year.

So again, high school bands from the Beach have shown the rest they have what it takes to be champions.

We will all be watching to see what happens next to these two outstanding bands, Cox and Princess Anne. A well done to both for your outstanding performance at Winchester in the year of our Bicentennial.

GOD is working

"And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are called according to his purpose." (Romans 8:28)

There are many times when we do not believe that God is working. We all pass through periods when we doubt that there is any purpose to our life. Even committed Christians are not always sunny optimists. Despair is part of the human condition.

Only by looking backward can we begin to see that "all things work together."

This is the key to understanding God's purpose. If we see life as a series of separate events we cannot see God working, but if we survey our life we see that everything works together.

If your life is in a period of doubt and despair, read this passage again and believe that God is working.

Gateway new Beach school

Fairmount Park Free Will Baptist Church is the proud new owner of Tidewater Christian Schools, Inc.

The organization will be renamed Gateway Christian School, and according to the pastor, Rev. Dale Burden, is aiming at providing kindergarten through a two-year Bible college. The Beach's Free Will Baptist unit is the largest of its kind. Its purchase price is $400,000.

Burden said the 1,400 member fundamentalist congregation will embark on a three-year building program, which calls for a new church, a 2,000-seat auditorium, dormitories, a book store and an amphitheater.

"We hope that in four or five years from now we will have an enrollment of from 500 to 600 in our day school and another 300 in our Bible college," Burden said.

Burden said the church is planning to acquire an additional 14 acres adjoining the property, which is located on Virginia Beach Boulevard just past the Newtown Road intersection.

Tidewater Christian Schools, Inc., Burden said will be allowed to complete the current school year, which ends in June.

In its initial year, Gateway Christian school will open in the fall with a kindergarten through the 10th grade and an enrollment of approximately 850 students. The Rev. A. B. Brown will be the school's director.

Surfers cheered honored

Surfers who saved three fishermen from drowning in the cold waters of the Atlantic Ocean last month have received lifesaver certificates amid a standing ovation and applause in the City Council chambers.

Of the 10 surfers honored with certificates by the Virginia Beach City Council, four were present to accept honors by Mayor J. Curtis Payne. They were Mike Burgett, Pete Lively and Jan Pierce, all 18 of Virginia Beach, and Marc Bischof, 21 of Norfolk.

The others are James C. Pearce III, Gerald Hayden Earl Carter, Craig Cox, Bill Wolf, Jim Close and Mike Cheney.

The fishermen, Robert D. Smith, 78, Robert Brooks Jr., 61 and James R. Garlick, 44, all of Colonial Heights, were returning from a fishing trip when their small boat was struck by a wave at the entrance to Rudee Inlet. The surfers got the men out of the 47-degree water as paddled them to shore on their surfboards.

Great pros coming here

Beach to host tennis event

By LEE CARILL
Sun Political Writer

Virginia Beach next April will host the CBS Slam, a new major tennis tournament with a $500,000 purse.

City Council has authorized the city manager to appropriate $50,000 in the form of a letter of credit as its share in the purse.

This money, however, is not expected to be spent. The city will be the first participant in the event to be relieved of the financial obligation with proceeds from ticket sales. The tournament will take place at the Virginia Beach Racquet Club, a private club at 1950 Thomas Best Lane selected by the sponsors, April 18-24 of next year. The Beach event will be the final round of a three-part tournament which will begin in Palm Beach in February, and continue in La Costa, Southern California in March.

Frederick Napolitano, president of the Chamber of Commerce who briefed Council at an informal meeting Monday, said that the match is being brought to the Beach chiefly through the efforts of Joe Tiriac, the Racquet Club's traveling pro, and W.L. Dennis, tournament promoter, from Salisbury, Md.

Napolitano said the Racquet Club was the only site acceptable to CBS whose sports department initially was not enthusiastic about the Beach. Virginia Beach was granted the right of first refusal with Washington, D.C. the second choice.

CBS has guaranteed 16 international players at least four of which will be World Champions, Napolitano said, and all prizes will be awarded at the Virginia Beach event.

The Beach tournament will be nationally televised at least one day and possibly two in addition to pre-game announcements of the event. Virginia Beach will be listed on the scoreboard. Napolitano said the City will receive at least one and a half million dollars worth of publicity in television time.

Dennis, who promoted the Hampton tournament, said the Hampton event will not be held anymore, according to Napolitano. The event, which has been held there for several years attracted from 4,000 to 5,000 persons each day of the tournament.

The Virginia Beach tournament is expected to draw at least 7,000 spectators for each of the five days. Napolitano said that sponsors expect receipts of approximately $30,000 from box seats and $175,000 from general ticket sales. The Beach will be relieved of its letter of credit, that is, the money set aside for the purse, from the first $50,000 in receipts.

In addition to the letter of credit, Council agreed to furnish bleachers and to arrange parking for overflow crowds at the neighborhood schools -- Cox High School and John B. Day Elementary School -- subject to arrangements City Manager George L. Hanbury can make with the school administration.

Under terms of the agreement with CBS, the three localities selected for the tournament will each guarantee $100,000 of the purse with the remaining $200,000 guaranteed by the sponsor.

The Racquet Club has agreed to provide $50,000 as well as a promotion director, advertising and busing, if needed. Mayor J. Curtis Payne said it was a "fantastic offer."

especially when the City virtually is assured that $50,000 is coming back and will benefit from income from rooms and meals.

Napolitano remarked that he didn't "know how we got considered" in the first place.

Payne and other members of Council previously met with Napolitano to discuss the offer. Immediate action of Council was needed because of a May 15 deadline which had been extended from May 1. Napolitano said the subject was first introduced to the Chamber of Commerce on April 17.

Among the list of players from which 16 will be selected for the tournament are Jimmy Connors, USA; Guillermo Vilas, Argentina; Bjorn Borg, Sweden; John Newcombe, Austria; Adriano Panatta, Italy; Jan Kodas, Czechoslovakia; Bill Scanlon, USA; Peter Fleming, USA; Butch Waltz, USA; Chris Lewis, New Zealand; Patrick D'Emonge, France; Juan Gisbert, Spain; Roger Taylor, England; Karl Mallier, West Germany; Hans Kay, Austria; Vilas Gerulaitis, USA; John Alexander, Australia; Haroon Rahib, Pakistan; Alex Metrovell, USSR; Ion Tiriac, Romania; Peter Pecci, Paraguay; Ray Moore, South Africa and Onny Parun, New Zealand.

The Racquet Club has 12 courts of which 10 are clay and two hard-surfaced. Bobby Brien, resident pro, said the Club plans to construct three additional hard-surfaced courts which will be used for the tournament. They will be arranged so that the center court can be used for play and the court on eight either for bleachers.

During the tournament the 16 players will also hold clinics at the various courts throughout the city.

Council seeks study of road

A road closure request has led City Council to call for a study of the traffic situation at the intersection of First Colonial Road and Old Mill Road (off First Colonial Road).

Council has deferred for two weeks the application of Starr W. Cromwell for the closure of a portion of Old First Colonial Road, Lynhaven. Council also instructed the City Manager to study the intersection and try to come up with a recommendation which would be acceptable to the City.

The closure is opposed by residents of Atlantic Civic League, North Atlantic Boulevard and Woodcrest. A spokesman said the closing would benefit nobody but Cromwell and inconveniences everybody else.

Thomas Kyrus who lives in the area, said that action on the petition will not solve the problems and that a more thorough study is needed.

A motion to defer the petition was passed following a defeat of a substitute motion to deny the petition by a vote of 6-4 with Councilmen Robert H. Callis, John R. Griffin, J. Henry McCoy, and Floyd E. Waterfield voting to deny the petition. Councilman Robert B. Cromwell Jr., abstained because of his relationship with the petitioner. Council also granted a conditional use permit for an adult care center on 2.30 acres located at the northeast corner of South Lynhaven Road and Pritchard Road, Washington Park.

Council also:

Approved an ordinance authorizing the number of auxiliary police to be appointed in the City not to exceed 90 to conform with the State Code. There are presently 76 auxiliary police.

Approved a standard sewer agreement for the Woods Corner Subdivision, Kempville.

Approved applications for certificates of public convenience for Don's Taxi Company, 10 taxicabs; Bayside Taxi, Inc., 17; Beach Taxi Corp., 20; Coastal Cab Company, 12; and Diamond Cab Company, 1 and one for hire.

Approved bingo/raffle permits for Children's Hospital of the King's Daughters; Redwing Golf Association; Virginia Beach Tennis Patrons Association and the Sandbridge Firebride.

Reg. $3795Now
$3995
Reg. $4695Nuclear Energy:
your powerful servant.

Nuclear energy is one of the most abundant — and economical — sources of power available. Together with coal, it offers the best hope to meet America's growing need for electricity.

Consider the energy from one thimbleful of uranium. It would take 1,100 gallons of fuel oil to generate an equal amount of electricity. When you think about the way the cost of imported oil has risen, you can see the tremendous promise nuclear power holds.

How nuclear energy makes electricity.

What does fuel have to do with electricity? Vepco uses large quantities of fuel, such as coal or oil, to make the steam that turns the generators that make electricity.

With nuclear power, however, small amounts of relatively inexpensive uranium can be used to generate electricity, saving a tremendous amount of fossil fuels for other uses.

How nuclear energy saves.

In 1975, Vepco's Surry Nuclear Power Station saved the nation at least 588 million gallons of oil. A comparable amount of electricity generated from oil would have cost Vepco's customers $125 million more. Even though nuclear power stations cost more to build today than fossil fuel plants, they produce electricity at less cost. Vepco's two nuclear generators at North Anna will mean additional fuel savings over coal or oil when they go into operation in 1977.

Nuclear power: a giant step for energy independence.

Foreign suppliers control the price of the residual oil used to generate your electricity. By developing our own energy sources at home, we can lessen our dependence on this costly foreign oil. And we can help assure America dependable, affordable electricity.

Nuclear power is a giant step toward this independence. But it's not the only way. Vepco also has converted its plants from oil to cheaper domestic coal wherever it will save our customers money. Plans for generating electricity from pumped storage hydroelectric power are being developed. And Vepco is encouraging conservation of electricity in every way possible.

Economic energy is a necessity.

America depends on an adequate supply of electric energy. This energy provides jobs, food, conveniences — a standard of living that is the envy of hundreds of millions throughout the world.

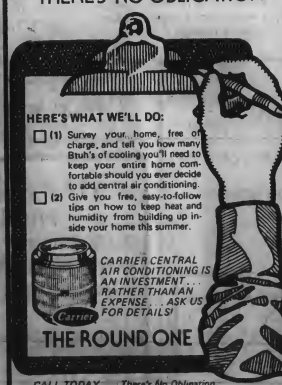

By taking steps today to bring about energy independence, America can extend that standard of living to those of our fellow countrymen and women who do not share it today, and help all of us toward a more self-sufficient tomorrow.

Council rips solons

Virginia Beach councilmen objected this week to interference by State legislators in what they consider a local matter.

Four Virginia Beach and Norfolk legislators have written a letter to the State Department of Highways agreeing with citizens objecting to the widening of Princess Anne Road. Sen. Stanley C. Walker wrote the letter which was endorsed by Sen. Peter K. Babelas, Joseph T. Fitzpatrick and A. Joseph Canada, Jr. The first three represent an small area of Virginia Beach along with Norfolk and Canada represents Virginia Beach.

Councilman John A. Baum who introduced the letter, said that it was "improper for the legislators to consider the matter."

J. Henry McCoy Jr., who represents the Kempville Borough where the project is located, said the legislators should have discussed their actions with the councilmen first.

Baum remarked that "I don't know that anyone's all that satisfied with what the General Assembly did," and referred to the legislators' action as "meddling."

City Manager George L. Hanbury said the City was not notified by the legislators.

The widening from two to four lanes proposed by the Highway Department includes a 1.7 mile strip. All but three-tenths of a mile would be in Virginia Beach.

The widening from South Parliament Drive to Newtown Road has "rattled the objections of citizens who claim traffic will be increased in a predominantly residential district and that there are other solutions to the traffic problem."

Traffic signs or lights at the intersection of Witchduck Road and Independence Boulevard might encourage motorists to avoid Princess Anne Road. Also much of the Princess Anne Road traffic residents claim, is generated by motorists who use the Newtown exit of the Virginia Beach-Norfolk Expressway because of the absence of tolls.

Witchduck Road, the next stop, does have a toll.

Ft. Story open house Saturday

Ft. Story, Virginia Beach home of the Army's amphibians, will host an Open House Saturday as part of the post's Armed Forces Days celebration.

The day will be celebrated across the nation as Honor America Day, highlighting Honor America Week, through May 15.

Included in the Ft. Story celebration will be rides on the lighter amphibious-resupply-cargo vessels (LARC), jeep rides through the training areas, rock concert band from the Little Creek School of Music, and a sky-diving and underwater diving demonstration by the Explosive Ordnance Disposal Group, Atlantic Fleet.

Other activities at Ft. Story will be a display from the Navy's Navigational Aids support Unit, representing the unit's world wide mission. Gaskins' Battalion a special unit from the Army Transportation Center and Ft. Eustis dressed in Revolutionary War uniforms, will perform drill and firing routines.

You can use thumb --in some instances

Hitchhiking during the daylight hours will be lawful in Virginia Beach, but by dark all the cars on the road might just as well be so many pumpkins.

City Council, after months of worrying over the hitchhiking situation, has approved an ordinance allowing hitchhiking except between the hours of 7 p.m. and 6 a.m. When Daylight Saving Time is removed, the ordinance will be adjusted to eliminate hitchhiking during the evening hours.

Considered a compromise, the full ban passed earlier by Council was reduced to the partial ban to avoid creating hardships for students who depend on hitchhiking to get to and from their jobs. An investigation by the Police Department reveals most hitchhiking-related crimes are expected during the night.

Apology by Meredith

W. B. Meredith has apologized to City Council for the action taken by his partner (Robert Miller) at a recent Council meeting. Miller had charged the city and City Manager George L. Hanbury with unethical practices regarding the acquisition of the site for the new Arts and Conference Center.

Meredith said that "Never did Mr. Hanbury misrepresent to our group in any way, shape or form anything that would be illegal. We can't always be on the winning side."

Meredith and Millers were stockholders in Festival, Ltd., the corporation which owned the old Atlantis amusement park property. The new owners, Jack Gibson and his two brothers who bought the property at auction, offered part of the land to the city for a civic center.

Meredith said that directors of Festival, Ltd., were instructed to negotiate with Hanbury or anybody else who would be interested in the purchase of the property. When the land was put up for auction, Meredith said that he tried to bid on it himself but could not find among Festival's stockholders another person interested in bidding. He submitted that Festival, Ltd., had been in financial difficulties.

The two cable TV firms which have bid for the franchise in Virginia Beach may get together to offer a joint proposal to City Council.

City Council, at the suggestion of J. Curtis Payne, decided to put off its decision to put off its Cable TV decision to May 17 to give the two companies—Virginia Beach TV and Cox TV—a chance to work out some type of merger.

In any event the Council is expected to vote then on one or the other of the firms, or a combination of the two or no cable TV at all.

Decision making has been confused because of the absence of any specific recommendation of a firm from a special committee appointed to study.

Beach club hears indoor plant tips

The Riverton Garden Club recently learned about caring for houseplants from guest speaker Bill Fisher.

Proper light, soil, and moisture were emphasized.

Soil mix must be proper and be able to drain well. Regular packaged potting soil stays wet too long, Fisher indicated. Soil should be kept loose and airy. "Organic" potting soil needs charcoal bits added to absorb impurities and sweeten the soil.

Since most moss, vermiculture, and perlite retain moisture, all are good for starting seeds and rooting cuttings. Vermiculite (brown) and perlite (white) are effective under lights and on a temporary basis. Here is Mr. Fisher's recipe for potting soil: 3 parts potting soil (dirt), 1 part peat moss, 1 part coarse white sand, 1/2 part charcoal bits, 1/2 part decomposed cow manure, 1 heaping tablespoon bone meal (if container is plastic). For ferns add 3/4 part perlite. For cacti and other succulents, add 1/2 part more sand and 1/2 part perlite.

For moistness, think in degrees of dryness. All plants do better if allowed to dry to a degree. A plant getting a large amount of light needs more water than one getting little light.

In a low-light area Mr. Fisher advocates watering less often.

In repotting, a small plant should be put into a small pot. If pot is too large, water stays in too long because it can't be used by the plant. If a larger pot is needed, use only one size larger. A flowering plant in a small pot will remain small-but will bloom, whereas in a larger pot the plant may have immense foliage but not bloom.

If a plant is rootbound, a knife can be used to cut off part of the roots. Some plants can be divided. Pinching back gives a plant body and stimulates pinching at the roots. It was recommended, for example, that petunias be pinched back three times before they bloom.

Plants must have drainage. At the bottom of a clay pot, put broken bits of clay.

Beach studies water sources

Studies of the Blackwater River as a possible water source for Virginia Beach have been requested by Robert F. Fuller, executive director of the Southeastern Virginia Planning District Commission.

City Manager George Hanbury told Council at an information meeting that the studies were being requested of area Congressmen not only as an economic measure but as a convenience to the city. Lake Gaston near South Hill, which has been considered as a possible water supply, source, may present problems because it is in an outside political subdivision and may also be more expensive because of the distance, Hanbury said.

Pendergrass chats with students on campus

At Virginia Wesleyan

Beach educator named to post

W. Thomas Pendergrass, Jr., a 34-year old educator from Virginia Beach, has been named Dean of Students at Virginia Wesleyan College, according to president Lambeth M. Clarke.

Pendergrass will assume his new duties at the private liberal arts college in July.

A native of Washington, D. C., THE NEW DEAN holds a B.A. degree from Carson-Newman College, Jefferson City, Tenn., and an M.S. degree in education, guidance and counseling from Old Dominion University. He has done additional graduate study at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville.

"We are very pleased to have Pendergrass joining us," said Clarke. "He brings with him to this important position a strong counseling background and a love of working with young people. Through his teaching and counseling activities, he is already known and respected on our campus. We are looking forward to his added influence through his new responsibilities."

Since 1965, Pendergrass has served as minister of education and music at Bayside Baptist Church in Virginia Beach where he directed a youth and adult education program enrolling 750 people, in addition to his counseling duties. From 1960 to 1965, he served in a similar position with the First Baptist Church of Donelson, Tenn.

He also served as an instructor for the University of Richmond Extension Department, Norfolk Center, and has been involved this year in the counseling and psychology programs at Virginia Wesleyan. Prior to 1960, he served as minister of music and education at the First Baptist Church in Greenville.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Pendergrass of Windsor, Ga., the new Dean is married to the former Julie E. Kiser of Greenville, Tenn. He and his wife are the parents of three children.

Annual plant sale planned Saturday

Prominently displayed were the silver bowl and a pink ribbon saying "Special Award-Council of Garden Clubs, Virginia Beach".

They were won for the best table setting at the Council of Garden Clubs Flower and Fashion Show. "We are proud of Fran Smith, Janet Wernick, and Caroline Simpson," a spokesman said.

Rush Smith of the Virginia Beach Board of Realtors showed a film Uncle Sam, The Man and the Legend, which was about Samuel Wilson of Troy, N.Y. The legend of Uncle Sam was derived from the living Uncle Sam Wilson, Garden Clubber Del Heath showed a film on Breast Examination. Del is the Virginia Beach Unit Coordinator for Reach to Recovery of the American Cancer Society. Del said, "Even if this is not directly associated with Garden Clubs, if you faithfully do what the film says, you'll be healthy to take care of you flowers".

The officers for next year were elected. They are: Mrs. Carl Herrick, president; Mrs. Rush Smith, first vice president; Mrs. Paul Matthews, second vice president; Mrs. Richard Cuppett, secretary; Mrs. Charles Kinman, treasurer.

The Annual Plant Sale will be at Witt Park Saturday.

Dam Neck rezoning requested

Sun Political Writer

Crowded schools and highways in the Oceana area determined Council's denial of a rezoning request which would allow 682 duplex units to be constructed on a 112.53 acre site north of Dam Neck Road on the west side of Oceana Boulevard.

The partnership of Nottingham & Burns petitioned for the rezoning from Agricultural District Ag-1 to Residential District R-8 on the basis that it was the most "realistic" use of the property.

Attorney Grover C. Wright Jr., said the builders were willing to contribute $100,000 to the schools to ease any impact the development would have on the schools, he added, however, that the project would take four to five years to complete and that the impact would therefore be gradual.

The Planning Commission recommended denial, pointing out that the traffic analysis indicates the majority of the 4800 trips a day which would be generated by the project would utilize Oceana Boulevard. Traffic counts there indicated Oceana Boulevard is now operating at twice the volume it was designed to handle.

The main entrance to the project would be at the intersections of General Booth Boulevard, Oceana Boulevard and Prosperity Road. The four schools serving the area are all operating above their capacity and would not support the additional 335 students which would be generated by the project.

The City's Capital Improvements Plan provides for some relief at the high school level but none for the junior high and elementary school level.

Under the present zoning 112 single family units are allowed. Eighty acres of the property, Wright pointed out, has a use permit for 581 recreational type vehicles, which would create more traffic.

Objections to the petition came from the Virginia Beach SPCA. Attorney William R. Wabbe said the SPCA relocated to its present site to get away from more populated areas where the noise of the kennels would not disturb residents. He also cited the traffic congestion.

Council denied the petition unanimously in casting his vote Councilman John A. Baum said that such a large parcel of land should have more access. The narrow frontage and the narrow highway, he said, making rezoning premature.

In another zoning matter Council referred back to the Planning Commission a petition of the Bredens Company to change the zoning from Residential District to Community Business District a six acre parcel located at the northwest intersection of Trevor Road and Old Great Neck Road, Deerwood Trace.

Donald Rhodes, attorney for Bredens, said that the property for which a change is being sought is actually under three acres and that an O-1 (office) zoning would be acceptable to the petitioners.

Bredens plans to build an office building on the site similar to Bredens's Yorktown Commerce Center on South Lynnhaven Road.

Opposition came from residents in Point of Woods, Deerwood Trace and Kemstock. John Seredyanski, of the Point of Woods Civic League, said the area already is saturated with offices sozed commercial and that "rapid growth should not be construed as progress."

The petition was referred back to the planning commission by a vote of 9-5 with Councilmen John A. Baum and Robert H. Callis dissenting.

In other zoning matters, Council:

Deferred for one week a petition by Vanguard, Inc. for a change in zoning from Residential District to Office District on 2.8 acres located at the northeast intersection of Laskin Road and Cardinal Road, Birdneck area.

Deferred for 60 days a request by Roy L. Deltart for a change of zoning from Agricultural District to Community Business District on 9.2 acres located at the northeast corner of Salem Road and Landstown Road, Green Run Farm area.

Beach restrooms hit another snag

A Virginia Beach motel owner has threatened the City with a law suit if it continues with the construction of the 17th Street restrooms.

R. Wilson Chaplain, owner of the Kona Kai Motel at 16th Street and the Ocean Front, told City Council it should have the right to build on a public street. He said it blocked off the view of the ocean looking from 17th.

Last week Council approved on first reading the award of a contract to Ingham and Associates to construct the public restrooms and mall at 17th Street and Atlantic Avenue. The price is expected to be reduced in line with the engineer's estimate of $132,500 with changes in the plans.

Monday, Council authorized the vacation of a portion of 17th Street to make it possible to get on with the project which has been difficult to execute because of the objections of the innkeepers along the beachfront. John Maddox, owner of the Sea Escape on 17th Street and owner of the property on both sides of the street, agreed to "leave the restrooms at the end of the block, and to deed over the property after becoming owner of the site with the vacation of the street.

Chaplain and his son Russell W. Chaplain, Jr. both appeared before Council Monday. Referring to the restrooms and mall as an "outhouse," he said they should be built on land paid for by the City and not on a public street.

He claimed "innkeepers" were paying $100 apiece to retain a lawyer. Chaplain, Jr. said the family owned property within 100 feet of 17th Street and "at least we should have been shown the courtesy of being notified."

In a personal reference to Councilman Charles W. Gardner, who is also an innkeeper, Chaplain said that he would not say another word if (Gardner) agreed to put a restroom outside his motel.

Asking if the procedure were correct, Chaplain was told by City Attorney Dale Blinson that 30 days were allowed after a vacation of the plat for any property owner to go to court if they expect to suffer damages.

With the threat of a law suit and the presence of this stipulation, the City will be forced to delay construction for another 30 days, and perhaps longer if the litigation is undertaken.

Airman Mary Alice Shaw

Airman Shaw named to Oceana honor

The title of Naval Air Station Oceana Sailor of the Month for April is held by Airman Mary Alice Shaw of Aircraft Intermediate Maintenance Department Avionics Branch.

Mary entered the Navy after a short-lived career as a factory worker sewing sportswear. She could not envision a lifetime career of sewing sleeves on garments. Mary's sister-in-law, an ex-Navy woman, suggested a "hitch" in the Navy.

In March, 1974 Mary left South Carolina for the beginning of a probable career in the Navy. Initially, there were uncertainties about the career she would pursue. The only certainty was that she did not want a desk job.

Then openings for women as microminiature component repair technicians prompted AN Shaw to pursue Aviation Electronics's Mate(AE) studies. She has taken the examination for third class petty officer in the AE RATING and IS AWAITING THE RESULTS.

"I can make E-4 before my enlistment expires, then I will most likely re-enlist," she said.

Basic factors taken into consideration for the April Sailor of the Month's selection were military and professional knowledge, performance evaluations, training and advancement accomplishments, ability of self-expression and off duty activities.

Mary spends much time reading. An ambitious person, Mary found the time to make a hooked rug. But all important to her in her off-duty time is the color TV set she is putting together. She is completing a Bell and Howell correspondence course to provide an electronics background, and she is thoroughly enjoying making her own TV set.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Virginia Beach Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a Public Hearing on Wednesday, June 2, 1976, at 7:30 P.M. in the Circuit Court Room 86, City Hall, Virginia Beach, Virginia. The following applications will appear on the agenda.

PLEASE MAKE NOTE OF THE CHANGE OF LOCATION

Last year we brought you $839,200,000 worth of furniture.
You've got a lot riding on us.

A lot of furniture rode our rails in 1975. We estimate that the manufacturers' value of furniture we shipped amounted to $839,200,000.

And when you put Southern's shipments together with all other railroads, you've got almost half of all the furniture Americans buy.

Why do the furniture industry and so many other industries ship by rail? They know it's usually the most economical way to go.

Consider these figures for the thousands of things shipped by rail. The average cost per-ton-mile by truck is three times as much as rail. Air shipping is almost forty times more expensive. And the fuel crunch has made railroad efficiency more than just a matter of dollars and cents. It's a matter of delivering the goods with the smallest possible use of fuel.

Then there's the reliability of rail shipping. Add this on to everything else and you have a good idea why there's so much riding on us. And why you need Southern.

So next time you sit back in your easy chair remember, it probably rode the rails to your living room.

'Health' worries officials

Feeling rotten lately?
Any physical problems of any kind?
Any adverse symptoms you don't understand?
If not--you could have high blood pressure. Scores in Virginia Beach do. And if you do, you could be a candidate for a stroke or heart attack. And you'd never know it. May is High Blood Pressure Month. And the American Heart Association, local affiliate, is urging everyone to have his or her blood pressure checked. Beach officials are concerned about the emergence of related diseases here.

Virginia Beach hospitals report much preoccupation with heart attacks and strokes. "It's always on the upswing," said one official. Fortunately, between Bayside, General and other Beach centers, the matter is easily treated here.

Beach is warned

"Hypertension is sneaky," says Dr. Robert M. Carey, chairman of the Heart Association's High Blood Pressure Committee. "There are usually no symptoms so you'd never know you have it."

Yet, hypertension is easily found. And a simple preventive program can usually control it.

That is why the Heart Association is making an extra effort during May to find those people who have high blood pressure. A series of screenings is planned in shopping centers and in industries throughout the state during May. The screenings are designed to find the 30 percent of hypertensives who do not know they have the condition, and to refer them to physicians for treatment.

Have your blood pressure checked by your doctor, or go to your clinic. The examination is quick and inexpensive. Don't wait until you feel badly before you go, because you might not have any symptoms before it's too late.

If you are found to have high blood pressure, your doctor will probably prescribe a sensible diet that's low in salt, saturated fats and cholesterol. He may advise you to lose weight and get more exercise. Do it. And take whatever medication he may prescribe.

A grim picture

If you need any encouragement to take medication when you feel well, consider these statistics:

There are nearly 900,000 deaths in America every year from heart attack and stroke. And high blood pressure is a major factor in 500,000 of them. More than a half of all the deaths in the U. S. this year will be related to cardiovascular disease.

"The picture doesn't have to be so grim," Dr. Carey points out. "Identifying high blood pressure makes the rest easy. With proper medicines, diet and preventive programs there is no reason not to lead normal, healthy lives."

So have your blood pressure checked; it could be the first step to a longer, healthier life.

Beach scoops travel award

The City of Virginia Beach has received a first place award from Discover America Travel Organizations (DATO) for an advertising campaign to extend its tourist season into the late spring and early fall.

Virginia Beach won the top award in the category for regional, metropolitan and local travel organizations with advertising budgets greater than $150,000. The winning campaign, created by The Martin Agency of Richmond, featured the slogan "Suns and Lovers."

Included in the campaign were four-color and black and white magazines and newspaper advertisements, bumper stickers, decals, lapel buttons and brochures.

The campaign was designed to extend the tourist season to the late spring and early fall, traditionally off-seasons for Virginia Beach. Research has shown that sales tax receipts were up 30 per cent in the fall following the campaign, and advance registrations for the spring of this year are at record levels.

DATO awards are considered the travel industry's highest awards. The award was accepted on behalf of Virginia Beach by James A. DeBellis, director of economic development.

Pups locate a new home

Pat Smith knows she can count on the VIRGINIA BEACH SUN.

She used the paper just last week to advertise for free in our widely-read "Free Bee" column. Pat had some puppies to give away.

Using us it didn't take her long. "Your paper came out on the Wednesday and I gave four of the five pups away that day," she said happily. "The results were great."

Pat lives at 308 Randy Court in Chesapeake and said that she likes advertising right here because this paper and its partners throw a big blanket over the communities of Churchland, Chesapeake and Virginia Beach.

"I like the paper because so many people read the classified section," she added.

You too can get on the fun and action. Free Bees for those things you wish to give away. And then there are paid classified want ads, when you pay a little to reach thousands here.

Get on the bandwagon, phone 547-4571.

Sickle-cell anemia

Disease hits Beach blacks

Ask the average man on the street what physical ailment afflicts blacks and you'll probably hear sickle-cell anemia. That's understandable because it has received considerable publicity.

There are several thousand blacks at the Beach, many in Seaside, many in the suburban sprawls. All face the problem, and it is one that won't simply go away. It requires care and work.

But there is another condition that singles out blacks -- high blood pressure. And while all Americans are susceptible to high blood pressure (hypertension), black Americans are twice as likely to have it -- nearly 1 in 4.

"And when they do have it," says Dr. Robert M. Carey, "it's more severe."

Undetected and untreated, high blood pressure can lead to heart attack or stroke. But a simple blood pressure check can detect high blood pressure, and it can usually be controlled with treatment.

A proper diet is important. Salt has been identified as a contributor to high blood pressure, so a reduction in salt intake can be beneficial.

Cancer, too, is a big part of the Beach medical picture.

The nearly 50,000 educational programs on uterine cancer and the Pap test being completed this year puts the American Cancer Society within reach of its five year goal of a Pap test for every American woman 20 years or older by the end of 1976.

"Although considerable progress has been made in Virginia Beach, we need an added push to put this life-saving program over the top," declared Mrs. Meral Howard, Resident Chairman of the Virginia Beach Unit of the American Cancer Society, now in the midst of its educational and fund raising Crusade.

Women are target

"The women we have not effectively reached include those over fifty, low income groups, and working women," Mrs. Howard said. "These groups will continue to be our targets."

Five years ago the Society launched a campaign, "Let No Woman be Overlooked" and at the end of 1974 a Gallup poll showed that almost nine in 10 women were aware of the Pap test and that 78 per cent of the nation's women had had one. This was a dramatic advance from the 52% noted in a 1970 poll.

Mrs. Howard said however that cancer of the endometrium (body of the womb) has been rising among middle aged women. "For this reason the Society recommends that every woman at menopause have a pelvic examination and Pap test, and those at high risk have an endometrial sample examined."

"Although the uterine cancer death rate has declined by two thirds in the last 35 years, about 11,000 women will needlessly die of uterine cancer this year, she said.

Call Beach number

"There is no need for young or older women to brood about cancer. They should be aware however that with cancer it's what you don't know that may hurt. A regular health examination including a Pap test, or in the case of abnormal bleeding, a medical examination, can help prevent uterine cancer death," Mrs. Howard said.

"Remember, we want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime. More information and a free booklet on uterine cancer and the Pap test may be obtained at the ACS unit at 958-B Laskin Road, Virginia Beach, Virginia 23451.

Beach officer is honored

Lt. Cmdr. John Scott Redd of Virginia Beach, Executive Officer of the Navy Frigate Thomas C. Hart, has been named a regional semi-finalist in the nationwide competition for the 1976-77 White House Fellowships.

Chosen from among 2864 applicants, he is one of eight military officers in the 99 member group which includes lawyers, bankers, university professors, corporate officials, students, two mayors and a symphony conductor. The top 30-35 of these candidates will be selected as National Finalists from among whom the Presidential Commission will nominate 14-19 White House Fellows to the President May 24. Those selected will receive one year educational assignment with the vice president and members of the Cabinet and the President's principal White House staff.

Redd won a congressional appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, and graduated second in the 870 man class of 1966. Selected as a Fulbright Scholar he continued his education through 1967 at the University of the Republic, Montevideo, Uruguay.

He then served aboard the destroyers Walker and Edward McDonnell before becoming exchange officer at the Mexican Naval Academy 1971-73, where, at 27, he was selected for his present rank three years ahead of his contemporaries. Redd attended the Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk, before reporting to USS Thomas C. Hart in January of 1975.

A native of Sidney, Iowa, Redd resides with his wife, the former Donna Ford, and family at 6056 Clear Springs Road, Virginia Beach. Mrs. Redd's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Ford, reside at 640 King's Grant Road, Virginia Beach.

The groundbreaking ceremony for the 1976 Virginia Beach Scholarship House, sponsored yearly by the Tidewater Builders Association, (TBA) was conducted recently at 2821 Cherie Drive in Lamp-light Manor.

J. Curtis Payne, Mayor of Virginia Beach, officiated and turned the first spade of earth to begin construction of this community project.

The 1976 Scholarship House will be constructed by The Aspen Building Corporation whose principals are Roger Nomi, Myron Cohen, Sonny Fiore and Jerry Fiore. Proceeds from the sale of the house will be placed in the Scholarship Foundation of the TBA.

The Foundation makes scholarship grants available to students from Tidewater who are in need of financial assistance and have demonstrated academic achievement and potential. Graduating high school seniors and undergraduate students are eligible.

Among those present were Herbert L. Kramer, TBA president, K. Frank Smith, TBA executive director, the Rev. Clayton E. Crigger, and Roger Nomi of the Aspen Building Corporation.

The 1976 Scholarship House is a 4-bedroom, 2-bath brick of Colonial Ranch design, featuring a country size kitchen, a large paneled family room, wall to wall carpet, no wax vinyl and will be situated on a spacious, heavily wooded corner lot.

This featured model, the Baton Rouge, which sells for $43,450 includes the areas first six inch sidewalk insulation as part of its Energy Saving Package. The ESP also features a heat pump, twelve inches of ceiling insulation, insulated glass windows, storm doors, two stage thermostat and thermostatically controlled attic fans.

VEPCO has estimated a monthly savings of approximately $35 from energy conservation as a result of this energy package.

The Aspen Building Corp., together with the Sir Galahad Company, is one of the largest volume builders in Virginia. Under current development are the Aspen Townhouses at Timberlake, Washington Square at Hilltop, Kings Point at Princess Anne Plaza, First Settlers at Indian Lakes and Stone Henge at Camelot.

The Scholarship House represents the combined efforts and contributions in labor, design, services, materials and land from TBA members and other participants. Since much of the materials are contributed the net proceeds, the amount which will go to the fund, are greater than may generally be expected from a similar sale.

The Scholarship Foundation, chartered in 1965, had originally relied upon individual contributions for awarding scholarships. Upon the inception of "Scholarship House" in 1966, the proceeds from each sale have been placed in the Scholarship Foundation.

Since 1966, over 60 scholarship grants have been provided to deserving students and the Scholarship Foundation has grown to more than $25,000.

Beach woman enjoys best of Tidewater

She lives in Virginia Beach, has a ton of friends in Churchland, and works in Portsmouth.

You could say that she enjoys the best Tidewater has to offer.

And if this widespread career isn't already enough, she resides in all of places—the famed Chesapeake House—located on Shore Drive at the Beach.

So Churchland, Chesapeake and Virginia Beach are all part and parcel to this story—along with about half of the rest of the world.

"I love my work and find it very rewarding, because it gives me an opportunity to help people." These are the words of Miss Dorothy P. "Dottie" Gathright, the Norfolk Naval Shipyard's newly assigned American Red Cross Field Director.

She is one of the few women who have served here since the inception of the blood program in 1949. The first was Miss Sadie R. Craig, who is now retired and living in Portsmouth.

She said "It is indeed a privilege and a pleasure to be stationed here in the nation's oldest shipyard, as well as being associated with the blood program." Lending the work force for its participation in the March Blood Call, she said "I can't claim credit for that, but it certainly makes me feel good to know that blood will be available when needed."

20 years experience

Dottie comes to the shipyard with 20 years of experience in Red Cross work. 11 of them in foreign countries throughout the world. Yet, she has also emphasized the importance of and rewards received from tours in this country, at Virginia Beach and Churchland too.

Her desire to help people makes her welcome wherever she goes, and her mild but firm manner says "I'm here to help assist in any way that I can."

For her, travel has not been a problem but a blessing. During her tours overseas, she found time to trample all over Europe, visiting such places as the Holy Land, Germany, Norway, Denmark, Switzerland, Austria and many other areas. Then there was a lot of travel in the various work assignments and positions she has held, but it's not all fun. At home and abroad, Dottie, like other Red Cross workers, is on call 24 hours a day for emergencies. Night and weekend duty is shared with other workers at the Naval Station. Red Cross she said "is there to give assistance and counsel to service personnel and their families in cases of emergency."

She expressed her desire to become a nurse at one time in her life, but she said "I'm happy and delighted with this field of work during these challenging times."

Joining Red Cross in 1956, her first assignment was a four-year tour in Japan, Korea, and Tokyo. Returning to the states in 1960, she assumed duties at the Naval Air Station Patuxent River, Md. After a year there, she was off again to Guam for two years, and then to the Naval Air Station at Oceana in Virginia.

May 29 proclaimed

May 29 has been declared Freedom Day in Virginia by resolution of City Council.

Capt. Walter Stone of the Virginia Beach Chapter of the Order of World Wars, said the day was selected because it is the birthday of Patrick Henry, the author of the phrase, "Give me liberty or give me death" in St. John's Church in Richmond.

The slogan for the commemorative day is "Virginia is for lovers of freedom."

Beach for a year. Her next post took her to Wheeling Air Force Base in Africa.

In 1966, she came to the Tidewater Chapter in Norfolk, and Churchland was like home for three years. Following that tour, she was back on the trail again in 1969 for two years in the Philippines. Subsequently, she had four one-year tours at Langley Air Force Base, Rickenbacker Air Force Base in Ohio, the Marine Corps Development and Education Command in Quantico, and Koral Royal Thai Air Force Base in Thailand, prior to being assigned to the shipyard.

Dottie said "I have had a good life, and if I were to choose any one phase of the work that is inspirational and rewarding to me it would be to provide assistance during disasters. I feel so strongly interested in this type of work because one gets a deep sense of satisfaction from knowing that the effort has touched and helped so many people."

Retire to Beach?

Certainly, 39 years in two areas of work is an excellent record, but Dottie looks forward to a few more. Even her family record is characterized by long life and hard work. Her mother, Mrs. Hesh Gathright, 82, who retired in January of this year, and still lives in Richmond, had been a weather forecaster for 67 years. In that unusual occupation, she gathered and compiled weather information for sale to almanac and calendar publishing companies. So, who would dare to predict what direction or future efforts are ahead for Dottie, her daughter?

Dottie has fallen in love with Tidewater area, and plans to remain here when she decides to retire. But which: Churchland or the Beach?

Leif becomes lucky, can keep those dogs

For six years John B. Leif Jr., had dutifully purchased city licenses for his six chihuahuas and one fox terrier which he kept at his home on Mesde Lane north of Sead Lane in the Aragona Village area. But after the last time someone noticed that he had two more dogs than were permitted in a residential area.

He sought a Conditional Use Permit for a residential kennel which would allow him to keep the dogs. Two were ill and were not expected to live much longer, he told Council Monday afternoon.

Councilman Clarence A. Holland questioned the wisdom of making an exception. Maybe someone else would come along asking to keep six great dunes in a residential district, he said.

Councilman John A. Baum said that he saw "a lot of difference say, between a dalmatian outside and three chihuahuas in a house."

Leif was granted a use permit for one year.

This summer

Surfers win own bus aid

Virginia Beach has "come a long way," remarked Councilman John A. Baum, "to provide bus service for surfers."

Baum was referring to a new service to be inaugurated by the City this summer to provide public transit to the beachfront. The service is an outcome of a request some months ago by Councilman J. Henry McCoy.

Jim Echols, executive director of the Tidewater Regional Transit, has indicated the new Mercedes Benz smaller buses will be used. As a boon to surfers, buses will be equipped with some type of racks on the outside for carrying surfboards. The unique arrangement was suggested by Councilman John R. Griffin.

Council Monday afternoon authorized the initiation of the service at the close of the school year by a vote of 10 to 1 with Councilman Floyd E. Waterfield, Jr. dissenting because he doesn't think the service will pay for itself. In his letter to Council City Manager George L. Hanbury said that the service is new and it is difficult to estimate revenues. He anticipates, however, that sufficient revenues will be derived to justify the service which will cost approximately $7,000 during the summer season.

The City will have a month's trial to determine the feasibility of continuing the service during the summer. About eight round trips are scheduled during the day at the regular intra-city bus fare of 35 cents.

Robert B. Cromwell Jr. said that "the day has passed when we're going to have to worry about whether it pays for itself." The Council needs to be concerned, he said.

The bus as scheduled will leave from the Kempsville Plaza Shopping Center and proceed to Pembroke Mall, top, and the Pacific Avenue Trailways Bus Station with interim stops on the way.

Remember the boy who had to walk three miles - barefoot -- to go to school? Baum said, Now we'll have the surfer who has to walk three blocks carrying a surfboard to a bus!

Bayside host for GOP meet

The Second Congressional District Republican Convention will be held at Bayside Junior High School, 965 Newtown Road, in Virginia Beach, starting at 10, Saturday.

The Second District includes all of Norfolk and the majority of Virginia Beach. The Beach will be allowed a total of 70 Delegates. These Delegates were elected.

The purpose of the Convention is to nominate a candidate for Congress, elect a District Chairman, elect three Delegates and three Alternate Delegates to the Republican National Convention to be held in Kansas City, Missouri, Aug. 16, nominate an Elector, and elect three members of the State Central Committee of the Republican Party.

Congressman G. William Whitehurst is opposed for the Republican nomination for Congress.

The current Second District Chairman, Knox Burchett of Virginia Beach is opposed for re-election as Second District Chairman.

The major contest is expected to be the election of the three Delegates and the three Alternate Delegates to the Republican National Convention.

The public is invited to attend the Convention to observe this part of the political process in action.

10 Beach students win school honors

Ten Virginia Beach, Vocational-Technical Educational Center students won first and second place awards in the recent Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, Skills Contest held in Roanoke.

Each year, State VICA contests are held to determine those students who will represent Virginia in the VICA, National Leadership Conference and U. S. Skill Olympics. This year four Ve-Teo students, as first place winners, will demonstrate their skills in Miami Beach in June. These students are Shelly Creecy, Commercial Art-Post Graduate; Alice Miranda, Commercial Art; Phillip Graubner, Machine Drafting; and James Jarrett, Printing.

Second place winners in Roanoke were Kirby Bowling Cabnetmaking; Lorraine Baker, Cosmetology; Fred Crawford, Heavy Equipment Mechanics; Lynne Hilton, Practical Nursing; David Thjemes, Small Engine Mechanics; and Charles Reich, Printing.

Beach Council notes

Zoning arguments heard

2,363 calls reported

Alcohol hotline Beach success

The Alcohol Hotline has received a total of 2,363 calls from people with alcohol-related problems, during the first year of operation, ended April 15, it was reported by Bill Boone, community relations coordinator for the Tidewater Psychiatric Institute.

The Hotline telephone number is 481-HELP.

The Alcohol Hotline is a result of a 1975 survey of area physicians which revealed an overwhelming concern for the severity of the problem of alcoholism in the Virginia Beach area. At the urging of several Beach physicians, TPI initiated a 24-hour community hotline service especially for alcohol related problems.

Though there were several hotlines in operation concerned with crisis intervention, none specialized in alcohol problems.

"We were convinced that the establishment of such a service would respond to a critical need of the community and the volume of calls has confirmed this community need," Boone said.

Tidewater Psychiatric Institute's 18 bed alcoholism unit, the Alcoholism Rehabilitation Center of Tidewater, already had the facilities and was staffed 24-hours a day by alcoholism counselors. The counselors committed themselves to the success of the Hotline service.

Of the 2,363 calls received in the first year, the counselors services, 69 to private physicians, 32 to the Navy Alcoholism Program, 102 to the Virginia Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence, 266 to local divisions of alcoholism services, 78 to the courts and 519 to various other available services and programs in the community.

Council listens, turns him down

The Planning Commission turned him down without allowing him to say a word, complained Stanley Howard before City Council.

Council, on the other hand, offered Howard the customary 15 minutes, listened--and then turned him down. Howard had sought a change of zoning from Apartment District to Resort Commercial District on Lots 12, 13, 14 and 15, Block 31, Shadowlawn Heights on Terrace Avenue west of Mediterranean Avenue. He had intended to build a marina on the property which fronts Lake Rudee for approximately 400 feet.

At the Planning Commission hearing, Howard said, he had not been "permitted to say a single word. Apparently they confided me with someone else."

Mayor J. Curtis Payne remarked that whatever body is involved, "I think they ought to let a person speak up to a point." He added the Council has a 10 minute allowance per person.

Monday Howard asked Council to withdraw the petition which meant he could repeat his request within a year.

Alton L. Butt, a member of the Shadowlawn Civic League objected to the withdrawal and to the petition, saying the residential neighborhood needed no more business intrusion.

Council followed the recommendation of the Planning Commission and denied the petition because the only access to the site, on Terrace Avenue, was not acceptable for marina traffic.

Lynnhaven pollution study to be continued by Beach

Virginia Beach will continue the Lynnhaven Pollution Study with its own funds although one Council member remarked that he thought it was the state's responsibility.

Council has appropriated $10,000 to continue the program until June 30, the end of the Fiscal Year, after which the item will be budgeted under a separate fund. City Manager-George L. Hanbury reported that $15,000 will be for work done by laboratories including a water bath incubator, autoclave, chemicals and media, and $1,000 for a small boat for taking water samples.

Although the appropriation was made unanimously, Councilman Patrick L. Swending said the study, which involves a navigable waterway should be the State's responsibility.

Hanbury said that the State is not performing its duties in this respect and "if we are to continue to keep the information up to date," the city will have to do the work.

Luncheon staged

The Suburban Junior Woman's Club held its annual installation luncheon recently at noon at the Pine Tree Inn on Virginia Beach Boulevard. The new officers are Mrs. Walter Collins, president; Mrs. Jane Anne Snyder, 1st vice president; Mrs. David Hume, 2nd vice president; Mrs. William Litton, recording secretary; and Mrs. Harry Solomon, treasurer. Five new members were installed. They are: Mrs. Dana Dickens, Mrs. Steve Fox, Ms. Diane Carr, Mrs. Glenn Graham, Mrs. John Meeks, and Mrs. William M. Pope Jr.

By LEE CAHILL
Sun Political Writer

Should a developer be given permission to increase the density on his property to make development more economical?

Or, should the area be retained for lower density use in the interested of adjoining property owners who want to keep the neighborhood the way it is -- one of fewer homes on larger lots?

R. Patrick Kavanaugh wants to change the zoning from R-1 Residential to R-3 residential District on approximately 27.8 acres located on the east side of Great Neck Road, north of River Road, present zoning allows the construction of 22 single family residences on 40,000 square foot lots, while the requested zoning allows 44 homes on 20,000 square foot lots.

City Council has deferred for one week action on the zoning request to allow parties on both sides to try to reach a compromise.

Attorney Thomas E. Broyles representing Kavanaugh said that a compromise reached with the residents of Chelsea, south of the site, led to the reduction of the petitioner's original request from R-4 to R-3, Chelsea, although it is noted R-4 is developed according to Zone 3 requirements.

Planning consultant T. E. Barrow said that R-1 zoning is not feasible for the property now. The cost of the lot also would come to $15,000 to 18,000 and that city council members adopted since the property was originally subdivided mainly for the property expensive to develop.

Opposing the petition were C.G. Harris and Lee LeCompte Greenhill Farms residents, and Grover Wright representing the Great Neck Association of Civic Leagues representing a dozen leagues.

LeCompte said that he would represent a "drastic change" and that a two mile stretch along Great Neck Road is unspoiled with only one commercial building, a C&P Building.

Denial recommended

Harris pointed out that the Planning Commission recommended denial; the residents of Greenhill Farms who will be not directly affected have offered a compromise to permit the construction 30-35 homes but the suggestion was rejected by the developer.

The most overriding reason to keep zoning as it is, he said, is that Greenhill Farms property owners were led to believe when they purchased their lots from Kavanaugh that the neighborhood would be rural and tree lined and now that the investment has been made the developer feels that he is not going to make a big enough profit.

Wright likened the case to that of a request for rezoning in Broad Bay from developers Rosen and Raskind. The request was denied.

He said there was no need or demand for smaller lots with the large inventory of smaller lots in the City. If you rezone this property," he said, "you can expect Broad Bay Manor to come back with their request."

Addressing Barrow, Harris said, "You're saying it's not economical to develop one acre lots."

Councilman Robert B. Cromwell, Jr., said, "We're not talking about 44 lots but 3000 acres" indicating that other developers will follow precedent and seek rezoning.

In other actions, Council approved the Sandier Foods petition for a change of zoning from Community Business to Light Industrial District approximately 4.7 acres located near the intersection of Diamond Springs Road and Northampton Boulevard, Bayside. The building on the site is non-conforming in a B-2 District. Sandier Foods needed the rezoning to construct an addition for warehouse use.

Defers decision

Deferred for one week disposition of a petition of Vanguard, Inc., for a change of zoning from Residential District to Office District on 2.8 acres located at the northwest intersection of Laskin Road and Cardinal Road, Lynnhaven.

Granted a conditional Use Permit for a bulk storage and building contractor's yard and a construction shop on approximately 2.5 acres, located on the north side of South Lynnhaven Road east of Pritchard Road, Lynnhaven subject to conditions which include one that the yard to be completely enclosed except for necessary openings for ingress and egress, by a fence or wall at least six feet in height.

Granted a conditional Use Permit to James Proffers to operate a parking lot on a 15,500 square foot parcel located on the east side of Atlantic Avenue, North of 11th Street.

Approved an amendment to the CZO recommended by the Planning Commission which would re-define "dwelling," attached as a building attached at the sides in a series of two or more dwelling units, allowing greater flexibility in the design of townhouse projects. The current definition requires this type of structure be grouped in a series of three or more units on a separate lot.

OKs ordinance

Approved an ordinance to authorize the city attorney to settle and adjust any claims the city may have from time to time for property damage or loss covered by fire or casualty insurance.

Approved an ordinance to appoint viewers to investigate a petition of John X. and Marguerite O. Aragona for the closure of a portion of South Lynnhaven Road for Princess Anne Properties.

Granted tax refunds amounting to $549.97.

Granted V.A. Eberidge, treasurer, permission to charge off the following checks: Ambassador Restaurant (Chelsea) which filed bankruptcy, $2000 cash; tax; Lois J. Evans, moved to Tennessee, $15; Gerald T. Edwards, $3 parking ticket; left area; and Robert D. Wiker, $5.50 tax permit, cannot locate.

Appointed Robert J. Scott, director of planning to represent the City in the Division of Legislative Services in working on the 1980 census because the Planning Department has close contact with the Bureau of the Census.

Appointed Joshua Dardas, of Southern Boulevard, as the second "consumer" to represent Virginia Beach on the Health Services Agency Board of Directors.

Honeymoon happiness...

"Honeymoon, Keep a Shinin'" in June... are the familiar strains of an old song and are reminiscent of an old custom of bridal pairs.

The custom of taking a honeymoon is a modern variation on an old custom of the bridal couple drinking of a special beverage called mead, a wine made from honey, for a period of one month after their marriage.

Hence the term "honey-moon," that is drinking the honey derivative wine for one moon's cycle. In French the words for this so-called "sweet" adjustment period are "Lune de miel."

A honeymoon can be as long or short as the couple decides it should be, according to their personal finances and time. Often to help out with the finances, one of the other, or both sets of parents may contribute financially to the wedding trip to make it the pleasantest possible beginning for a hopefully long and happy relationship.

Honeymoons should be whatever a couple wants them to be. Often city dwellers find that a weekend in the country, with none of the hustle and bustle of the life they usually lead, makes a relaxing honeymoon setting for them.

Conversely, a stay in a large, booming city may provide the stimuli for an exciting honeymoon for persons who live in a rural area most of the time.

Most local travel agents agree that because of the great age of mobility in which we are now living, places that were once considered far away have become the most popular honeymoon locations.

Bridal showers are meant to be practical

While fun and fanciful, the bridal shower also stands as a practical and most appreciated custom. Especially because we live in an age when we read about dowries in 18th century novels. Showers have become a replacement for that earlier custom.

Showers come in many packages and nearly all the wrappings have some practical beginnings. For instance, a kitchen shower may yield the bride-to-be a complete dowry of utensils, small appliances and other sundries like spice racks, etc.

These items all add up to a well-stocked kitchen on that first day she tries to cook a meal for her new husband.

Likewise, a linen shower may provide a bride with the loveliest of linens which she might not buy herself. Even though most shower gifts are supposed to be fairly practical and inexpensive, it is nice to buy something extra special that a new bride might not buy herself for her first household.

Showers are usually given for the bride by her close friends or her mother's whom she has known as close friends also. If the bridegroom's mother lives nearby it is nice to include her on at least one shower invitation list, however an invitation is only considered a courtesy unless she is what the bride considers a "close" acquaintance.

At any rate the bridegroom's mother should not feel obligated to attend.

When a bride-to-be has numerous friends who all wish to have a shower for her, she may ask her mother or other emissary to suggest a group shower. The reason for this is that each bridesmaids should be invited to each shower and she generally wishes to bring a gift to each shower, too.

Consequently it is considerate to think of the attendants' pocketbooks when planning showers.

There are many themes for showers. Some of them are: linen; kitchen; bathroom; lingerie; dining room and miscellaneous.

Another interesting theme for a wedding shower is the recipe shower. To this shower each guest must bring a favorite recipe. An appreciated way to present a recipe might be to include a cookie recipe in a large cookie jar.

Another fun shower for a limited number of participants is the "first dinner" theme shower. Each of the guests is instructed to bring one item necessary to prepare and serve a complete meal for two.

now you are a bride

your "famous" gown is perfection

You look exactly like you've always dreamed you would...your bridesmaids and your mother bask in the glow.

We believe that every girl should enjoy the ultimate in beauty on the most important day of her life...therefore we offer a selection of designs and price ranges that make a memorable wedding available to everyone.

Initial Cox work 6 months away?

By LEE CAHILL
Sun Political Writer

Construction on Virginia Beach cable television facilities may get under way in less than six months, according to J. Frank Malbon, president of Cox Cable of Virginia Beach.

Cox, whose parent firm is Cox Cable Communications, Inc., of Atlanta, was awarded the CATV franchise Monday afternoon by City Council ending six years of speculation and study.

The only other bidder for the franchise was Virginia Beach Telecommunications, Inc., a chiefly locally-owned company.

Cox also has franchises in Norfolk and Portsmouth and indications are that the company will develop all three systems together although the Norfolk and Portsmouth franchises have been held since 1974.

Final clearance of the station must come from the FCC which in the past, Malbon said, has taken from six months to a year. He believes, however, that Cox TV will receive clearance on the Virginia Beach franchise in less than six months.

Beach as base

Studios and other facilities required by the FCC will be located in each of the cities, but the company will probably have a single headquarters as a base of operations for all three cities.

Councilman John R. Griffin remarked that he hoped "to get the headquarters in Virginia Beach."

Mayor J. Curtis Payne seemed reluctant to introduce the question to a vote, saying that he had "vacillated" back and forth.

A special commission appointed by Council made no clear-cut recommendation—only that either company was qualified to do the job. City Manager George L. Hanbury made no specific recommendation. Proponents of the VBTU generally favored local ownership while Cox backers seemed to weigh the firm's experience in the field more heavily.

On the first motion made by Councilman Patrick L. Standing to grant the franchise to Virginia Beach TV, the vote was four in favor and seven against. Voting for the VBTU were Standing who said he was influenced by the fact that Cox had not progressed with other franchises it now has; Mayor Payne, Floyd E. Waterfield, Jr. and J. Henry McCoy.

Callis succeeds

The second motion made by Councilman Robert H. Callis to accept the Cox bid succeeded by a vote of 4-3. Casting negative votes were McCoy who said he was "strongly in favor of local ownership anytime we can," Payne and Waterfield. Standing reversed his stand and voted for Cox to let the firm know "I'm behind them" and to be on the prevailing side so that I can make motions later if the company fails to live up to its commitments.

Vice Mayor George R. Ferrell said that Cox can "best serve because it has more experience, and is better financed."

Griffin said he thought that VBTU placed too much hopes on paid TV and reserved five times as much time on paid TV, and indicated it would have four times as much programming for films than for news.

Councilman Robert B. Cromwell, Jr. said he firmly believed that the initial lower cost which will be charged consumers by VBTU is unimportant because "I firmly believe the marketplace will determine how they operate."

'Slam' put off

Final Council action on a reported CBS Slam tennis tournament has been postponed indefinitely. The third and final round of the tournament was to have been held at the Virginia Beach Racquet Club next April. Last week Council approved on first reading an appropriation of $50,000 as its share of a $500,000 purse for prizes subject to an investigation of the proposition by City Manager George L. Hanbury.

It was later learned that CBS had not yet made any definite commitment.

Regionals' go to sudden-death

Beach golfers head for States'

By BLAIR THURMAN
Sun Sports Editor

The New York Yankees in their heyday were an awesome dynasty. The Green Bay Packers in the sixties were synonymous with consistent greatness. And now we have the Kempville High golf squad, who under the tutelage of coach Bob Braun, qualified to enter the state championships for the fourth straight year, the seventh time in the 10 years Braun has coached at Kempville.

The Chiefs have won four regional championships, two district championships, and in 1970, won the state championship.

In professional dynasties, the same players stay on the team for years, making it easy to maintain in a high degree of excellence. But in high school, the turnover rate is very high. Therefore, the common denominator must be Braun.

Relates to players

Though proud of his successes, Braun is quick to point out that it is his boys who do all the work. That may be true, but a coach who can relate to his players, and enjoys working with them as much as he obviously does, deserves a good deal of the credit.

In last week's regional meet, it took some extraordinary play by Tabb High to prevent Kempville from winning its fifth regional championship. In fact, it wasn't decided until the last putt on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff that Kempville's chances for the regional championships were ruined.

However, since the top two schools from each region qualify for the state's, the Chiefs will be there, trying to uphold their tradition, and bring home the trophy.

Nevertheless, winning the regional championship would have been nice, and they came, oh so close. But luck wasn't with them. Tabb's number two player, who hadn't shot below a 70 all season, pulled a little magic out of his golf bag along with his clubs, and shot a 69.

Eddie Diggs

Kevin Sweeney on practice green

That helped throw the regional competition into a three-way tie, with Tabb, Kempville and First Colonial all dead-locked. First Colonial was eliminated after the first playoff hole, assuring Kempville of a state berth, but then they missed the regional championship trophy by a single stroke.

Coach Braun thinks they have a good shot at the state title. "Tabb will be tough, but I don't know if their number two man can shoot like that again," he said. "As for the rest of the field, I really don't know who even qualified."

Advantage

Kempville has a bit of an advantage over the rest of the field in that the states will be held at Red Wing, which is home turf to the Chiefs. "Red Wing is one of our home-courses," said Braun, "and that should help us a bit. Our number one player, Eddie Diggs, has shot a 69 at Red Wing, and that's three under par. That should be good enough to win medalist honors."

Diggs has played consistently all year, losing only once. He was the leading influence on the team that only lost twice during the regular season, to Princess Anne by one stroke, and to First Colonial by two.

Solid play

Playing number two is Tom Cullen, a senior who also adds good solid play in the Chief line-up. Cullen is considering playing golf at ODU next year.

Bob Kreamer plays number three. A veteran of seven years, he is only a junior, so he will try to keep the Chiefs on top next year.

At number four is Kevin Sweeney, who at 5'11", looks as if he better not get too close to the edge of the cup. Kevin might not be too big, but he can hit the ball a mile," said Braun. "It was his steady play when he stepped in, that really kept us going this year."

Sweeney is a freshman, and was second in the city wrestling last season at 96 pounds.

There will be a lot of good golfers at Red Wing next week, but after 36 holes, the best team should be weeded out. Should be. But so matter who wins, Kempville will be in the thing of it. That's tradition.

to finish well in the Eastern District baseball race as the proverbial snowball is given in the fiery reaches of the hereafter.

Yet with the regular season drawing to a close, the Falcons are well over the .500 mark overall, and keeping just above the same mark in conference play. The strangest part of it is that Cox manages to knock off the better teams in the district while losing to the also-rans.

They have beat Princess Anne, one of the best teams in the district, on two occasions. They have split with Kempville, another district leader and last year's state champion, losing the crucial conference tilt. Lake Taylor too, has fallen to the erratic Cox nine.

So why don't they beat everyone? Tom Fisher, who coaches the giant-killers said, "We never seem to have a lead during the game. We always have to battle back. Sometimes we just don't make it."

Pitcher Jack Ferrell had another explanation. "We get psyched up for the really big games, but don't seem to be up for the others."

The main reason for the pre-season skepticism that surrounded the team was the lack of returning starters. Outfielder Tyree Brown was the only regular coming back, and pitcher Jack Ferrell just came off a knee operation. But the team has pulled together. "They are doing better than I expected," said Fisher. "They are not just one or two players carrying the team. Both offensively and defensively, everyone is doing the job."

They really enjoy playing," he continued, "and they are being aggressive. We have to play aggressive, because we're not out of the district race yet."

Tyree Brown, who played left field doesn't need any aggression lessons. He has stolen 25 bases in 28 attempts. He is also batting in the high .300s.

Joining Brown in the garden are Blaine Cipriano in center and Bailey Conroy in right. Both of them are hitting over .300 as well.

On the mound, Billy Houghlin has a spotless 5-0 record. "Billy has been picking up wins in relief," said Fisher, "since we usually come from behind to win."

Dave Crafton, Greg Jeffries and Jack Ferrell round out the moundmen. Ferrell, who was 4-1 last year, hasn't played most of season due to his knee injury, but is back in form now. He is proud of how the team has done this year. "We are doing better than anybody thought we would."

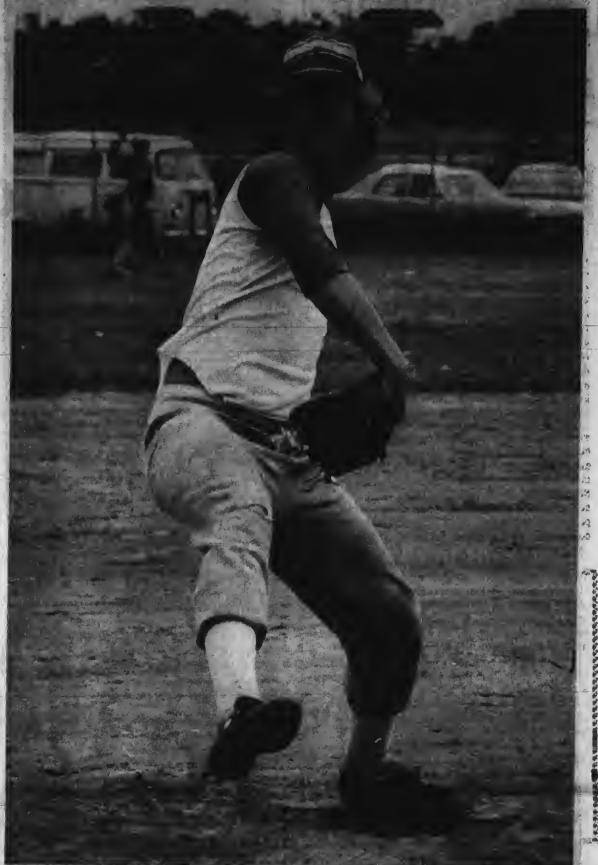

The infield is held down by Mike Lupia at first, Bruce Herring at second, Tommy Needham at third, Tim Comoros at shortstop, and Donald Marshland at catcher. Bill Woodhouse is batting over .300 as the DH.

Most of the team will be returning next year. Except the pitchers. "I don't know what we will have next season, but I'm not worried about that. It's this year that matters," said Fisher.

Maybe they will kill a few more giants. Maybe things will fall into place and they will qualify for the district's. Maybe. In any case, they have come a long way this year, and made it a successful one.

Jack Ferrell winds up in practice

Tourney nets 17 local winners

The Virginia Wrestling Club Tournament was held recently in Hampton, and 17 Great Neck grapplers qualified to continue in the AAU Eastern Regional competition in Philadelphia on June 17.

305 wrestlers entered the tournament in four age groups. The local winners:

Midnet Division-Chris Felthousen, 60 lbs., 1st place; Bill John, 75 lbs., 1st place; David Holland, 90 lbs., 1st place.

Junior Division-Jim McGovern, 65 lbs., 1st place;

Timmy Harrell, 70 lbs., 1st place; Jeff Burns, 85 lbs., 2nd place; Greg Burns, 100 lbs., 1st place;

Intermediate Division-Joe Barnes, 80 lbs., 1st place; Scott Parr, 90 lbs., 1st place; Jimmy Wootton, 112 lbs., 1st place; Bob Harrell, 119 lbs., 2nd place; Bob Fisher, 140 lbs., 3rd place; Paul Gaudreau, 170 lbs., 2nd place.

Senior Division-Buddy Kerr, 115 lbs., 3rd place; Tim Wagner, 148 lbs., 1st place; John Pearce, 192 lbs., 2nd place; Bobby Scott, unlimited, 2nd place.

Diamond action starts at Beach

By SHANNON COX
Dept. of Parks and Recreation

The Virginia Beach Recreation Department opened its 1976 Baseball/Softball season a few days ago. The Department offers Baseball/Softball competition for ages 10 years and older, male or female.

For girls the Department offers softball, grouped according to age. This year, the Pre-teen girls league, ages 10-12, have 29 teams. They play every Tuesday and Thursday night at either 6, 7:15 or 8:30. They began their season May 4 and will finish league play approximately July 1.

The Junior girls, ages 13 and 14, have 25 teams in the league this year. They play every Monday and Wednesday night at 6:30, 7:15 and 8:30. They began play

May 3 and will terminate league play, weather permitting, July 12.

The Teen girls, are grouped between the ages of 15 and up, while still attending high school. They play every Wednesday and Friday night, at 6, 7:15 and 8:30. They began play May 5 and will be finished July 2. They have 28 teams in the league this year.

The girls, totaling 85 teams make up over half the league for youth. The boys have 60 teams, divided into Teen Boys softball league, Midnet and Intermediate baseball league. The age grouping is the same as the girls leagues. The Midnet leagues play at 6 and 8 p.m. every Tuesday and Friday nights. The Intermediate leagues play at 6 and 8 every Monday and Thursday nights.

The Virginia Beach Recreation Department has scheduled fields and games for 230 teams, 142 youth community league teams and 118 adult teams.

In the Adult league, the Women have increased to two divisions this year totaling 21 teams as compared to one division and 12 teams in 1975. The Men's Unlimited leagues have increased from 60 in 1975 to 63 in 1976. The Class A league this year is even more competitive this year than in the past few years. And finally, our Church leagues has 21 teams this year as compared to 17 teams last year.

The Department is very pleased with the increase of teams and participants this year and hope the trend will continue in the upcoming seasons.

Inmate exhibits paintings at Beach throughout May

The works of Walter Slak an inmate at the Virginia State Penitentiary in Richmond are on exhibit at the Beach. The show will run throughout May.

Slak had no formal art training or background before entering the Virginia Penitentiary in 1969. Since that time, however, his talent as a realistic painter has emerged and now is well respected by both fellow inmates and the 'outside' public.

Slak works primarily in oils.

His subject matter varies from naive portraits of biblical figures and children to still life and stormy seascapes. Ironically, he has never actually seen an ocean. Although a trustee at the Penitentiary, Slak fills an abundance of spare time by studying the works of famous artists.

Several of Slak's earlier works have been exhibited before in the Tidewater area. They were featured in a Prison Art Show at Norfolk's Chrysler Museum in 1974. Many of his paintings are in private collections in Richmond Hours for the Slak show at the Hilltop North Mutual Federal Office, Laskin Road, are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Thursdays and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Fridays.

Many of Walter Slak's works will be displayed for sale and admission is free.

Slow To Anger

Do you carry your religion into your everyday life, or do you leave it at the church door. Even on the way home from church on Sunday a father will shout at his children, honk the horn at another driver, and be rude to his family. Time and again Jesus demonstrated a meek and gentle spirit even when another man might have been provoked to anger.

In Psalms 103:8-10 we read, "The Lord is merciful and gracious, slow to anger and plenteous in mercy." So should those who love God, pattern their lives. We, too, should learn to be "slow to anger".

City rector ends course

What do a Baptist minister in Edenton, N.C., a director of a counseling service in Virginia Beach, and an associate minister of a Presbyterian Church in Hampton have in common?

For Robert E. Gray, minister of Edenton Baptist Church, William C. Hendrick, director of the Tidewater Counseling and Consulting Service in Virginia Beach, and Wilburn L. Loessin, associate minister of First Presbyterian Church, Hampton, the tie that binds them and eight others in the Tidewater Peninsula area in their mutual graduation from Union Theological Seminary.

The 11 men, all who hold a Master of Divinity degree or its equivalent and who have served the pastorate in various capacities for many years, returned to the classroom to work on their Doctor of Ministry degrees in 1973.

Most of their work was completed through the Hampton Satellite School, a branch of UTS designed to bring courses to ministers already working in the field.

The Doctor of Ministry program, initiated at UTS in 1972, represents a new design for professional education emphasizing the study, practice, demonstration, and evaluation of the total complex of competencies related to the practice of ministry.

It is designed as a basic, four-year in-sequence program although it admits adaptation for those who already hold a first professional degree, like those in the Hampton School.

Basic to the program is a stress on evaluative processes, with specific evaluation reviews in the second and fourth level years.

Besides Gray, Hendrick, and Loessin, others in the program include: Chester

Took 2 years

Most of the participants in the satellite school completed their nine courses necessary for the degree over a two-year period from 1973-75. Some of the courses, including the fourth level evaluative review, were conducted at UTS.

"It was sheer terror," Loessin said in describing his feelings concerning the plunge into a new degree program after a 15-20 year absence from the classroom.

It's upgrading

"However whether you make it or not, it's an upgrading of ministry," he

The 11 received their degrees in commencement ceremonies at Grace Covenant Presbyterian Church. Commencement speaker was the Rev. William S. Morris Jr., former university chaplain and pastor of the Church of Christ at Yale University.

Marshall opens art show

Randy Marshall has just opened a one-man show of realistic water colors in Virginia Beach.

Marshall, a Tidewater native, is one of the youngest artists ever to exhibit at Mutual Federal's Hilltop office. Many of his works on exhibition are bird life and still life scenes. He is 13-years-old and a student at Kempsville Junior High School.

He has won several awards in local art shows; most recently, first place in the 1976 Virginia Beach Recreation-Public Library Show, Best in Show (Student) in the 1975 Neptune Festival, Virginia Beach and Best in Show (Student) in Chesapeake's 1975 Day in the Park Show.

Parish sets its bazaar

Christ the King parish annual spring bazaar will commemorate the Bicentennial by celebrating "America on Parade 1776-1976" beginning June 4, at 5 p.m.

A special flag raising ceremony and concert will be presented that evening at 7 to 10:30 p.m. The public is invited.

Beach Armed Forces Day parade

Crowds cheer bands

By BUD LOWE
Sun Contributor

Crowds in record numbers turned out to view Virginia Beach's 24th annual Armed Forces Day Parade this year.

There was a total of 67 units in the parade and they were all in splendid form. There was every type of marching unit and float one could imagine, on a day threatened by rain throughout the parade.

Junior and senior high school bands were there in force and as usual looking and sounding great. Their performance was one that anyone would be proud to be part of.

There were five local high school and seven junior high school bands represented in the parade: Princess Anne High School, Kempsville High School, Bayside High School, Cox High School, Kellam High School, Kempsville Junior High School, Princess Anne Junior High School, Bay-side Junior High School, Independence Junior High School, Plaza Junior High School, Lynnhaven Junior High School, and Virginia Beach Junior High School. There was also a high school from Chesapeake, Great Bridge High School.

Winning units in the parade were: Marching Military: first place--L.Y. Spear, second place--Pt. Story. Marching Civilian: first place--Princess Anne County Militia, second place--Silverthorn's Twirling and Drum Corps.

Bands Military: first place--Atlantic Fleet Ceremonial Band, second place--U.S. Continental Army Command.

Bands Civilian: first place--Princess Anne High School, second place--Kempsville High School.

Bands Civilian: first place--Kempsville Junior High School, second place -- Princess Anne Junior High School.

Floats Military: first place--Naval Air Rerford Facility, second place--Oceana Naval Air Station Tower.

Floats High School: first place--Kellam High School, second place--Bayside High School.

Floats Civilian: first place--Virginia Beach SPCA, second place--Thalia Lions Club.

Junior ROTC: first place--Great Bridge AFROTC, second--Virginia Beach NROTC.

Sea gulls overlook sand piling operations at Virginia Beach

Precious help given

Sand supplied to Beach

In an operation that could be likened to hauling coals to Newcastle, the Army at Ft. Story is supplying sand for Virginia Beach.

Even though the city has seemingly sufficient sand, we constantly face an erosion problem brought on by heavy winter storms and strong water currents created by the blending of the Chesapeake Bay and the Atlantic Ocean.

In 1974, with supplies of sand from other areas diminishing, Beach city fathers turned to the Army for help. At the time, the Army Corps of Engineers was conducting dredging operations in the bay area and had planned to take the sand out to sea for dumping. Instead, the sand was piled up on the beaches of Ft. Story, where the Army trains its fleet of amphibians.

More than 100,000 cubic yards of sand were hauled from the Ft. Story site last year to replenish the Virginia Beach shoreline. This year, the resort city expects to gain from 90,000 to 150,000 cubic yards.

Cost of the operation is borne by the city, which hires a contractor to haul the sand away and deposit it on the Beach areas. The 1976 operations, which began in February and will end in May, are expected to cost the city $177,600.

Virginia Beach also receives sand from another Corps of Engineer project at the southern end of the city, but the main long-term source, according to officials, will be the Ft. Story stockpile.

Pot luck lunch held for wives

Dam Neck Navy Wives Club #207 held a pot luck luncheon recently in honor of the new members who have joined the club this year.

Business meetings are held the first Thursday of each month at 9:30 a.m. in the club room located in the Special Services Building at Dam Neck. On the Third Thursday of each month they hold a social with guest speakers or something special. The social is at 10.

Thursday's social, will be an Easter Basket Contest, the girls will make Easter Baskets from half gallon milk cartons and bring to the social to be judged, with prizes going to the winners.

Other upcoming events planned are a family picnic, a car rally, a progressive dinner, and many other enjoyable things.

Free babysitting is provided for club functions. All active and retired enlisted wives are invited to attend our meetings and socials and to join. For more information contact Dottie Latham at 486-4208 or Phyllis Brown at 486-6787.

New brochure is available on landmarks

A new Bicentennial brochure describing many of the historic landmarks that are located within the circle around the Chesapeake Bay Circle Tour, a drive-it-yourself excursion is detailed in a full-color, 12-panel brochure.

One of the highlights of the brochure is a large map keyed to places of major interest in American history. The map covers Delaware, the areas of Maryland and Virginia which border the Bay, plus the District of Columbia. Recreational activities for which the Chesapeake Bay area is known are also brought out in the brochure.

Free copies of the Circle Tour brochure are available by writing Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel, Dept. PP, Cape Charles, Va. 23310.

Firm is selected

The Mechanical Sales Company, headquartered in Virginia Beach, with a branch in Richmond, has been named as a manufacturers representative by the Airtemp Corporation.

The new company, which opened its offices approximately six months ago in each city, will represent Airtemp's applied air conditioning systems in central Virginia. The company is owned by Charles Eiks Jr., who has been in the air conditioning and heating industry since 1965.

Mechanical Sales Company is located at 994 Keiso Court in Virginia Beach.

Gladstone moves

Airman Irvin Gladstone, whose mother is Josie M. Gladstone of 403 16th St., Virginia Beach, has been selected for technical training at Lowry AFB, Colo., in the Air Force supply field.

The airman recently completed basic training in Lackland AFB, and studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Gladstone, a 1970 graduate of First Colonial High School, attended Old Dominion University.

Busch hires Susan

Susan Lynn Gross has joined The Old Country, Busch Gardens Sales Department as sales representative. In her new position, Miss Gross will be responsible for group admission sales for the Peninsula, and certain North Carolina accounts. A native of Key West Florida she is a 1970 graduate of Old Dominion University where she earned a B. S. degree. Miss Gross resides in Virginia Beach.

Special training

The son of a Virginia Beach resident, has been selected to enter specialized training after completing Air Force basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Airman John S. Hartog, whose mother is Mrs. Doris E. Hartog of 4700 Victory Road, now goes to Keesler AFB, Miss., to attend the Air Training Command's communications-electronics specialist course.

Hartog, a 1973 graduate of Cox High, attended Tidewater Community College.

Memorial Day

Observe a safe,

(See Page A-4)

Nobody ever said it better than Abraham Lincoln: "...from these honored dead we take increased devotion...to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion."

Beach honors our war dead

Other distinguished guests will include officials from Norfolk, Virginia Beach, Portsmouth, and Chesapeake. Also participating in this program will be armed forces representatives, including the Virginia Beach Marine Corps and the Virginia Beach Naval Air Station.

Wild weekend is anticipated

Beach and area residents are expected to swell crowds at the Memorial Day celebration on the beach. The celebration will begin at 10 a.m. and last through the evening. The celebration will be held on the beach from the 17th and 18th streets to the 22nd and 23rd streets. ## Features editor appointed Lavinia W. Edmunds has been named features editor of THE SUN, according to editor R. Gordon Ursel. The new editor brings strong credentials here that should go a long way toward making her a success, Ursel added.

Miss Edmunds has a B.A. from Hollins College, and studied for her masters in journalism at the University of North Carolina. She took photography with Dennis Henscott at the New School of Social Research in New York.

First beach crowd

Thousands are expected at the beach over the long Memorial Day weekend. Things warmed up with this crowd down on the strip last week.

She gets them aid, new home

Mrs. Lula Rowland didn't know where to turn. She had a German shepherd mama and four pups and desperately wanted to find a new home for them. "THE BEACH SUN was our last resource," Mrs. Rowland said. "I am so thankful and I know that people locally are reading the paper, especially your Free Bee's for pets." Mrs. Rowland of 1905 West Saint Brides Road, said she is pleased with the paper. "We had real good luck. People called and all the puppies were gone in two weeks. We have another dog and she's going to have puppies and we're going to have to do the same thing." You, too, can clear out whatever you wish by utilizing our classified pages. To join Mrs. Rowland simply call 486-3430 and a friendly staff worker will help you.

The motto of the Bayside High School Marching Marlinas, "Pride, Determination and Quality," carried the Marlinas, under the direction of Joseph Ligart and Darlene Creekmore, to victory at the National Music Festival in Atlantic City. The Festival was held on the boardwalk. The National Music Festival's goal-- The Music Experience of a Lifetime--was fulfilled by the utmost as each student met the challenge in the various competitions. Many high school music units from the Eastern states were represented including North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Connecticut, New York, Maine and Massachusetts.

Trophies show Bayside band dominance in Atlantic City

The competitive events included in the three-day period were Concert and Stage Band Competitions, Marching Band and Parade Competitions, Ballo Solo, Majorities, Color Guard and Drill Team Competitions. Also a special competitive feature for "school spirit." The Marching Marlinas competed in every category.

Small, but mighty, the happy marlinas arrived home Sunday evening with seven trophies and four plaques including two Banner Awards for "school spirit" and a student scholarship.

One of the many thrills experienced by the Marlinas was receiving first place in Class A, Concert Band Competition. The band received the highest total amount of points over all three classes of Concert Band Competition. It was extremely enlightening to receive a multitude of comments from the adjudicators on critique sheets and via tape.

One such comment from Prof. William Moffitt "Outstanding. Excellent control in tone, Bravos, Most beautiful musical interpretation today--every detail was prepared. It was all there! Your greatest asset is the musicianship of your director, I'm truly impressed, My trip was worth it just to hear your band play." For parents and friends attending the Festival it was a real treat. The motto of the Marlinas was, right on!

Bayside reporters file special story

The evening of the Special Awards and Farewell Party the Concert Band was asked to perform a special feature in the program. A special award of a $250 cash scholarship went to Bayside Senior, Kevin Counts. His outstanding performance in the Concert Competition entitled him to be the recipient.

Kevin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Counts. This fine clarinetist plans to make music his career. Kevin held first chair in the All Regional Festival this year and participated in the All State Band Congratulations, Kevin, we are proud of you!

Field Competition and Parade Competition were all wrapped up in one day. To say the least, Saturday was an extraordinary day. It was rise and shine at 5:30 a.m. for the Mighty Marching Marlinas and to the practice field.

Bayside's Mighty Marching Marlinas were first to perform at Bader Field. "Determination" was truly displayed. Brisk cold winds swept across the field causing cold, mouth pieces, freezing hands and shivering bodies. Majorities Kathy Shoenake, sprained her ankle during the performance while six adjudicators scrupulously examined each member of the Marching Marlinas.

Show proceeded

Smiling through tears she completed the drill and was later taken to the hospital for x-rays. Lunch was brief and the Boardwalk Parade Competition was next on the agenda. Despite blisters on hands and heels, kinks in muscles and a sore backstage here and there the show proceeded, down the "boards."

The Drill Team of the Mighty Marching Marlinas under the directorship of Darlene Creekmore took first place. For more than a mile the Marlinettes spread warmth with their smiles and stepped high in their precision drill to bring victory to the Mighty Marching Marlinas. Having won the hearts of the judges of the National Music Festival, the Marlinette Drill Team was asked to present a special drill for the Awards Finale.

Not all was work--there was entertainment and fun too. Festival directors Phillip DeAngelo and Dr. James Wells made every effort to make the four day program, not a mere experience of a lifetime, but a growing experience via competition, travel and communication.

Kenton rare treat

Friday evening, students and the public were invited to hear the famed Stan Kenton and his orchestra. Kenton is a pioneer and innovator who strongly influenced modern American Music. The Pennsylvania Room glowed with Southern hospitality as the Marlinettes acted as hostesses for the concert. For their charm and personality the Marlinettes received this honor from the Directors of the National Music Festival, DeAngelo and Dr. Wells.

A year of hard work in raising over $10,000 for trip expenses and countless hours of practice for the various competitions, the Marlinas unanimously agreed it was worth every effort. Especially when they heard the final comment from Dr. Moffitt--"I'm impressed with you as musicians, as human beings and as a whole team. I hope your school appreciates the quality of education you're getting. The taxpayers are getting a fantastic return for their investment. If every group in school returned for their investment, as you do, it would be a fantastic place."

Jack Davis on CB-Ham war

'They are 2 distinct communities, nil in common,' says radio expert

Jack Davis

Harley with customers Brooks and Strait discuss CBs

By R. GORDON URSUL
SUN Editor

The CB vs. Ham war continues to rage at the Beach.

Jack Davis is kind of caught in the middle.

On one hand he's a longtime CB radio user—who thinks the boom is just really starting. And on the other hand he's a veteran ham, or amateur radio operator.

"They are two distinct communities who have nothing in common," he said.

Davis should know. He's the owner of 4-Wheeler Communications, thought by many to be the CB center here at the Beach. He's a retired Navy electronics specialist, and past president of the Virginia Beach CB Club.

The counter to 4-Wheeler is no-stop patter, electronic jargon. It is the direct result of the scientific age.

"I got out of the Navy last July," Davis said. "Why did I open the shop? I got trapped. A guy asked me to do some repairs. I did, and he spread the word. I was swamped with sets. So I had to either do this or be swamped."

Beach resident

He's from Fort Cobb, Okla., and a Beach resident since 1947. The business is located at 5047 Cleveland, the second right off Witch Duck going toward Norfolk on 44. It's a small to medium sized building that always is a nest of activity. The company actually started in September of 1973, that office on Holland Road.

"Before the boom our business was modest," Davis said. "There were a handful of installations, some sales and service. But since, our gross has gone from $2,000 to $3,000 a month to a sustained $30,000."

Why? How has the CB boom come about?

"The fuel crisis and the trucker protest. This gave CB national recognition. The thing you got to understand is the kid with long hair. He's a modern day cowboy. He's away from home nine months a year -- a young woman truck driver, a loner who will probably amount to something."

They rip laws

"He gets a rig for $75,000 to $90,000 in 1973. His payments are $2,000 a month. Then all of a sudden they triple the fuel price, drop the speed limit by 10 miles an hour, and inflation is bad."

"They were forced to break the law. CB sets allowed them to find out the locations of troopers and weight stations. They had to hit 85 miles an hour or lose everything."

Now if you drive a great deal, remember that Ohio and West Virginia are the "bloodsuckers." They fight CBs hard, and are looking for easy revenue. The situation is not the same here -- Virginia state police like CBs, feeling that they can cover effectively over 400 miles of highway strip compared to a fraction of that were there not CBs to warn motorists.

"The big guys -- Motorola, Johnson and Standard Communications -- are into CBs," Davis added. "GM has been involved for five years. In 1958 there were probably 100 CBers in the U.S. The FCC had no planning, no foresight. CB was given a band. It kind of lay dead into the 60s. Lafayette pushed them. Five or six channels were all they had. The 23 channels appeared in the mid-60s."

KKK used CBs

"Heavy sales of CB developed in ranch and farm country, where they were a natural. Clubs started up in the late 60s. Moonshiners, even the Ku Klux Klan used them. The KKK was the first big block issued call letters. Back, back in 1973 I heard Virginia and Carolina Klan CBers, 80 or so of them, hunting two blacks who had raped a white woman. The Klan flushed them out and they were arrested. It was an amazing demonstration."

Davis installs for folks such as car dealers -- Colonial, Perry Buick and others. "We've just touched the surface," he said of sales. "We're talking about an option like an AM/FM radio."

If you want to buy a CB, 4-Wheeler is not a cut-rate or discount center. It features only the quality lines -- Trum, Browning, Pace and Cobra. "The best in our opinion," added dealer Terry Harley. They sell the General and Avanti antennas and some other selected winners.

"We sell only expensive units that we guarantee for 90 days," Davis said. "It's top equipment. We pick good brands and get many longtime customers."

The FCC currently issues between 100,000 and 200,000 CB licenses a month. If you are over 18, the license costs $4 and is good for five years. 4-Wheeler sells 20 sets a week or more, but the bulk of its money is in installation and service.

Free offer made

"Ninety per cent of CB problems are because of a mismatched antenna," said installation man Hughie Levesque. "It pays us to offer a free SWR (standing wave ratio) check. The transmitter must be perfect. The check should be done every couple of months. The check is free. Any adjustment is $5, anything more serious averages out to $7.50. It's a service, a head-in to business. Without it they can damage their CB. We open it up and show them the problem. We encourage them to buy their own test SWRs. It is preventative maintenance."

The staff at 4-Wheeler includes Davis, Harley and Levesque. In addition, there is Richard Davis, John Norman, Jim Thomas and Robert Fox. The latter is a member of the Virginia Electricians Association and a certified journeyman technician. Davis and Harley both have well over 20 years of electronic experience each and Davis proudly asserted that the staff in toto has more than 200 years of combined experience in the field.

Quick installation

Levesque at the Beach for one year, has installed 150 sets, and now does between three and nine sets per day. It takes about an hour, maybe an hour and a half to install the CB complete. And customers Gary Brooks and Bob Strait just the other night were impressed watching him work. Levesque quickly but carefully drilled a hole in the car roof, commenced wiring, and finally set the unit in place.

The store is open from 9 to 9 weekdays, and 9 to 6 Saturdays. The tab ranges from $150 to $950. Davis smiled and once more considered the CB vs. ham hassle.

"A ham can't air anything commercial," he said. "In CB, it was designed for business and you can say just about anything, except for no obscenities. CB is a convenience, cheap communications. The average ham is 55, part of a dying breed."

CB has 30 frequencies, seven leased by radio controllers. Of the 23 remaining, one is emergency (9) and another national calls (11). The other 11 are up for grabs. Channel 13 at the Beach is a marine frequency, lower side 16 belongs primarily to banders and truckers and most others congregate on channel 19, the big favorite.

Club is active

"It's a very competitive market," Davis added. "To hit a 20 per cent profit ratio is really great, it's usually less than that."

For the record, the Virginia Beach CB Club has 165 members, and is active in many community-oriented happenings. The upcoming Memorial Day Weekend will have them at the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel, serving free soft drinks, coffee and doughnuts to motorists, from five Friday to five Monday.

They maintain a Labor Day service, and for the six weeks preceding Thanksgiving stage a turkey shoot, the resulting $3,000 to $5,000 primarily used to totally support a child currently at Hope Haven here at the Beach.

The youth is cared for by Chesapeake's Wide Waterfield, affectionately called "Grandma" by area CBers. Oh yes, on Halloween the club runs a "spook patrol, a safety and watchdog coordination. Grandma gives regular radio checks as does retired Beach police officer, Randy Lowery. He is blind and lives near the Princess Anne courthouse area, runs a base station and is especially valuable because of his incredible hearing. Jack Davis has been into electronics for most of his life. And the tales he spins are worth the listen. If he doesn't sell you a CB unit, he'll certainly sell himself. Drop by and for a few moments see the booming world of citizen's radio here in Virginia Beach.

Memorial Day

Memorial Day weekend motorists are urged to give their car a thorough mechanical checkup before traveling. "Holiday vacationers must be aware of their car's maintenance needs to avoid unnecessary risk, delay or expense," said John T. Hanna, director, Highway Safety Division of Virginia.

Traffic is particularly heavy in the resort area here at the Beach, and whether you are off to Thoroughgood, Lynnhaven or more distant fields, take care.

"A tuneup before heading to the mountains or the beach could prevent car trouble such as overheating, a flat tire or a broken fan belt, as well as reduce the chances of being involved in an accident."

The complete safety check should cover: tires, including spare; brakes; steering system; hoses and belts; exhaust system; windshield wipers and washers; lights; front end alignment; and fluid levels (water, oil, master brake cylinder, power steering reservoir, transmission, differential, battery).

Last year 12 fatalities occurred on Virginia's highways during the three-day Memorial Day weekend.

"Fatalities and accidents can be reduced if motorists drive carefully and make sure their car functions properly day and night in a variety of situations," Hanna concluded.

Beach girl scoops $400

Sheila Barnett, a junior at Virginia Beach Vocational Center, has won first place and $400 cash in the high school division of the 24th annual Keep Virginia Green Poster Contest, sponsored by the Virginia Forestry Association.

The other top winner was Kim Pittman, a senior also at Virginia Beach Vocational-Technical Educational Center, second place and $150.

In addition to these winners, 135 other high school students, 600 elementary school students, and 10 special education students won individual awards totaling more than $2,000. Winning posters illustrated the theme, "Forestry Means..." and showed the need for forest protection and the ways in which timberland and good forest management benefit people and wildlife.

Ecology posters

Winning posters were chosen from 17,269 entries in the statewide contest by 11 judges during two days of judging. Some 353 schools statewide were represented. Judges included Richmond area artists, media representatives, foresters, and educators.

In addition to the cash prizes, the four top posters will be reproduced in full color on more than 300,000 Keep Virginia Green Forest Fire Prevention Bookcovers to be distributed to students throughout the state this fall.

The top four poster contest winners were recognized and given their awards at the 33rd annual meeting of the Virginia Forestry Association. The same day, Gov. Mills Godwin personally congratulated them and their parents on their interest in conservation. The remaining prizes and certificates will be sent to winners this month.

Ten cash grants of $25 each were given to teachers this year based on a written statement of how the teacher used the poster contest in a teaching unit on art, natural resources, or social studies. Of special interest was how the contest helped develop students' awareness of conservation and the environment.

Winners are Jean Judith Doyle, Virginia Beach Vocational-Technical Educational Center; Elaine McCluskey, Crestwood Junior High School, Chesapeake; and Margaret Bray, Robinson Memorial School.

In addition, trophies will be given to the schools of the four top prize winners—Virginia Beach Vocational-Technical Educational Center (1st & 2nd Place), Halifax County Senior High (3rd Place), and Eastern Mecklenburg High School (4th Place). The Keep Virginia Green Poster Contest with $3,150 in prizes is sponsored by the Virginia Forestry Association in cooperation with the Virginia Division of Forestry. Its purpose is to create a better understanding of the importance of the forest and its related values to the economic and environmental well-being of all Virginians.

The poster contest was open to all Virginia students, grades 1-12, and entries were accepted from October through Dec. 1.

Beach Jaycee leader named chapt. champ

Larry B. Lovorn, president of the Virginia Beach Jaycees, has been named one of the four outstanding chapter presidents in the State of Virginia for chapters situated in areas whose populations are in excess of 75,000 people. Under Larry's leadership, the Beach Jaycees assisted the community this year by performing such projects as Toys for Tots, Walk for Mankind, First Citizens, East Coast Surfing Championship, Soap Box Derby, Outstanding Young Awards Night, and Special Olympics.

For their efforts this year, the Virginia Beach Jaycees were named the Outstanding Jaycee Chapter in the State of Virginia during 1975-76, the highest award that a Jaycee chapter can receive in Virginia. Lovorn was also honored by being named a Life Member of the Virginia Jaycees.

Lovorn, currently an engineer for CAP Telephone, is active in other organizations besides the Jaycees in that he is on the Neptune Festival Committee, is a member of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, has served on the Committee on Coastal Zone Management and on the Citizens Advisory Committee for the Future Direction of Virginia Beach Schools.

For his outstanding contributions to the community Lovorn's biography was selected to appear in the 1975 volume of Outstanding Young Men of America.

Lovorn is married to the former Linda Woods Goodwin, has two daughters, attends Baylake United Methodist Church, and resides at 2340 Custom Circle in Virginia Beach.

Adventure draws Sharon to Beach

Sharon Diakin had the right idea. After all, it brought her here, to the fair shores of Virginia Beach.

Miss Diakin wanted adventure, travel, some training, and, of course, to conquer some new frontiers.

She's been able to accomplish all of those aims thus far, plus a little more just for good luck.

With roughly 30 months of active service in the Navy, Sharon has journeyed to Puerto Rico for duty, received NTDS qualifications, been promoted, and recently the operations specialists third class became a real true blue groundbreaker, a pathfinder.

The Beach's Sharon became the first qualified female air intercept controller in the Navy. The pert, 21-year-old now based here at the Beach at Dam Neck, put her individual mark on the Navy by being the first woman to graduate from the Navy's course of the same name. The Navy offers the AIC course here and also at San Diego, but no woman has yet graduated from the California facility.

Impressive result

The accomplishment is more impressive considering Sharon is one of the Navy's junior petty officers. The six week course is normally frequented by only senior petty officers and officers. Before any petty officer below E-5 can even be admitted to the course, they must have the endorsement of their commanding officer, type commander, and be personally interviewed by the school.

Competition is stiff and the course difficult, but rightly so, as the specialty of Air Intercept Controller is a highly coveted honor among personnel in the operations specialists rating. The AIC's job requires dexterity, sound judgment, and quick accurate responses.

In a sense the AIC actually flies the intercept aircraft, as he gives instructions to the pilot to increase speed, change altitude, or change course to ensure successful interception of an enemy aircraft. The course itself emphasizes performance and prior to graduation a student must have successfully completed 120 synthetic intercepts and 35 live intercepts.

fessional qualifications that they enrolled her in the course.

Showing amazing abilities during her "A" school training, Sharon first came to Fleet Combat Direction Systems Training Center in April of 1974 to attend the NTDS school located here.

Talent recognized

While stationed at the Atlantic Fleet Weapons Range, Sharon's aptitude in the AIC field was recognized and she was assigned as an Advisory Air Controller for airborne data link and drone recovery aircraft (the first woman to be qualified at the Weapons Range in that position).

The instructors at the AIC school have been impressed by Sharon's performance throughout her training, and mention of her often elicits more than a few superlative comments.

The final phase of training in the AIC course includes live control of A-4's, F-4's and F-14's from Naval Air Station Oceana and many a pilot was surprised to hear the soft-spoken soprano directing their movements. Now that Sharon has graduated she will join the 15 man training staff for the AIC course and the pilots from Oceana can expect to hear from her on a regular basis.

When asked why Sharon responded by saying, "Because I've always wanted to control aircraft." Originally from Pittsburgh, Sharon is the oldest of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Diakin's four children. Sharon delayed telling her parents about her recent accomplishment until her success was guaranteed.

Plays local club

A petite five foot two inches, Sharon's talents are not limited to her naval expertise. Learning to play the guitar almost eight years ago, Sharon began performing professionally as a folk singer while stationed at Puerto Rico. Currently Sharon performs weekly at the Chief Petty Officer's Club at Fleet Combat Direction Systems Training Center, workload permitting.

Sharon hasn't yet decided whether she'll continue her naval career once her enlistment expires. But with her dynamic personality and academic prowess, it's certain the Navy will make every effort to retain her.

Kempsville's Chiefs shine

The Kempsville High School Marching Chiefs have just returned from a recent performance at Disney World in Orlando, where they were the featured band in "America On Parade," Walt Disney Productions' salute to the American Revolution Bicentennial.

The parade treats America's past from Columbus to Cape Kennedy with larger-than-life parade units and 150 huge "People of America" characters, and has been in the planning for more than two years.

The 62-member Kempsville Band performed before an audience of 61,000 at the Park, and then spent the remainder of the day as guests of Disney World. In addition to a second day spent at Disney World, the band and their chaperones visited Cypress Gardens, Sea World, and the Stars Hall of Fame during their four-day stay in Florida.

The Kempsville High School Band Parents and the Marching Chiefs appreciate the support of the community in the special fund raising efforts that helped make this trip possible.

Mall delayed

A concentrated attack by representatives of Beach business and development firms has resulted in a 60-day delay of any action on a zoning change, necessary for the planned Lynnhaven Mall.

The Beach planning commission said that further study would be a must before rendering a decision that would affect the future of the proposed $30 million commercial venture.

Opponents of the plan claim that it would severely hurt or kill efforts at establishing "regional" shopping malls in various Beach locations.

All-Beach baseball team chosen

By BLAIR THURMAN
Sun Sports Editor

Fire balling southpaw Mike Rhodes of Bayside High heads the Sun's All-Beach team, and is its Most Valuable Player.

Rhodes, who once this season whiffed 20 batters in a single game, averaged about two strike-outs per inning.

The senior hurler posted a 7-3 record during the regular season, and had a stingy 1.97 ERA.

David Anderson of Princess Anne, and John Frizzell of First Colonial tied for the other mound spot. Frizzell's 2.05 helped get the Patriots to the District tournament.

Tom DeLong of First Colonial also made the squad, at third base, after batting .323 and slamming four home runs.

Joining Anderson from Princess Anne on the All-Beach team were first baseman Sam Eure, second baseman David Brown and outfielders Jimmy Dinardo and Paul Townsend.

Eure batted .375 and hit one home run this season. Brown batted .287, and added good solid defensive play to the infield.

Dinardo batted .250, and stole second base 15 times without getting thrown out.

Townsend, a sophomore, tied for a third outfield position with Kempville outfielders Tom Reap and Lew Hutchison.

The Kempville Chiefs, winners of the Eastern District regular season title also placed shortstop Del Moody on the team. Moody batted .386 this year.

The other outfield position is filled by Cox standout Tyree Brown, who batted .380 and led the district with 27 stolen bases.

Gene Efird of Kellam filled the catcher position, after batting .400 for the Knights.

Bayside cops district tourney

Bayside centerfielder Roy Lohman drives in the Marlins' seventh run in a nightcap fifth inning against First Colonial in the first round of the Eastern District Baseball Tournament last week. The Patriots had taken the early lead, scoring four runs in the first inning, one of them coming on Steve Traub's mammoth home run. Bayside won 11-6.

Warm-up jacket clad Mike Rhodes rushes out to the mound following Bayside's victory over First Colonial, to congratulate Paul Tyner, who preserved the win for Rhodes.

Bayside beat Kempville in the District finals, 8-6, but the game had no effect on the advancement of the two teams to the regionals.

Rhodes was lifted with a bloody nose. Kempville High won the nightcap, 13-7 over Maury to advance to the regional competition along with Bayside.

Netters fall in regionals

Beach tennis players entered the Eastern Regional Championships with high hopes, visions of state competition firmly in mind. The team competition ended on Wednesday, with First Colonial going up against powerful Kecoughtan.

The Patriots had advanced to the finals by swamping Maury 5-0, but Kecoughtan proved to much for them, putting the match away in single's competition, moving ahead 5-1.

The only singles winner was Tod Furnace, First Colonial's number three player. But despite the apparently lopsided score, four of the matches went to three sets, and they lost all four.

Following the final 7-2 loss, Patriot coach John Marshall said, "Of course you always hope to go further, but the boys have a lot to be proud of."

On Thursday, the individual competition got under way, with First Colonial's Mark Price and Langley Holland, and Princess Anne's Fred Benjumea swinging the rackets for the Beach.

Price fought to a first round victory over Ricky Nuxzo of Maury, 6-7, 6-1, 6-4, before falling to Allan Whitaker of you, guessed it, Kecoughtan.

Meanwhile, Benjumea was making short work of his first round, winning 6-1, 6-0 over Robby Trimmer of Manor. Nevertheless, he too lost his next round.

'Running Dog' sets the pace in Coastwise Race

The Coastwise Race, a race featuring Hobie Cats sailing from Ft. Lauderdale, Florida to Virginia Beach, is a week old now, and the developments have been interesting indeed.

Mike Worrell, co-owner of Worrell Brothers nightclub, the sponsor of the event was the pre-race favorite, but has fallen behind Peter Gutherie, also known as "The Running Dog."

Gutherie opened up a wide gap on the first day, according to race coordinator Keel Morgan, but Worrell has narrowed the distance somewhat. As of Monday morning, Gutherie had reached the North Carolina Coast, with Worrell near Charleston, S.C.

Steve McCarren was on the coast of Huntington Beach, S.C. Morgan said the sailors were encountering heavy weather, and that two boats were out of the race. One boat was destroyed, and the other suffered enough structural damage to warrant dropping out of the race.

The projected finish for the race is over the Memorial Day Weekend.

Bayside girl gets 1st grant-in-aid

Sue McAtamney of Bayside High in Virginia Beach has received the first Donna Doyle women's athletic scholarship ever awarded in field hockey at Old Dominion University.

ODU field hockey coach Mikki Flowers, a member of two U.S. World Cup teams, signed the 5-4 left inner to the grant-in-aid at Bayside.

The Donna Doyle scholarship fund was established at ODU two years ago in recognition of the most outstanding woman athlete ever to attend ODU.

Donna also became the first woman, in 1954, to receive a degree in health and physical education from ODU.

Sue played left inner and wing for Bayside coach Morris Kocher on three Lady Marlin teams, including the 1975 Eastern District championship team that finished 7-1-2. She will play on the attack for the Lady Monarchs, according to Flowers.

"She is an outstanding woman athlete who moves well with the ball, is a team player, and adjusts well to changing game situations," Flowers said.

Challengers and 'Kool Gang' win

The Aragona-Pembroke Challengers recently extended their record to 3 wins and 0 losses by defeating the Woodstock Spillers, 17-3 in Teen Girls Softball competition at Creeds.

After the game, assistant coach Woody Franz stated that, "It was no contest. Our girls have been together for the past four or five years and they work together well. Our defense is just beautiful and our batting is impressive."

Coach Franz, on behalf of the team, Head Coach Ed Rucka Jr. and fellow assistant Raymond Rucka, continued by giving honorable mention to offensive and defensive personnel.

"Our outstanding batters are Harriet Cooke, and Anne Strange. In addition to these girls being outstanding standouts are Anne Craig, Gini Alvarez and Candy Hamilton. We expect to win our next 12 games and our chief competition will be the Thalia-Malibu Hustlers, Plaza Pacers and the Aragona-Pembroke Sluggers, all of which will be tough, good games."

"To win these games our team must continue to perform 100 percent and we need greater parental support at our games. Maybe if we stopped supplying about 50 percent of the transportation for these girls, more parents might show, but we aren't going to do that."

Franz also mentioned a girl that he considered, "performed the extraordinary." Anne Strange, the starting pitcher, also sister of Allan and Curtis Strange, struck out three consecutive, winning Spillers to retire the inning.

"That seems to be unheard of," said Franz. He continued by mentioning Harriet Cooke, who is the team captain, and plays shortstop. "She is outstanding at shortstop and is an asset to our coaching staff and our philosophies.

"If a girl makes an error or mental mistake, she speaks to the girl(s) and this aids in team togetherness. This is one of our basic philosophies of coaching. One girl cannot do it alone, but together, all 10 of them, are practically unbeatable."

"And last but not least, we try and teach them to be a good loser because anybody can be a good winner. Good attitude along with togetherness are the foundations on which our team excels."

Arrowhead Kool and the Gang of our Teen Girls Softball League is managed by two highly respected coaches, Lorraine McCabe and Shirley Cowan.

In Arrowhead they produce champions. The team won the Division Title last year but lost in the City Championship Game, and so far this season, their winning trend is continuing with a 4-1 record, and the coaches are looking forward to another good season.

Most of the girls have played together for three years, including being together in various sports. Eight of these girls were members of the City Champions of volleyball, the Arrowhead Spillers. And to keep the records straight this team was also coached by Lorraine McCabe.

The coaches feel that no one girl makes the victorious team; it takes 10 working together to achieve this championship trend. These girls have represented the Arrowhead area with excellent sportsmanship.

The coaches said that, "We enjoy working with a group of girls such as these. The one thing that could make it all that much better would be for more parents to attend the games."

Rhonda cops top TV poll

By R. GORDON URSUL
Editor

The pretty and talented Rhonda Glenn should be real pleased with herself.

The lady--and friend of mine--has been chosen as Tidewater's "Outstanding TV Personality" by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The announcement, of course, comes as no surprise in this corner. I had the pleasure of being interviewed by Rhonda a few months back, and first-hand discovered what a natural she really is. It couldn't have happened to anyone nicer. The public affairs director of channel 10 deserves every plaudits tossed her way.

Rhonda resides in Churchland, which she calls home. She has a host of friends throughout Chesapeake, and beams onto Virginia Beach screens every morning at 10. You could say that she has links to all three Tidewater cities.

The selection was made through a public opinion poll conducted by the Jaycees, and the award was made at the annual civic awards banquet. Rhonda is the first broadcaster to receive the "Outstanding TV Personality" honor. She was recognized for active involvement in community affairs.

Rhonda is a frequent speaker at civic clubs, public schools and schools for the handicapped. She serves on the Board of The Portsmouth Mental Health Association as well as that of the Old Dominion University Intercollegiate Foundation.

A native of South Palm Beach, Fla., a position she assumed in 1975...Rhonda hosts "Roundabout Tidewater", a talk program Monday through Friday mornings, as well as public affairs programs "Area 10 Tidewater Reports", "Date-line Area 10", and a special feature in the news, "Helpline Area 10".

Rhonda Glenn, real talent

she began her broadcasting career as a disc jockey and reporter for WLIZ Radio in Lake Worth, Fla. She also worked as a feature columnist and reporter for the Miami Herald and a reporter for the Palm Beach Post Times.

In 1968, Rhonda came to WAVY-TV as a news reporter and weather girl. In 1974 she moved up to the co-anchor position for WAVY-TV's "Area 10 Eyewitness News".

In addition to her present duties as WAVY-TV's Public Affairs Director...

Pretty Elizabeth Bumpus

Oceana picks Mrs. Bumpus

By ANNETTE HALL
Sun Contributor

Navy Disbursing Clerk Third Class (DK3) Elizabeth A. Bumpus of the Comptroller Department is Naval Air Station Oceana's Sailor of the Month.

Petty Officer Bumpus traveled a very unusual route which ultimately led her to a career in the Navy.

At age 15, Elizabeth, born in the Philippine Islands, began a search which eventually found her American father. She and her mother presumed him dead, although there was no confirmation of his death.

After locating and contacting her father, Elizabeth expressed her desire to come to the United States. Her father and an aunt agreed to sponsor her, even though he was ill and required periodic hospitalization. It took three years of waiting before a passport was issued.

Elizabeth finished her last year of high school in Connecticut. When her father's illness prevented continuing sponsorship, the school arranged sponsorship with a family in Cherry Chase, Md.

And so she was on the move again!

She commuted

Not satisfied with positions elsewhere offered, Elizabeth commuted by bus to Washington where she worked in a department store. Near the bus stop was a recruiting office and one day while she awaited the bus, an Army recruiter suggested she join.

She was not considering a career with the department store, so Elizabeth made an appointment to return the following Saturday. When she entered the recruiting office, the Army recruiter was out. The Navy and Marine recruiters put in their bid. Elizabeth made her decision, and chose the Navy.

When she reported to NAS Oceana in August, 1973 Elizabeth requested the book ride and has worked her way up to third class petty officer.

In February, 1974 she and Navy Mess Specialist Second Class David Bumpus were married. Elizabeth was eating at the galley one day when one of David's co-workers played cupid by introducing the two.

Petty Officer Bumpus was cited for her military and professional knowledge, performance, evaluations, training and advancement accomplishments.

She and her husband reside in the Windsor Woods section of Virginia Beach. Elizabeth particularly enjoys working in the garden. She also finds time for sewing and plans to make a bathrobe for her husband.

As Sailor of the Month of May, DK3 Bumpus received a framed letter of commendation, a free steak dinner for two at her club, a 72-hour liberty, and a free weekend stay at the Twin Bridge Marriott Hotel in Washington, D. C.

Slow To Anger

Do you carry your religion into your everyday life, or do you leave it at the church door. Even on the way home from church on Sunday a father will shout at his children, honk the horn at another driver, and be rude to his family. Time and again Jesus demonstrated a meek and gentle spirit even when another man might have been provoked to anger.

In Psalms 103:8-10 we read, "The Lord is merciful and gracious, slow to anger and plenteous in mercy." So should those who love God, pattern their lives. We, too, should learn to be "slow to anger".

'Christian' drama set

The Bob Jones University Christian Drama Team will present an unusual program at Faith Baptist Church in Virginia Beach June 1 at 7:30 p.m.

The program will be a unique presentation of both speech and music, presenting several vocal selections arranged especially for this tour.

The main part of the program will include an inspiring performance of "Liberty," a unique and powerful presentation of the heritage of freedom in America emphasizing the events which led up to the American Revolution and culminating in a declaration of Christ as the only source of true liberty.

Also included will be a fully costumed and lighted play dealing with the second coming of Christ entitled, "Watch, Therefore," which tells the story of the effect of the Gospel and the dramatic impact of the return of the Lord on the lives of a modern

and Mrs. Bill McCauley of the university faculty are in charge of the group.

Pastor F.W. Carroll invites all to attend.

Mrs. Kenslow gets Neptune

Robert W. Berry Jr., president of the Virginia Beach Neptune Festival has announced the appointment of Mrs. Louise Kenslow as executive director of the Festival. Mrs. Kenslow previously served as assistant director to Mr. Frankie Abourjille now with Christian Broadcasting Network.

Mrs. Kenslow has been a resident of Virginia Beach for the past four years and resides at King's Forest with her husband L.C. Michael J. Kenslow and two sons. New board members appointed to fill vacancies are: Derek Dunn-Rankin, Robert W. DeMille, David "Skip" Hendrix, Lamar White and Mrs. Frankie Abourjille. Other directors are Tom Schroeder, Mrs. Nellie Bryan, George Hanbury, Michael Fitzpatrick, Earl Willis, Mrs. Shirley S. Barondess, James Crouch, Albin R. Malhes, Mrs. Wills Redding, Monty Thompson and Gen. Carl Youngdale.

2 Ford workers have anniversaries

Two employees of Ford Motor Company's Norfolk Assembly Plant will celebrate milestone anniversaries with the company in May.

In individual ceremonies plant manager James L. Mohne will present 35-year gold wrist watches to Herman L. King, a boiler fireman in the plant and facilities engineering department, and Herbert F. Witt. Each will receive a message of appreciation from Henry Ford II.

King lives at 1106 Candlewood Dr., Virginia Beach.

Flower talk slated

Richard Milner of Herbert Harrell Florist will discuss "Hospital Flowers" at the spring meeting of the Auxiliary to the General Hospital of Virginia Beach to be held in the 4th Wing Lounge of the Hospital on Thursday at 10:30 a.m. The program will include displays highlighting the Auxiliary's activities and projects. During the meeting, the Hospital's volunteers will also be honored. A light brunch follows the meeting.

Raper wins honors

Dorris L. Raper, a college professor, has been honored by the Big Brothers of Tidewater for outstanding service during 1975. Raper, who teaches at the Virginia Beach campus of Tidewater Community College, was the recipient of the Adm. Martin P. Hotel Award, which goes to the big brother who has done the most for the organization during the year.

Beach student elected

A Virginia Beach student has been elected secretary of the Evangel College (Springfield, Mo.) student body for the coming year.

She is Mary Snyder, a graduate of First Colonial high school, class of 1974. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin E. Snyder, Jr., formerly resided at 417 W. Plantation Road but have moved to Yuma, Ariz. Miss Snyder is a junior at Evangel and is majoring in accounting and management.

Mrs. Deal to speak

Great Neck Road area rezoned

By LEE CARILL
Sun Political Writer

Overriding the recommendation of the Planning Commission and the opposition of residents in the area, City Council has rezoned from R-1 Residential to R-3 Residential District 27.8 acres on the east side of Great Neck Road north of River Road.

The motion to grant the R-3 zoning made by Councilman Patrick L. Standing included the condition that the petitioner P. Patrick Kavanaugh arrive at some "proper" agreement with the residents that was "heavily binding."

However, Dale Bimaco said that he did not "see how you can force someone to sign an agreement."

The motion passed by a seven-to-four vote with Councilmen Robert B. Cronwell Jr., Vice Mayor George R. Ferrell, John A. Griffin and J. Henry McCoy Jr., dissenting. A previous motion to rezone the property to R-2 failed by a vote of seven to four. Voting for the change were P. Mayor George R. Ferrell, and Councilmen Robert B. Cronwell Jr., John A. Griffin and Clarence A. Holland. Kavanaugh had originally sought R-4 zoning which would have permitted him to build 60 homes on 15,000 square foot lots, while the present zoning allows 21 single-family residences on 40,000 square foot lots. R-3 zoning permits 20,000 square foot lots, doubling the density.

Residents in the Great Neck area fear the rezoning will open a Pandora's box of higher density rezoning requests.

Attorney Grover C. Wright, representing the Great Neck Association of Civic Leagues, said 1300 acres of vacant land are involved, and pointed out that Kavanaugh had opposed a previous request by developers Julius Rash-kind and Martin Rosen for higher density zoning on their Great Neck property.

He asked the councilmen not to rezone the property R-3 "and rely on a nebulous agreement."

In an effort to appease the opposition, a new plat was presented to Council Monday afternoon showing the property divided into 39 lots.

J.G. Harris, a developer himself and a resident of R-1 zoned Green Hill Farms, said he was "extremely concerned by" "assurances and obligations of developers" with nothing to back them up.

Councilman John A. Baum questioned whether R-1 zoning was appropriate any longer with the corresponding higher costs in other services like water and sewers. "Can the city require larger and larger expenses?" He also said that the area cannot be considered rural when water and sewer lines are brought into the community.

"I don't think we should please civic leagues or developers," Baum opted for a complete study in another zoning question. Council followed the recommendation of the Planning Commission and granted Vanguard, Inc., a zoning change from Residential District to Office District on 2.8 acres located at the northwest intersection of Laskin Road and Cardinal Road, Birdneck Area.

The Bird Neck Civic League endorsed the changes after Vanguard agreed to deed a parcel of the land to the League at the entrance of Bird Neck.

In other actions, Council:

Granted tax refunds amounting to $348.01.

Approved two ordinances pertaining to .262 acres of City-owned right-of-way on Old Providence Road. One returns the property to the Virginia Beach Investment Company which had dedicated it to the city for a connector to Old Providence Road. However, the connection was shifted to the East. The second ordinance closes this portion of Old Providence Road.

Accepted deed

Accepted a deed for easement from the Commonwealth of Virginia, Department of Military Affairs, for a 50-foot easement extending from General Booth Boulevard to the M. L. Feltz Estate tract. Access to the tract, zoned R-5, was made through the State's property from General Booth Boulevard.

Granted easements to the Virginia Electric and Power Company for the relocation of facilities in conjunction with the Great Neck Road, Holland Road and Indian River Road projects.

Approved a five-year lease with the U.S. Army for the three day use of Fort Story for bathing purposes only. The city has been using the beach on Friday, Saturday and Sunday during the summer months, and the lease is merely a formal agreement for this. No money is involved except for $8,500 which will be needed to upgrade the parking lot.

Called an executive session to discuss real estate, legal and financial matters.

Beach league meets tonite

A meeting of the North Virginia Beach Civic League will be held at 7:30 tonight in the auditorium of the Association For Research & Enlightenment, 67th Street & Atlantic Avenue.

Clement W. Shanks, VEPCO District Manager, accompanied by one of his staff engineers, will explain what happened during the severe power loss (brownout) on April 9, and there will be an informal question and answer period as to future protective action which may be taken.

Billy A. McCabe, executive director of the proposed Southeast 4-H Educational Center in the North End, will explain this far-reaching project, show slides, and answer questions.

Other routine business and appointments to committees will be discussed. All residents in the North Virginia Beach area are invited.

'Big Sisters' to get help?

"Big Sisters" may get a little help from City Council for befriending little girls.

A Big Sisters Organization, which is to girls what the Big Brothers program is for boys is asking for $3,515 to get through the year -- or until the Sisters become members of the Community Fund.

City Manager George L. Hanbury said that women's organizations have raised $4,600 but that the $3,515 is needed to complete the year's program.

Hanbury said that he thought it was "a good idea to provide female children the same benefits males have received for many years."

For the appropriation request will come up at a future meeting.

Council OKs bid

City Council has accepted the low bid of $1,219,561.59 by Warren Brothers Company for 61,524 tons of bituminous concrete and $1,577 gallons of asphalt prime.

Materials will be used for the City's street resurfacing programs at Baylake Beach, Great Neck Estates, Great Neck Manor, Brittain Estates, Tranwood Shores, Southern Points, North Thalia, Bradford Acres and Lynnhaven Shores.

The estimated cost has been $1,230,480.

Watch licenses

It's illegal to display a City license on any vehicle other than the one for which it was issued.

City Manager George L. Hanbury said that the City has had a problem in relation to the issuance of city decals to volunteer firemen to qualify them for insurance. Some firemen have requested permission to use the decals on other vehicles. Under a new ordinance passed Monday, this practice is illegal.

Loucka - White

Susan Lynn Loucka became Mrs. Robert Mason White in a recent late afternoon ceremony at St. Adian's Episcopal Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Loucka of Nottingham Place here at the beach. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert White of Portsmouth.

The bride was given away by her father and a reception followed at NAS Oceana.

The new Mrs. White wore an elegantly styled bridal gown of white satin. The hi-rise bodice had a Victorian high neckline with a V-slit and sheer sleeves. The bodice was accented with bands of re-embroidered lace and seed pearls. The full circular skirt flowed to a Chapel length train.

Maid of honor was Linda Loucka, while bridesmaids were Ann Joyce, Janet Louderbeck, Jeanette Folts and Dale White; and the flower girl was Lisa Loucka.

Best man was Joseph Cox of Chesapeake, and groomsmen included: Rob Nelson, Vin Swann and Steve Ellis; ushers were Nelson Loucka, Douglas Loucka and Tim Willis.

The bride attended ODU and the groom is attending elementary education at Virginia Commonwealth College is a legal secretary for Cox, Cox & Cox, Beach attorneys. The groom is a graduate of ODU, employed by Veeco.

MRS. WHITE

The newlyweds took a wedding trip to Williamsburg and will make their home in Richmond.

India holy man preaches at Beach

One of "the holiest" of all the holy men of India, His Holiness Papaji Daryal, will keep a weekend special gathering at the Association for Research and Enlightenment. Daryal will speak on Meditation: Insights from India, and Beyond Meditation. He will talk Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sunday at 1 p.m. He will be joined by ARE regular Dr. Herb Puryear and Dr. I.C. Sharma, also presenting a Saturday 3 p.m. introduction.

The total fee is $10 for the weekend, or broken down -- $4, $3 and $1 on a per program and day basis. Students with ID half price. Details are available at 428-3558.

Miss Schrank - Mr. Wornstaff

Cynthia Marie Rose Schrank became Mrs. Donald Ray Wornstaff in a recent ceremony staged at the Amphib Chapel.

The bride is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Schrank of the Beach. The groom is the son of Mrs. Faith Gregory and Don Wornstaff, of the Beach and Norfolk respectively.

Father Jim Greulich presided, and the bride wore a wedding gown of white Quince knit, the modified Mandarin collar in a "V" adorned with Venice lace. It featured a gathered bodice and long tapered sleeves cuffed in the same lace. The skirt swept into a Chapel length train.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Mary Catherine Schrank; and bridesmaids were Margaret E. Marson and Betty Joy Gregory, both relatives from the Beach. Flower girls were Faith D. Hennessey and Melissa Young. Robert P. Haynes was best man, and the ushers were Michael Wayne Wade, Michael Mullins, and Ray Hennessey.

The new Mrs. Wornstaff is a Bayside High grad, currently employed by Virginia National Bank. The groom is a salesman and graduate of Granby.

Susan Reames to wed July 2

Susan Alice Reames will become Mrs. Donald Alvin Lewis in a candlelight ceremony July 2.

The future bride is the daughter of CWO and Mrs. John Robert Reames of Greenacres Lane. The groom is the son of Mrs. Dewilda H. Lewis and the late Alvin Vann Lewis, of Post Oak Drive here at the Beach.

The wedding will take place at London Bridge Baptist Church, at 7 p.m., the Rev. Mark W. Stone presiding.

The bride will be given away by her father. Glenda Cheryl Franklin of Virginia Beach will be the maid of honor. Bridesmaids are Janet Daniels and Rebecca Good, both from the Beach. Best man will be the groom's brother, Richard. Ushers are John Robert Reames Jr., Robert Wayne Tyler, and Jon W. Meinenberg Jr.

Miss Reames is a 1976 graduate of Princess Anne High, and will attend ODU come fall. The groom is a 1972 Kempville High grad, currently a draftsman for the NEWBORG Co.

They plan to reside at the Beach.

Horsfall-Ehrmann

Miss Christine Lindsay Horsfall became the bride of Joseph John Ehrmann last afternoon ceremony recently at the home of the groom's parents.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Horsfall, of Spain. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ehrmann of Virginia Beach.

Miss Susan Ehrmann was maid of honor, and Michael Ehrmann served as his brother's best man.

A reception was held at the groom's parents' home. After the Williamsburg wedding trip, they will reside at the Beach.

Slip lane offer accepted

By LEE CARILL
Sun Political Writer

City Council has decided to take up the offer of a Virginia Beach engineer to design at no cost an 18-foot wide slip lane off First Colonial Road into Mill Dam Road.

Actually the City has already prepared construction drawings sufficiently complete to derive engineering estimates, according to City Manager George L. Hanbury.

The cost would be approximately $14,000. But during Council's informal and formal sessions, Hanbury said he could not recommend a slip lane, and that if a slip lane were built it would produce a safety problem.

He added that the construction of a slip lane would not eliminate the need in the future for a stop light at the intersection of Mill Dam Road and First Colonial Road. The cost of a traffic light would be $25,000, but, he added, present traffic counts do not justify the installation of a light.

The discussion developed over an application by Harry W. Cronwell for the closure of a portion of Old First Colonial Road. This section of the right-of-way is presently unused and barricaded.

A January 1975 traffic count indicated that 16,760 cars were on Mill Dam Road which led the Planning Commission to recommend that the unused and barricaded section remain part of the right-of-way.

Later counts showed that 6,100 cars a day use Mill Dam Road and not 15,760. With receipt of the new traffic count, the Planning Commission and the City Manager recommended closure of the unused portion of the right-of-way which would give the property to Cronwell.

Monday afternoon, City

Council decided instead to deny the petition of Cronwell by a unanimous vote with Councilman Robert B. Cronwell abstaining because he is related to the petitioner. Councilman Robert H. Callis was absent.

Councilman John R. Griffin said that in discussions with two engineering firms it was agreed there may be a future need for a slip lane, in which case the property involved the closure request would be needed.

He added that Douglas Talbot, of Talbot and Associates, had volunteered to make a design study at no cost to the city.

Beam said he voted against the closure because of his doubts about giving away city property.

Council also passed another motion to perse a design study for the area by a vote of eight to one with Beam dissenting and Cronwell abstaining.

Hanbury said he would ask Talbot to make the study 100 feet portion of First Colonial Road so that he would regain frontage which he lost during construction of the road, or to open the portion of the road and improve it. He was opposed by residents of the area who seemed to think a slip lane was needed.

Mrs. June Cordell told Council that Talbot, who is a resident of Northampton, thinks a slip lane is needed. She said that with land in the area priced at $2 a square foot the property which Cronwell was seeking would be worth $105,000.

"I don't think we have to answer him now...I don't think it's good practice to give land away."

Mrs. June Traflet cautioned the Council not to move in haste.

There's why Hometown newspapers are read with such interest. Folks believe in them. Advertising gets results.

HOMETOWN NEWSPAPERS SELL! Here's why: The reader of the hometown weekly paper has more time to peruse each copy, because the newspaper is usually smaller, less crowded and with editorial content that is alive with local events that involve the reader. This provides a depth of readership that favors the classified advertiser in hometown newspapers. Give us a try!

PA Road residents lose battle

It was a long, hard campaign, fought with words, surveys, petitions, public meetings and even, finally, by winning the support of four State Senators.

But residents of Princess Anne Road lost their struggle to keep the road the way it is. Monday afternoon City Council approved the widening of Princess Anne Road to four lanes with a 12 foot median strip for 1.434 miles from Newtown Road to Near Parliament Drive.

The road will continue into Norfolk for .247 mile on Kempville Road. Coventry Lane also will be widened to four lanes to feed traffic from Susquehanna to Princess Anne.

cess Anne.

The project will cost $3.5 million of which the Federal Government will furnish 70%, the State 15% and the cities of Norfolk and Virginia Beach the remaining 15%.

Garland Isdell, a general contractor, told Council Monday that he was one of the original people favoring the widening and that rights of way acquisition had been started as far back as 1959.

He said that Princess Anne was the most direct route and that "it bothered me to see the four senators taking part in this. None of them were at the original meeting (March 25) and they showed no opposition to the project before."

The original resolution requesting the road widening was passed by City Council on April 17, 1972. Monday's action asked the State Highway Department to ask for construction bids.

Residents opposed the widening because it would bring a major road into a residential district. They also suggested alternatives such as placing a toll on the Witchuck exit to discourage motorists from using that exit, placing a traffic light or sign on Witchuck Road and on and off ramps for I-54 at Providence Road.

At Monday's Council meeting residents also complained about the noise levels and asked whether Federal noise pollution standards would have to be met.

City Manager George L. Hanbury said the City would probably have to place fences along part of the road to conform to noise pollution regulations.

Councilman J. Henry McCoy Jr., who represents the Kempville Borough where the road is located, said that the "road is still needed. So many more residents would be affected if we don't widen the road than if we do."

Councilman John A. Baum said, "I don't think we can continue in this city to take neighborhood approaches."

'Candide' outstanding

The performance of Candide at Cox High School was outstanding to say the least.

Attendance for the four night showing was exceptionally good, an average of 250 showed each evening of the performance.

The performance of Candide by Bob James was magnificent, as if he was actually living the part. And Laurie Burns as Paquette was superb, with a voice like a bird. Every actor and actress played their part as if they had been doing it for years. Truly a musical that was worth seeing.

The music direction was by Karen S. Onge, she put this together in a style that only she could. She is truly a master with her music, a true credit to her instructors and to herself.

Hospital staff honored

When the General Hospital of Virginia Beach held its annual Employee Service Awards ceremony a few days ago, a brand new Certificate of Appreciation was presented to several members of the hospital staff.

These employees were recognized for "promoting better health care standards in the community" during their off-duty hours.

Many of those earning the award have participated in the hospital's program of teaching the Heimlich Maneuver, the emergency procedure for dislodging food or water from the windpipe of a person who is choking.

Others have worked with rescue squads, health careers programs and other community health education projects.

During 1975 and early 1976, nurses and members of the hospital's administrative staff demonstrated the Heimlich Maneuver at 24 Lions Club meetings in the Southeastern District, Lions of Virginia, as well as at a district meeting. They have also presented demonstrations for at least 12 other groups.

Almost 10,000 lay people have attended these programs, and there are written or verbal reports of at least five instances where the maneuver was successfully used by a layman who had participated in one of the demonstrations.

Bernard G. Barrow, freshman delegate from Virginia Beach to the General Assembly, was guest speaker for the ceremony.

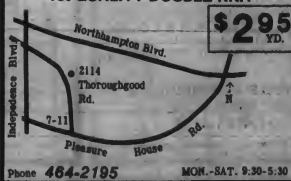

which is always held during National Hospital Week.

Long-term employees received five and 10 year pins.

Kellam group scoops honors

The Junior Civitan Club at Floyd Kellam High School needed a cardboard box to carry home all the awards it won at the Chesapeake District Convention held for the 38 member units recently in Ocean City, Md.

The club won the Outstanding Community Project Award for its Red Cross blood drive and paraded the first place trophy for the Best Scrapbook. In addition, the club's sponsor at Kellam, Miss Betty Slovacek, was selected as the district's Outstanding Faculty Advisor and senior Lennie Warren was chosen the Outstanding Junior Civitan of the Year. To top off these achievements, the club also was named the best of the 38 units in the district and as such took home the plaque for Outstanding Club of the Year.

In addition to the first place honors, the club won a third place in the Outstanding School Project category for its "Teacher Appreciation Week" and a third for Outstanding District Participation.

As the winner of the Club of the Year and Outstanding Community Project awards, the Kellam Junior Civitan Club and Junior Civitan of the Year Lennie Warren will compete with representatives from 22 other districts for national honors at the Civitan International Convention in Birmingham in June.

Junior Civitan is a community service oriented club affiliated with the Civitan International organization. Susan Cockrell is president of the Kellam High School chapter, which has 43 members.

Temporary terms end too quickly

The mayor of Virginia Beach picked up a guitar and ended the meeting with song expressing high ideals, love and concern. He doubt, no discussion, no dissent, no compromise, even!

But Mayor Mary Ann De Fir's term ended with the son, too as she turned over her chair to Mayor J. Curtis Payne.

She was one of 29 Virginia Beach Senior and Junior high school students who took over the Council Chambers briefly Monday afternoon as part of Youth in Government Day, as members of the Mayor's Youth Council.

Earlier they studied various departments of the city government and attended a luncheon in the main lobby.

"City Manager" Candice Pettigrew presented the Mayor's Youth Council report; "City Clerk" Beth Kala made special awards and Mayor Payne presented certificates to each member of the Council.

The young people are selected on the basis of their grades, activities and leadership qualities by the school principal and guidance counselors.

Mayor Payne also presented the group with a city flag and City Manager George L. Hanbury, a standard "Welcome to Virginia Beach." road sign for the youth council to exchange with the City's sister city, Moss, Norway.
